Allies Charge Reds Violate Geneva Pact

Brush Aside Threat To "Fight To End"

MUNSAN, Korea, Thursday, Jan. 17 (AP) — United Nations truce negotiators brushed aside a Communist threat Wednesday "to fight to the end" in Korea if the Allies dared to turn over 20,000 Chinese Red prisoners to Chiang Kai-Shek's army on Formosa.

The U. N. denied any such intent but raised another issue.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters in Tokyo announced it intended to press charges "at the earliest opportunity" that the Reds "have violated and are continuing to violate" every provision of the Geneva convention dealing with prisoner of war camps.

Although the armistice negotiations at Panmunjon were sorely muddled, delegates were scheduled to reconvene at 11 a.m. today (9 p.m. Wednesday, EST).

The Formosa threat was hurled by Red Chinese Col. Tsai Cheng-Wen, senior staff officer in prisoner exchange.

Reds Voice Threat

Tsai declared "if anybody dares to hand over any personnel of the Chinese peoples volunteers . . . to the deadly enemy of the Chinese people, Chiang Kai-Shek, the Chinese people will fight to the end."

An Allied briefing officer, however, denied the Allies had any intention of delivering any Chinese prisoners directly to Chiang's Nationalists.

The officer, Navy Lt. Walter J. Ellis, said if any Chinese chose to go to Formosa instead of back to Red China under voluntary repatriation they would be handed over to a neutral international organization for final disposition.

Red violations of the Geneva convention were charged when the U. N. command admitted Wednesday night its planes were in the vicinity of Kangdon Monday night when the Reds claimed a POW camp and hospital were bombed.

Red Peiping radio propagandists sought to capitalize on this by claiming the Allies were "murdering" their own prisoners including Americans. The Communists said 20 Allied prisoners were killed, 15 seriously injured and 40 more slightly injured.

Don't Disclose Camps

Ridgway's headquarters, following an investigation, said the Reds never have disclosed exactly where any of their POW camps are located. It said the POW camps are not marked by the letters "PW" or "PG" as required by the Geneva Convention.

Additionally, the U. N. pointed out that Kangdong was on a main highway running across Korea and was heavily traveled by supply trucks which provided "lucrative military targets." The Geneva Convention says prisoners should be kept out of combat zones and away from military targets.

140 PLANES CLASH IN THREE BATTLES

SEOUL, Thursday, Jan. 17 (AP) — U. S. Sabre jets Wednesday tangled with Communist jets in three battles involving almost 140 planes and damaged two of the swift red-nosed enemy MIGs.

The sun came out, the mercury rose to the low 40's but snow still covered the bleak, 145-mile front.

The air battles were again concentrated in the clear cold skies of "MIG alley," high over northwest Korea. In all, 58 Sabre jets engaged about 80 MIGs.

A tank-supported Allied raiding force on the western front ran into heavy Red automatic and mortar fire. The furious exchange lighted the sky in the pre-dawn darkness

Truman Asks For Another Tax Increase

Year Of Strain Seen In Congress Message

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16. (AP)—President Truman today asked Congress for roughly five billion dollars in new taxes and warned that 1952 will be a "year of strain" beset by inflationary dangers as the nation forges ahead toward peak rearmament.

The President also called for tighter price controls, a check on private spending, greater productivity, and a return to pay-as-we-go government financing.

In submitting his annual economic message to Congress Mr. Truman declared:

No Business As Usual

"It is even more true of 1952 than of 1951 we cannot have business as usual, consumer enjoyments as usual, or government programs and services as usual.

"If we succeed in attaining a durable peace, our expanding economy can double our standard of living within a generation.

"But for the time being, and perhaps for a long time, we must sail a middle course in an uncertain sea. War could come suddenly . . ."

Running counter to the advice of his Congressional lieutenants, Mr. Truman called for early and "vigorous action" to raise more taxes by increasing some tax rates and by plugging what he considers escape routes in the present tax laws.

Without new taxes, the President said, the federal treasury faces a deficit of eight billion dollars in the current fiscal year ending next June 30 and a "dangerously large deficit" of nearly twice that amount by mid-1953.

The total national debt is now $259,258,000,000, or slightly more than 15 billion dollars below the limit set by law.

As expected, Mr. Truman's request for higher taxes—the fourth in 18 months—met a chilly reception on Capitol Hill. Some lawmakers said something might be done to pick up new revenue by closing "loopholes," but Congress was clearly in no mood to enact another general tax hike.

Taxes Already Raised

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) told newsmen he doesn't believe Congress will vote "any substantial increase" in taxes this year. Others noted that Congress has already raised the nation's tax load by 15 billion dollars in the last year and a half, and said they would not vote to increase the burden short of a major emergency.

Just a year ago, the President asked for "10 billion dollars or more" in new taxes, but Congress whittled his request down to about $5,400,000,000.

Tax experts said the "loophole" stoppers mentioned by Mr. Truman would provide two to three billion dollars, or about half the new request.

The President said the loopholes included "such devices as excessively 'capital gains' provisions, family partnerships, and excessive depletion allowances on oil and gas and certain mineral properties.

Along with Mr. Truman's message to Congress, the President's council of economic advisers sent a 187-page economic review which contained this note of caution:

"There are limits beyond which it would be unwise to raise the rates of a specific tax or of taxes in general."

U. S. To Submit New Atomic Control Plan

Attack Russia's UN Proposals

PARIS, Jan. 16 (AP)—The United States announced today it will present important new proposals on control of atomic energy to the newly created U. N. disarmament commission, when the commission begins work in New York in a few weeks.

U. S. Ambassador Ernest A. Gross told the 60-nation political committee his delegation could not decide whether revised proposals for atomic energy put up by Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky represented "a step backward or a step forward."

Attacks Proposals

In Washington, however, Secretary of State Acheson attacked Vishinsky's plan. Acheson told a news conference the Russians seek only a "paper prohibition" against atomic weapons and offer no assurance of agreeing to a control system which would assure prohibition of such weapons. He cited as one hitch the Russian declaration that the international inspection agency should have no power to interfere in the domestic affairs of any state.

The ideas for the new United States control proposals are being worked out in Washington by representatives of the Atomic Energy Commission and the state and defense departments.

These are expected here to lay down definite plans for a fool-proof system of inspection and verification of a census of arms, including atomic weapons.

Gress appealed to Vishinsky to clarify the Russian position, especially in the disarmament commission when that body begins work on the question of arms regulation and control.

Vishinsky To Speak

He joined Stuart S. Garson, Canadian Minister of Justice, and British Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd in asking Vishinsky for definite information.

Vishinsky will speak tomorrow and then a vote is expected on the Moscow peace package. The west hopes to defeat every point of Moscow's program except the ideas on atomic control, which it hopes to send to the disarmament commission for further study and examination.

Heroic Doctor Fought Gas To Save Many

Dr. Walter Roehll Praised For Efforts

EMIGRANT GAP, Calif., Jan. 16 (AP)—All passengers of the snow-bound City of San Francisco were rescued today from frosty imprisonment in the swank streamliner stalled in the High Sierra since last Sunday.

The last group of the 192 passengers—men, women and children—aboard the snow-buried Southern Pacific train were taken to a relief train awaiting at plush Nyack Lodge—six miles downslope from the streamliner on the western side of historic Donner Pass. The train had a crew of 30. Four passengers got off Tuesday.

Stricken By Gas

Of some 60 passengers stricken by propane gas fumes on the unheated train Monday night, six stretcher cases were being treated. The other passengers recovered completely because of the heroic work of an Ohio physician — Dr. Walter H. L. Roehll of Middletown.

"He saved our lives," said Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hurley of Detroit. "He worked tirelessly. About 25 to 30 passengers were unconscious at one time."

The Hurleys were among more than 100 passengers reaching nearby Nyack Lodge earlier today. Their story—and that of the other passengers—was one of Dr. Roehll's unflagging work, gallantry among the passengers, unselfishness, and hearty efforts to keep up everybody's spirits by group singing and story telling.

Dr. Roehll, a stocky grey-haired 52 year-old man who walked into Nyack Lodge wearing heavy wool socks over his shoes, grinned modestly when other passengers pointed him out.

"All I did was what I had to," he said.

He was wearing a rumpled brown suit and a three-day growth of beard.

Among the eight passengers seriously ill was Mrs. J. Russell Sprague, wife of the Republican national committeeman from New York. They were en route to San Francisco for tomorrow's opening of the GOP national committee conference.

There were three steps in the rescue operations:

1. The passengers walked from the stalled train to U. S. highway 40 at Yuba Gap.

2. They got into automobiles and trucks provided by the lodge.

3. They traveled five miles on the highway, which had been opened by rotary plows, and they were safe at the lodge.

Board Relief Train

All were housed there for rest and food, until they could board the relief train, made up of 12 pullmans, two diners and a hospital car, which will take them to the San Francisco-Oakland area.

On board the train they will be served steak and chicken, or whatever they desire, and will occupy pullmans.

Most of the passengers were healthy and happy.

The passengers began leaving the virtually buried Southern Pacific luxury streamliner shortly before noon. It had been their cold and cheerless home since it bucked into a snowslide, then froze to the tracks.

The relief train followed a railroad snow plow that finally was able to cut its way over the rails to this mountain community.

Meanwhile, a highway plow had bucked and churned its way through drifts on U. S. 40—the famed Donner summit route—until a path had been cut to a point opposite the buried streamliner.

Those aboard the "City" had 1,000 feet to go to the highway. Snow

Solons Disagree On Outcome If President Runs

Predict Truman Will Toss Hat Into Ring

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Two senators, a Republican and a Democrat, predicted today President Truman will run again—but disagreed on the outcome.

Sen. Anderson (D-NM) told newsmen after a White House visit he believes the Democrats will "insist" on renominating Mr. Truman, that the President will get the nomination "without a fight," and will be re-elected.

Anderson, a former Truman secretary of agriculture and long a bigwig in Democratic party councils, is chairman of the Democratic Senatorial campaign committee.

Agrees With Forecast

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) agreed with the forecast that Mr. Truman will seek another term, for this reason:

"The Democrats haven't anyone else who could even make a race of it, and I think Mr. Truman knows that."

But Capehart declared:

The Indiana Senator is backing Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) for the GOP presidential nomination.

In San Francisco, an Associated Press poll of GOP national committee members willing to express an opinion showed Taft is a 3-to-1 choice over Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican nomination.

The poll tallied 31 votes for Taft, nine for Eisenhower, two for Gov. Earl Warren of California, and one for Harold E. Stassen.

Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, now president of the University of Pennsylvania, today filed a slate of 25 delegate-candidates pledged to him in the Minnesota primary on March 18.

Senator Humphrey (D-Minn), who talked with Mr. Truman on Monday, told newsmen on Capitol Hill today that the Democrats can't win unless they nominate a "consistent 'fair dealer' and a warm supporter of the administration's foreign policy."

Humphrey conferred with Frank E. McKinney, Democratic national chairman, and reportedly agreed to enter the March 18 Minnesota presidential primary as a "favorite son" candidate.

Humphrey In Primary

McKinney got in touch with party leaders in Minnesota last week and suggested that President Truman's name not be entered in the state's primary. McKinney said the suggestion had been approved by the President, and the chairman also proposed that Humphrey be entered instead.

Mr. Truman has declined to say whether he will seek another term.

Humphrey has said he has no plans to make an actual bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

He said if Mr. Truman decides not to run, "we have other good Democrats who could win the election."

In that category he suggested Vice President Barkley, Supreme Court Justice Fred M. Vinson, Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and Senator Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn).

Kefauver is expected to make a formal announcement of his candidacy late next week.

Propose Travel Ban On Soviets

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 —The United States may impose a travel ban on the Soviet Embassy staff here in retaliation for extensive new restrictions placed on Americans and other foreign diplomats in Moscow by the Russian government.

Word of the latest extension of iron curtain rules reached Washington today and Secretary of State Dean Acheson was asked about retaliation at a news conference.

He said the State Department had received only a very brief message about the development from the embassy in Moscow and he did not yet know what the American response would be. He clearly left open the possibility of a crackdown on Soviet diplomatic travel in the United States, however, and this checked with information from other official sources.

If precedent is followed and a final decision is made to impose the ban, Russian Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin and his staff would be forbidden to travel more than about 25 miles outside Washington without special permission from the State Department. That is the limit now in effect on travel of foreign envoys in the area around Moscow.

Churchill To Confer Again With Truman

Unexpected Session Is Planned Friday

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16. 16 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill said tonight that irresistible forces are bringing the United States and Britain closer together, "not for unworthy purposes but in order that we many defend the freedom of the world."

The British leader spoke at a colorful ceremony in which he was inducted as a member of the Society of the Cincinnati, composed of descendants of officers who fought for independence from Britain under Gen. George Washington. Churchill qualifies for membership through his ancestry on his mother's side.

The address was made only a few hours after Churchill returned here from a visit to Canada which broke his Washington visit into two segments.

About the time he was speaking another business session with President Truman was added to his schedule. The White House announced that the two chiefs of state will meet with their advisers at the White House at 3 p. m. EST Friday.

The arrangement was, to a degree, unexpected. British informants previously had indicated no need for more of the Churchill-Truman get-together which had taken up many hours before Churchill went to Canada.

The Friday visit was already on the Churchill schedule, but up to today it had been listed only as a call to say goodbye to the President.

Churchill leaves Saturday for New York, on the way home.

Tomorrow he will deliver an address to a joint session of Congress. It will be carried on all major TV and radio networks at 12:30 p. m.

Military Transport Crash Lands In Farmer's Field

EDMONTON, Alta., Jan. 16 (AP) — A United States military transport plane crash-landed today in a farmer's field near Lacombe, Alta., but the Royal Canadian Air Force said none of the 14 passengers and five crew was injured.

The aircraft, en route from Edmonton to Great Falls, Mont., reported trouble with one engine before it came down. The plane turned upside down in the crash landing.

British Seize Egyptian Police

CAIRO, Jan. 16 (AP) — British troops, backed by tanks and pet planes, seized between 120 and 160 Egyptian police today in an anti-guerrilla raid on the clay hut village of Tel-El-Kebir and El Hammada.

A British spokesman said five guerrillas were killed and 18 captured in the raid and 100 rifles and thousands of rounds of ammunition seized. One British soldier was wounded.

By British count, 22 Egyptians have now been killed in the Tel-El-Kebir area since Saturday. The British toll is three.

Some 800 Britons took part in the raid on the hamlets, which Brig. W. L. Steele, the British commander, described as "thug strongholds."

Egyptian snipers hidden in orange groves fired on the advancing British, but were soon silenced by raking fire from tanks. Barefoot Egyptians huddled in their huts as British jet meteor planes made mock strafing runs.

The police—including a high official from Cairo—were rounded up in El Hammada after brief street fighting.

It was the first time since the Anglo-Egyptian crisis arose in the canal zone last October that the British have seized Egyptian police.

Measure To Put Communists In Camps Is Backed

Would Enforce 1950 Internal Security Act

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Senator Eastland (D-Miss) introduced a bill today to put the nation's "disciplined communists" immediately into concentration camps.

He figured their number at 50,000, including 20,000 actual "agents of the Kremlin who are working night and day as the vanguard of those who would destroy us."

The proposed legislation would declare "a state of internal security emergency" and call into play a section of the McCarran Internal Security Act of 1950 which provides for detention of subversive characters under specified circumstances.

Congress May Take Steps

Eastland told the Senate that the action, normally up to the President, apparently must be taken by Congress if the "effective weapons" provided by the law are to be used in a situation which he said calls for them.

The law, named for its principal author, Senator McCarran (D-Nev), charges the attorney general with holding all persons likely to commit sabotage or espionage, if there should be (a) an invasion of the United States or its possessions, (b) a declaration of war by Congress or (c) an insurrection in this country in aid of a foreign enemy.

The McCarran law provides that in the specified circumstances the President may proclaim an "internal security emergency" — the step which Eastland asked Congress itself to take—and set in motion a roundup of "each person as to whom there is reasonable ground to believe that such person probably will engage in, or probably will conspire with others to engage in, acts of espionage or sabotage."

McGrath Prepares

The act suggests that membership in the U. S. Communist party within the past three years be considered as one item in determining "reasonable ground" for detention.

It is provided that those taken into custody shall be held in "places of detention" which must not be ordinary criminal prisons.

It was learned on Dec. 31 that Attorney General McGrath is quietly taking the first steps to be ready for such a roundup if the need should arise. His moves, however, are understood to be only precautionary, to be ready for any actually overt outbreak, not preparation for action under conditions now existing.

Carlsen Starts On Trip Home

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (AP) — Capt. Kurt Carlsen was winging home tonight as New York readied a roaring "well done" to the gallant skipper of the Flying Enterprise.

He is due about midnight and will be greeted only informally at Idlewild Airport by his wife and by his boss, Hans L. Isbrandtsen of the shipping line.

The big welcome is tomorrow.

Carlsen was to have arrived today. But the Atlantic Ocean jinxed him again as mechanical trouble forced his plane to turn back 280 miles from Ireland.

"I'm beginning to wonder if I'll ever get back to New York and home," Carlsen remarked dryly.

But after a night's sleep, Carlsen got off today from Shannon Airport.

The skipper won world acclaim for his courageous but losing two week fight to keep his broken ship afloat. The vessel finally sank off Falmouth, England, last Thursday.

New York's ticker tape welcome for Carlsen tomorrow is expected to be the biggest since 7,500,000 persons turned out last April for Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

White Potato Price Rollback Is Seen

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—The government announced today that retail prices for white potatoes will be rolled back Jan. 28 to reflect the lower ceilings at the farm-shipper level.

Price Stabilizer Michael V. Di Salle said the order setting the maximum retail markups will be issued within the next few days. These markups will take into account the average 5 to 10 per cent cut in country shipping point prices ordered to take effect Jan. 19.

Small Announces

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 16 (AP)—Frank Small Jr., chairman of the State Racing Commission, filed today for the Republican nomination to Congress from Maryland's 5th district.

He became the fifth GOP contender in the race for the seat to be vacated by Rep. Lansdale G. Sasscer.

Community Digs Out After Record Snowfall Kills One

PORTOLA, Calif., Jan. 16 (AP)—Desperate efforts were being made today to dig this mountain community out of a record snowfall which has collapsed buildings, caused one death, stranded 118 bus passengers and isolated the community for three days.

Mrs. Robert English of Portola was killed this morning when her home blew up, apparently from accumulated gas in the snow covered home. Her husband was injured.

Five greyhound and two Burlington buses, all eastbound, have been stranded here since Sunday. The 118 persons aboard have been housed in private homes, in the buses and in bus stations. Many of the passengers have run out of funds and Red Cross relief for them was authorized from San Francisco.

The record nine-foot snowfall has made nearly all emergency equipment useless. Fire engines less than two blocks away required half an hour to reach the English home. The way was cleared by a bulldozer. An ambulance was unable to reach the scene.

Two large buildings, a six-unit section of the Sterling Motel and a laundry building, collapsed under the snow. Several homes sagged from the weight on their roofs.

All able-bodied men were called out to shovel snow from roofs and to attempt to clear buried fire plugs.

Rex Riehm, Portola emergency disaster director, said the hospital is almost out of drugs and full of patients; that the town is low in milk and meat supplies, and short of fuel oil.

Efforts last night to open U. S. highway 395 from Reno to Portola were unsuccessful as strong winds whipped new drifts onto the roadway as fast as it was cleared. Clearing weather today gave hope that the road might be opened.

Solon Proposes Bill To Give Nation's Capital Back To Md.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP) — Senator Willis Smith (D-NC) proposed in the Senate today that Congress give back the city of Washington, home of the nation's capital, to the state of Maryland.

Smith introduced a bill to hand back all of Washington as a solution to the problem of how to extend home rule to the district's now voteless citizens.

He said he also would move to send a pending Washington home rule bill back to committee for study along with his proposal. He denounced the pending measure as "a makeshift" which would amount to home rule in name only.

The pending bill would permit District of Columbia voters to choose a city council and school board; the mayor would be a presidential appointee.

Senator Smith conceded his proposal "may sound a bit fantastic," but added: "I don't think it is."

His bill would retain federal title to all government properties, but give back the area as a whole to Maryland, from which it was ceded in the first place.

The measure would become effective only if the Maryland legislature passed a law accepting the area.

Somewhat similar proposals have been made in the past — and drawn cool response from Maryland.

Senator O'Conor (D-Md) backed the pending bill.

Troops In Korea To Test Bullet-Proof Vest

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—A new lightweight bullet-stopping jacket will be tested by U. S. troops in battle in Korea next month.

The army said today that about 1,400 of the armored jackets will be issued to an infantry regiment for the first field tests.

The jackets, which weighs only eight pounds, is made of layers of nylon and a secret substance covered by a waterproof outer shell. It was developed by the army quartermaster corps.

The army said the jacket resists a .45-caliber pistol bullet at point blank range, stops practically all fragments from a grendade bursting at a distance of three feet and 75 per cent of the fragments from a mortar burst at 10 feet.

Friedel To Run

U. S. To Submit New Atomic Control Plan

Attack Russia's UN Proposals

PARIS, Jan. 16 (AP)—The United States announced today it will present important new proposals on control of atomic energy to the newly created U. N. disarmament commission, when the commission begins work in New York in a few weeks.

Vishinsky To Speak

He joined Stuart S. Garson, Canadian Minister of Justice, and British Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd in asking Vishinsky for definite information.

Vishinsky will speak tomorrow and then a vote is expected on the Moscow peace package. The west hopes to defeat every point of Moscow's program except the ideas on atomic control, which it hopes to send to the disarmament commission for further study and examination.

Heroic Doctor Fought Gas To Save Many

Dr. Walter Roehll Praised For Efforts

EMIGRANT GAP, Calif., Jan. 16 (AP)—All passengers of the snow-bound City of San Francisco were rescued today from frosty imprisonment in the swank streamliner stalled in the High Sierra since last Sunday.

The last group of the 192 passengers—men, women and children—aboard the snow-buried Southern Pacific train were taken to a relief train awaiting at plush Nyack Lodge—six miles downslope from the streamliner on the western side of historic Donner Pass. The train had a crew of 30. Four passengers got off Tuesday.

Stricken By Gas

Of some 60 passengers stricken by propane gas fumes on the unheated train Monday night, six stretcher cases were being treated. The other passengers recovered completely because of the heroic work of an Ohio physician — Dr. Walter H. L. Roehll of Middletown.

"He saved our lives," said Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hurley of Detroit. "He worked tirelessly. About 25 to 30 passengers were unconscious at one time."

The Hurleys were among more than 100 passengers reaching nearby Nyack Lodge earlier today. Their story—and that of the other passengers—was one of Dr. Roehll's unflagging work, gallantry among the passengers, unselfishness, and hearty efforts to keep up everybody's spirits by group singing and story telling.

Dr. Roehll, a stocky grey-haired 52 year-old man who walked into Nyack Lodge wearing heavy wool socks over his shoes, grinned modestly when other passengers pointed him out.

"All I did was what I had to," he said.

He was wearing a rumpled brown suit and a three-day growth of beard.

Among the eight passengers seriously ill was Mrs. J. Russell Sprague, wife of the Republican national committeeman from New York. They were en route to San Francisco for tomorrow's opening of the GOP national committee conference.

There were three steps in the rescue operations:

1. The passengers walked from the stalled train to U. S. highway 40 at Yuba Gap.

2. They got into automobiles and trucks provided by the lodge.

3. They traveled five miles on the highway, which had been opened by rotary plows, and they were safe at the lodge.

Board Relief Train

All were housed there for rest and food, until they could board the relief train, made up of 12 pullmans, two diners and a hospital car, which will take them to the San Francisco-Oakland area.

On board the train they will be served steak and chicken, or whatever they desire, and will occupy pullmans.

Most of the passengers were healthy and happy.

The passengers began leaving the virtually buried Southern Pacific luxury streamliner shortly before noon. It had been their cold and cheerless home since it bucked into a snowslide, then froze to the tracks.

The relief train followed a railroad snow plow that finally was able to cut its way over the rails to this mountain community.

Meanwhile, a highway plow had bucked and churned its way through drifts on U. S. 40—the famed Donner summit route—until a path had been cut to a point opposite the buried streamliner.

Those aboard the "City" had 1,000 feet to go to the highway. Snow

Unexpected Session Is Planned Friday

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16. 16 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill said tonight that irresistible forces are bringing the United States and Britain closer together, "not for unworthy purposes but in order that we many defend the freedom of the world."

The British leader spoke at a colorful ceremony in which he was inducted as a member of the Society of the Cincinnati, composed of-descendants of officers who fought for independence from Britain under Gen. George Washington. Churchill qualifies for membership through his ancestry on his mother's side.

The address was made only a few hours after Churchill returned here from a visit to Canada which broke his Washington visit into two segments.

About the time he was speaking another business session with President Truman was added to his schedule. The White House announced that the two chiefs of state will meet with their advisers at the White House at 3 p. m. EST Friday.

The arrangement was, to a degree, unexpected. British informants previously had indicated no need for more of the Churchill-Truman get-together which had taken up many hours before Churchill went to Canada.

The Friday visit was already on the Churchill schedule, but up to today it had been listed only as a call to say goodbye to the President.

Churchill leaves Saturday for New York, on the way home.

Tomorrow he will deliver an address to a joint session of Congress. It will be carried on all major TV and radio networks at 12:30 p. m.

Military Transport Crash Lands In Farmer's Field

EDMONTON, Alta., Jan. 16 (AP) — A United States military transport plane crash-landed today in a farmer's field near Lacombe, Alta., but the Royal Canadian Air Force said none of the 14 passengers and five crew was injured.

The aircraft, en route from Edmonton to Great Falls, Mont., reported trouble with one engine before it came down. The plane turned upside down in the crash landing.

British Seize Egyptian Police

CAIRO, Jan. 16 (AP) — British troops, backed by tanks and pet planes, seized between 120 and 160 Egyptian police today in an anti-guerrilla raid on the clay hut village of Tel-El-Kebir and El Hammada.

A British spokesman said five guerrillas were killed and 18 captured in the raid and 100 rifles and thousands of rounds of ammunition seized. One British soldier was wounded.

By British count, 22 Egyptians have now been killed in the Tel-El-Kebir area since Saturday. The British toll is three.

Some 800 Britons took part in the raid on the hamlets, which Brig. W. L. Steele, the British commander, described as "thug strongholds."

Egyptian snipers hidden in orange groves fired on the advancing British, but were soon silenced by raking fire from tanks. Barefoot Egyptians huddled in their huts as British jet meteor planes made mock strafing runs.

The police—including a high official from Cairo—were rounded up in El Hammada after brief street fighting.

It was the first time since the Anglo-Egyptian crisis arose in the canal zone last October that the British have seized Egyptian police.

Would Enforce 1950 Internal Security Act

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Senator Eastland (D-Miss) introduced a bill today to put the nation's "disciplined communists" immediately into concentration camps.

He figured their number at 50,000, including 20,000 actual "agents of the Kremlin who are working night and day as the vanguard of those who would destroy us."

The proposed legislation would declare "a state of internal security emergency" and call into play a section of the McCarran Internal Security Act of 1950 which provides for detention of subversive characters under specified circumstances.

Congress May Take Steps

Eastland told the Senate that the action, normally up to the President, apparently must be taken by Congress if the "effective weapons" provided by the law are to be used in a situation which he said calls for them.

The law, named for its principal author, Senator McCarran (D-Nev), charges the attorney general with holding all persons likely to commit sabotage or espionage, if there should be (a) an invasion of the United States or its possessions, (b) a declaration of war by Congress or (c) an insurrection in this country in aid of a foreign enemy.

The McCarran law provides that in the specified circumstances the President may proclaim an "internal security emergency" — the step which Eastland asked Congress itself to take—and set in motion a roundup of "each person as to whom there is reasonable ground to believe that such person probably will engage in, or probably will conspire with others to engage in, acts of espionage or sabotage."

McGrath Prepares

The act suggests that membership in the U. S. Communist party within the past three years be considered as one item in determining "reasonable ground" for detention.

It is provided that those taken into custody shall be held in "places of detention" which must not be ordinary criminal prisons.

It was learned on Dec. 31 that Attorney General McGrath is quietly taking the first steps to be ready for such a roundup if the need should arise. His moves, however, are understood to be only precautionary, to be ready for any actually overt outbreak, not preparation for action under conditions now existing.

Solons Disagree On Outcome If President Runs

Predict Truman Will Toss Hat Into Ring

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Two senators, a Republican and a Democrat, predicted today President Truman will run again—but disagreed on the outcome.

Sen. Anderson (D-NM) told newsmen after a White House visit he believes the Democrats will "insist" on renominating Mr. Truman, that the President will get the nomination "without a fight," and will be re-elected.

Anderson, a former Truman secretary of agriculture and long a bigwig in Democratic party councils, is chairman of the Democratic Senatorial campaign committee.

Agrees With Forecast

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) agreed with the forecast that Mr. Truman will seek another term, for this reason:

"The Democrats haven't anyone else who could even make a race of it, and I think Mr. Truman knows that."

But Capehart declared:

The Indiana Senator is backing Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) for the GOP presidential nomination.

In San Francisco, an Associated Press poll of GOP national committee members willing to express an opinion showed Taft is a 3-to-1 choice over Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican nomination.

The poll tallied 31 votes for Taft, nine for Eisenhower, two for Gov. Earl Warren of California, and one for Harold E. Stassen.

Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, now president of the University of Pennsylvania, today filed a slate of 25 delegate-candidates pledged to him in the Minnesota primary on March 18.

Senator Humphrey (D-Minn), who talked with Mr. Truman on Monday, told newsmen on Capitol Hill today that the Democrats can't win unless they nominate a "consistent 'fair dealer' and a warm supporter of the administration's foreign policy."

Humphrey conferred with Frank E. McKinney, Democratic national chairman, and reportedly agreed to enter the March 18 Minnesota presidential primary as a "favorite son" candidate.

Humphrey In Primary

McKinney got in touch with party leaders in Minnesota last week and suggested that President Truman's name not be entered in the state's primary. McKinney said the suggestion had been approved by the President, and the chairman also proposed that Humphrey be entered instead.

Mr. Truman has declined to say whether he will seek another term.

Humphrey has said he has no plans to make an actual bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

He said if Mr. Truman decides not to run, "we have other good Democrats who could win the election."

In that category he suggested Vice President Barkley, Supreme Court Justice Fred M. Vinson, Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and Senator Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn).

Kefauver is expected to make a formal announcement of his candidacy late next week.

Propose Travel Ban On Soviets

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 —The United States may impose a travel ban on the Soviet Embassy staff here in retaliation for extensive new restrictions placed on Americans and other foreign diplomats in Moscow by the Russian government.

Word of the latest extension of iron curtain rules reached Washington today and Secretary of State Dean Acheson was asked about retaliation at a news conference.

He said the State Department had received only a very brief message about the development from the embassy in Moscow and he did not yet know what the American response would be. He clearly left open the possibility of a crackdown on Soviet diplomatic travel in the United States, however, and this checked with information from other official sources.

If precedent is followed and a final decision is made to impose the ban, Russian Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin and his staff would be forbidden to travel more than about 25 miles outside Washington without special permission from the State Department. That is the limit now in effect on travel of foreign envoys in the area around Moscow.

Carlsen Starts On Trip Home

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (AP) — Capt. Kurt Carlsen was winging home tonight as New York readied a roaring "well done" to the gallant skipper of the Flying Enterprise.

He is due about midnight and will be greeted only informally at Idlewild Airport by his wife and by his boss, Hans L. Isbrandtsen of the shipping line.

The big welcome is tomorrow.

Carlsen was to have arrived today. But the Atlantic Ocean jinxed him again as mechanical trouble forced his plane to turn back 280 miles from Ireland.

"I'm beginning to wonder if I'll ever get back to New York and home," Carlsen remarked dryly.

But after a night's sleep, Carlsen got off today from Shannon Airport.

The skipper won world acclaim for his courageous but losing two week fight to keep his broken ship afloat. The vessel finally sank off Falmouth, England, last Thursday.

New York's ticker tape welcome for Carlsen tomorrow is expected to be the biggest since 7,500,000 persons turned out last April for Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

White Potato Price Rollback Is Seen

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—The government announced today that retail prices for white potatoes will be rolled back Jan. 28 to reflect the lower ceilings at the farm-shipper level.

Price Stabilizer Michael V. Di Salle said the order setting the maximum retail markups will be issued within the next few days. These markups will take into account the average 5 to 10 per cent cut in country shipping point prices ordered to take effect Jan. 19.

Small Announces

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 16 (AP)—Frank Small Jr., chairman of the State Racing Commission, filed today for the Republican nomination to Congress from Maryland's 5th district.

He became the fifth GOP contender in the race for the seat to be vacated by Rep. Lansdale G. Sasscer.

Solon Proposes Bill To Give Nation's Capital Back To Md.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP) — Senator Willis Smith (D-NC) proposed in the Senate today that Congress give back the city of Washington, home of the nation's capital, to the state of Maryland.

Smith introduced a bill to hand back all of Washington as a solution to the problem of how to extend home rule to the district's now voteless citizens.

He said he also would move to send a pending Washington home rule bill back to committee for study along with his proposal. He denounced the pending measure as "a makeshift" which would amount to home rule in name only.

The pending bill would permit District of Columbia voters to choose a city council and school board; the mayor would be a presidential appointee.

Senator Smith conceded his proposal "may sound a bit fantastic," but added: "I don't think it is."

His bill would retain federal title to all government properties, but give back the area as a whole to Maryland, from which it was ceded in the first place.

The measure would become effective only if the Maryland legislature passed a law accepting the area.

Somewhat similar proposals have been made in the past — and drawn cool response from Maryland.

Senator O'Conor (D-Md) backed the pending bill.

Troops In Korea To Test Bullet-Proof Vest

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—A new lightweight bullet-stopping jacket will be tested by U. S. troops in battle in Korea next month.

The army said today that about 1,400 of the armored jackets will be issued to an infantry regiment for the first field tests.

The jackets, which weighs only eight pounds, is made of layers of nylon and a secret substance covered by a waterproof outer shell. It was developed by the army quartermaster corps.

The army said the jacket resists a .45-caliber pistol bullet at point blank range, stops practically all fragments from a grendade bursting at a distance of three feet and 75 per cent of the fragments from a mortar burst at 10 feet.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 16 (AP)—City Councilman Sam Friedel today announced he would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination to Congress from Maryland's seventh district.

Community Digs Out After Record Snowfall Kills One

PORTOLA, Calif., Jan. 16 (AP)—Desperate efforts were being made today to dig this mountain community out of a record snowfall which has collapsed buildings, caused one death, stranded 118 bus passengers and isolated the community for three days.

Mrs. Robert English of Portola was killed this morning when her home blew up, apparently from accumulated gas in the snow covered home. Her husband was injured.

Five greyhound and two Burlington buses, all eastbound, have been stranded here since Sunday. The 118 persons aboard have been housed in private homes, in the buses and in bus stations. Many of the passengers have run out of funds and Red Cross relief for them was authorized from San Francisco.

The record nine-foot snowfall has made nearly all emergency equipment useless. Fire engines less than two blocks away required half an hour to reach the English home. The way was cleared by a bulldozer. An ambulance was unable to reach the scene.

Two large buildings, a six-unit section of the Sterling Motel and a laundry building, collapsed under the snow. Several homes sagged from the weight on their roofs.

All able-bodied men were called out to shovel snow from roofs and to attempt to clear buried fire plugs.

Rex Riehm, Portola emergency disaster director, said the hospital is almost out of drugs and full of patients; that the town is low in milk and meat supplies, and short of fuel oil.

Efforts last night to open U. S. highway 395 from Reno to Portola were unsuccessful as strong winds whipped new drifts onto the roadway as fast as it was cleared. Clearing weather today gave hope that the road might be opened.

Allies Charge Reds Violate Geneva Pact

Brush Aside Threat To "Fight To End"

MUNSAN, Korea, Thursday, Jan. 17 (AP) — United Nations truce negotiators brushed aside a Communist threat Wednesday "to fight to the end" in Korea if the Allies dared to turn over 20,000 Chinese Red prisoners to Chiang Kai-Shek's army on Formosa.

The U. N. denied any such intent but raised another issue.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters in Tokyo announced it intended to press charges "at the earliest opportunity" that the Reds "have violated and are continuing to violate" every provision of the Geneva convention dealing with prisoner of war camps.

Although the armistice negotiations at Panmunjon were sorely muddled, delegates were scheduled to reconvene at 11 a.m. today (9 p.m. Wednesday, EST).

The Formosa threat was hurled by Red Chinese Col. Tsai Cheng-Wen, senior staff officer in prisoner exchange.

Reds Voice Threat

Tsai declared "if anybody dares to hand over any personnel of the Chinese peoples volunteers . . . to the deadly enemy of the Chinese people, Chiang Kai-Shek, the Chinese people will fight to the end."

An Allied briefing officer, however, denied the Allies had any intention of delivering any Chinese prisoners directly to Chiang's Nationalists.

The officer, Navy Lt. Walter J. Ellis, said if any Chinese chose to go to Formosa instead of back to Red China under voluntary repatriation they would be handed over to a neutral international organization for final disposition.

Red violations of the Geneva convention were charged when the U. N. command admitted Wednesday night its planes were in the vicinity of Kangdon Monday night when the Reds claimed a POW camp and hospital were bombed.

Red Peiping radio propagandists sought to capitalize on this by claiming the Allies were "murdering" their own prisoners including Americans. The Communists said 20 Allied prisoners were killed, 15 seriously injured and 40 more slightly injured.

Don't Disclose Camps

Ridgway's headquarters, following an investigation, said the Reds never have disclosed exactly where any of their POW camps are located. It said the POW camps are not marked by the letters "PW" or "PG" as required by the Geneva Convention.

Additionally, the U. N. pointed out that Kangdong was on a main highway running across Korea and was heavily traveled by supply trucks which provided "lucrative military targets." The Geneva Convention says prisoners should be kept out of combat zones and away from military targets.

140 PLANES CLASH IN THREE BATTLES

SEOUL, Thursday, Jan. 17 (AP) — U. S. Sabre jets Wednesday tangled with Communist jets in three battles involving almost 140 planes and damaged two of the swift red-nosed enemy MIGs.

The sun came out, the mercury rose to the low 40's but snow still covered the bleak, 145-mile front.

The air battles were again concentrated in the clear cold skies of "MIG alley," high over northwest Korea. In all, 58 Sabre jets engaged about 80 MIGs.

A tank-supported Allied raiding force on the western front ran into heavy Red automatic and mortar fire. The furious exchange lighted the sky in the pre-dawn darkness

Truman Asks For Another Tax Increase

Year Of Strain Seen In Congress Message

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16. (AP)—President Truman today asked Congress for roughly five billion dollars in new taxes and warned that 1952 will be a "year of strain" beset by inflationary dangers as the nation forges ahead toward peak rearmament.

The President also called for tighter price controls, a check on private spending, greater productivity, and a return to pay-as-we-go government financing.

In submitting his annual economic message to Congress Mr. Truman declared:

No Business As Usual

"It is even more true of 1952 than of 1951 we cannot have business as usual, consumer enjoyments as usual, or government programs and services as usual.

"If we succeed in attaining a durable peace, our expanding economy can double our standard of living within a generation.

"But for the time being, and perhaps for a long time, we must sail a middle course in an uncertain sea. War could come suddenly . . ."

Running counter to the advice of his Congressional lieutenants, Mr. Truman called for early and "vigorous action" to raise more taxes by increasing some tax rates and by plugging what he considers escape routes in the present tax laws.

Without new taxes, the President said, the federal treasury faces a deficit of eight billion dollars in the current fiscal year ending next June 30 and a "dangerously large deficit" of nearly twice that amount by mid-1953.

The total national debt is now $259,258,000,000, or slightly more than 15 billion dollars below the limit set by law.

As expected, Mr. Truman's request for higher taxes—the fourth in 18 months—met a chilly reception on Capitol Hill. Some lawmakers said something might be done to pick up new revenue by closing "loopholes," but Congress was clearly in no mood to enact another general tax hike.

Taxes Already Raised

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) told newsmen he doesn't believe Congress will vote "any substantial increase" in taxes this year. Others noted that Congress has already raised the nation's tax load by 15 billion dollars in the last year and a half, and said they would not vote to increase the burden short of a major emergency.

Just a year ago, the President asked for "10 billion dollars or more" in new taxes, but Congress whittled his request down to about $5,400,000,000.

Tax experts said the "loophole" stoppers mentioned by Mr. Truman would provide two to three billion dollars, or about half the new request.

The President said the loopholes included "such devices as excessively 'capital gains' provisions, family partnerships, and excessive depletion allowances on oil and gas and certain mineral properties.

Along with Mr. Truman's message to Congress, the President's council of economic advisers sent a 187-page economic review which contained this note of caution:

"There are limits beyond which it would be unwise to raise the rates of a specific tax or of taxes in general."

U. S. To Submit New Atomic Control Plan

Attack Russia's UN Proposals

PARIS, Jan. 16 (AP)—The United States announced today it will present important new proposals on control of atomic energy to the newly created U. N. disarmament commission, when the commission begins work in New York in a few weeks.

U. S. Ambassador Ernest A. Gress told the 60-nation political committee his delegation could not decide whether revised proposals for atomic energy put up by Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky represented "a step backward or a step forward."

Attacks Proposals

In Washington, however, Secretary of State Acheson attacked Vishinsky's plan. Acheson told a news conference the Russians seek only a "paper prohibition" against atomic weapons and offer no assurance of agreeing to a control system which would assure prohibition of such weapons. He cited as one hitch the Russian declaration that the international inspection agency should have no power to interfere in the domestic affairs of any state.

The ideas for the new United States control proposals are being worked out in Washington by representatives of the Atomic Energy Commission and the state and defense departments.

These are expected here to lay down definite plans for a fool-proof system of inspection and verification of a census of arms, including atomic weapons.

Gress appealed to Vishinsky to clarify the Russian position, especially in the disarmament commission when that body begins work on the question of arms regulation and control.

Vishinsky To Speak

He joined Stuart S. Garson, Canadian Minister of Justice, and British Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd in asking Vishinsky for definite information.

Vishinsky will speak tomorrow and then a vote is expected on the Moscow peace package. The west hopes to defeat every point of Moscow's program except the ideas on atomic control, which it hopes to send to the disarmament commission for further study and examination.

But Capehart declared:

The Indiana Senator is backing Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) for the GOP presidential nomination.

In San Francisco, an Associated Press poll of GOP national committee members willing to express an opinion showed Taft is a 3-to-1 choice over Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican nomination.

The poll tallied 31 votes for Taft, nine for Eisenhower, two for Gov. Earl Warren of California, and one for Harold E. Stassen.

Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, now president of the University of Pennsylvania, today filed a slate of 25 delegate-candidates pledged to him in the Minnesota primary on March 18.

Senator Humphrey (D-Minn), who talked with Mr. Truman on Monday, told newsmen on Capitol Hill today that the Democrats can't win unless they nominate a "consistent 'fair dealer' and a warm supporter of the administration's foreign policy."

Humphrey conferred with Frank E. McKinney, Democratic national chairman, and reportedly agreed to enter the March 18 Minnesota presidential primary as a "favorite son" candidate.

Humphrey In Primary

McKinney got in touch with party leaders in Minnesota last week and suggested that President Truman's name not be entered in the state's primary. McKinney said the suggestion had been approved by the President, and the chairman also proposed that Humphrey be entered instead.

Mr. Truman has declined to say whether he will seek another term.

Humphrey has said he has no plans to make an actual bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

He said if Mr. Truman decides not to run, "we have other good Democrats who could win the election."

In that category he suggested Vice President Barkley, Supreme Court Justice Fred M. Vinson, Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and Senator Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn).

Kefauver is expected to make a formal announcement of his candidacy late next week.

White Potato Price Rollback Is Seen

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—The government announced today that retail prices for white potatoes will be rolled back Jan. 28 to reflect the lower ceilings at the farm-shipper level.

Price Stabilizer Michael V. Di Salle said the order setting the maximum retail markups will be issued within the next few days. These markups will take into account the average 5 to 10 per cent cut in country shipping point prices ordered to take effect Jan. 19.

Small Announces

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 16 (AP)—Frank Small Jr., chairman of the State Racing Commission, filed today for the Republican nomination to Congress from Maryland's 5th district.

He became the fifth GOP contender in the race for the seat to be vacated by Rep. Lansdale G. Sasscer.

Heroic Doctor Fought Gas To Save Many

Dr. Walter Roehll Praised For Efforts

EMIGRANT GAP, Calif., Jan. 16 (AP)—All passengers of the snow-bound City of San Francisco were rescued today from frosty imprisonment in the swank streamliner stalled in the High Sierra since last Sunday.

The last group of the 192 passengers—men, women and children—aboard the snow-buried Southern Pacific train were taken to a relief train awaiting at plush Nyack Lodge—six miles downslope from the streamliner on the western side of historic Donner Pass. The train had a crew of 30. Four passengers got off Tuesday.

Stricken By Gas

Of some 60 passengers stricken by propane gas fumes on the unheated train Monday night, six stretcher cases were being treated. The other passengers recovered completely because of the heroic work of an Ohio physician — Dr. Walter H. L. Roehll of Middletown.

"He saved our lives," said Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hurley of Detroit. "He worked tirelessly. About 25 to 30 passengers were unconscious at one time."

The Hurleys were among more than 100 passengers reaching nearby Nyack Lodge earlier today. Their story—and that of the other passengers—was one of Dr. Roehll's unflagging work, gallantry among the passengers, unselfishness, and hearty efforts to keep up everybody's spirits by group singing and story telling.

Dr. Roehll, a stocky grey-haired 52 year-old man who walked into Nyack Lodge wearing heavy wool socks over his shoes, grinned modestly when other passengers pointed him out.

"All I did was what I had to," he said.

He was wearing a rumpled brown suit and a three-day growth of beard.

Among the eight passengers seriously ill was Mrs. J. Russell Sprague, wife of the Republican national committeeman from New York. They were en route to San Francisco for tomorrow's opening of the GOP national committee conference.

There were three steps in the rescue operations:

1. The passengers walked from the stalled train to U. S. highway 40 at Yuba Gap.

2. They got into automobiles and trucks provided by the lodge.

3. They traveled five miles on the highway, which had been opened by rotary plows, and they were safe at the lodge.

Board Relief Train

All were housed there for rest and food, until they could board the relief train, made up of 12 pullmans, two diners and a hospital car, which will take them to the San Francisco-Oakland area.

On board the train they will be served steak and chicken, or whatever they desire, and will occupy pullmans.

Most of the passengers were healthy and happy.

The passengers began leaving the virtually buried Southern Pacific luxury streamliner shortly before noon. It had been their cold and cheerless home since it bucked into a snowslide, then froze to the tracks.

The relief train followed a railroad snow plow that finally was able to cut its way over the rails to this mountain community.

Meanwhile, a highway plow had bucked and churned its way through drifts on U. S. 40—the famed Donner summit route—until a path had been cut to a point opposite the buried streamliner.

Those aboard the "City" had 1,000 feet to go to the highway. Snow

Propose Travel Ban On Soviets

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 —The United States may impose a travel ban on the Soviet Embassy staff here in retaliation for extensive new restrictions placed on Americans and other foreign diplomats in Moscow by the Russian government.

Word of the latest extension of iron curtain rules reached Washington today and Secretary of State Dean Acheson was asked about retaliation at a news conference.

He said the State Department had received only a very brief message about the development from the embassy in Moscow and he did not yet know what the American response would be. He clearly left open the possibility of a crackdown on Soviet diplomatic travel in the United States, however, and this checked with information from other official sources.

If precedent is followed and a final decision is made to impose the ban, Russian Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin and his staff would be forbidden to travel more than about 25 miles outside Washington without special permission from the State Department. That is the limit now in effect on travel of foreign envoys in the area around Moscow.

Packard Head Dies

Community Digs Out After Record Snowfall Kills One

PORTOLA, Calif., Jan. 16 (AP)—Desperate efforts were being made today to dig this mountain community out of a record snowfall which has collapsed buildings, caused one death, stranded 118 bus passengers and isolated the community for three days.

Mrs. Robert English of Portola was killed this morning when her home blew up, apparently from accumulated gas in the snow covered home. Her husband was injured.

Five greyhound and two Burlington buses, all eastbound, have been stranded here since Sunday. The 118 persons aboard have been housed in private homes, in the buses and in bus stations. Many of the passengers have run out of funds and Red Cross relief for them was authorized from San Francisco.

The record nine-foot snowfall has made nearly all emergency equipment useless. Fire engines less than two blocks away required half an hour to reach the English home. The way was cleared by a bulldozer. An ambulance was unable to reach the scene.

Two large buildings, a six-unit section of the Sterling Motel and a laundry building, collapsed under the snow. Several homes sagged from the weight on their roofs.

All able-bodied men were called out to shovel snow from roofs and to attempt to clear buried fire plugs.

Rex Riehm, Portola emergency disaster director, said the hospital is almost out of drugs and full of patients; that the town is low in milk and meat supplies, and short of fuel oil.

Efforts last night to open U. S. highway 395 from Reno to Portola were unsuccessful as strong winds whipped new drifts onto the roadway as fast as it was cleared. Clearing weather today gave hope that the road might be opened.

Solon Proposes Bill To Give Nation's Capital Back To Md.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP) — Senator Willis Smith (D-NC) proposed in the Senate today that Congress give back the city of Washington, home of the nation's capital, to the state of Maryland.

Smith introduced a bill to hand back all of Washington as a solution to the problem of how to extend home rule to the district's now voteless citizens.

He said he also would move to send a pending Washington home rule bill back to committee for study along with his proposal. He denounced the pending measure as "a makeshift" which would amount to home rule in name only.

The pending bill would permit District of Columbia voters to choose a city council and school board; the mayor would be a presidential appointee.

Senator Smith conceded his proposal "may sound a bit fantastic," but added: "I don't think it is."

His bill would retain federal title to all government properties, but give back the area as a whole to Maryland, from which it was ceded in the first place.

The measure would become effective only if the Maryland legislature passed a law accepting the area.

Somewhat similar proposals have been made in the past — and drawn cool response from Maryland.

DST Question To Be Decided By Residents In Referendum

Voters in this year's general election must decide on the controversial Daylight Savings Time issue.

Under the ordinance in effect, "fast time" would start in April and continue through September. In the past several years, the ordinance has resulted in increasing pro and con discussion.

The Mayor and Council finally took the matter to the legislature which called for the referendum on March 18.

Fight Before Council

Leading opponents of "fast time" have been the railroad unions who carried their fight to the council on several stormy occasions. But what was believed to have been an equal number of requests favoring the ordinance, led the council to believe it had not received a majority opinion one way or the other.

In the early part of 1950, the Junior Association of Commerce conducted an "unofficial poll" on the "fast time" question and it was defeated in a close contest.

There had been a possibility the proposed sewage proposal plant would also be put on the ballot for referendum but that plan has been dropped.

Mayor Thomas S. Post said the city has not received engineering plans or sufficient information on the estimated $1,500,000 project.

Buchholtz Files

Meanwhile, Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz filed officially for Mayor. He posted his $40 fee with City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery Tuesday afternoon.

Buchholtz is the only mayoral candidate announced. Five have announced for council and three have posted the $25 filing fee.

Officially in the race for council are J. Walter Byer, Attorney Edwin M. Horchler and William V. Keegan, former police and fire commissioner.

Announced council candidates are Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long and retired former city fire chief, Jeremiah T. Defibaugh.

Delegate Will Attend Childhood Group Meet

Plans were formulated for sending a delegate to the international convention to be held in Philadelphia April 14-19 at a meeting of the executive committee of the local branch of the Association for Childhood Education at the home of Miss Datha Thomas of Frostburg.

The delegate will be elected at the February meeting, according to Miss Marian Bevans president.

The group also decided to hold a benefit activity in the early spring.

Miss Roma Gans, educator and lecturer from Columbia University, will speak at the spring dinner meeting May 15 at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

At next month's meeting in the Board of Education Building, officers will be elected.

Bank Debits Note Increase

Debits to individual accounts reported by banks here to the Fifth District of the Federal Reserve Bank at Richmond reveal an increase for the first 11 months of 1951 over the same period of 1950.

For the first 11 months last year, $283,043,000 account debits are listed as compared to $256,201,000 in 1950. November 1951 showed a total of $26,272,000 as compared to $26,220,000 in the same month of 1950.

Cumberland was third in debits among four cities listed with Baltimore and Hagerstown first and second respectively.

While increasing for the first 11 months of last year, building here did not keep pace with the remainder of the state. In this respect the city was fourth behind Baltimore, Hagerstown and Frederick, Salisbury was fifth.

Building permit figures show the city permits totaled $2,044,328 as compared to $1,055,590 in 1950. November was a bad month with only $13,075 reported as compared to $27,840 in 1950.

Owens Receives Award

At the twenty - third annual National Fur Show, January 7-12, a cash award and a certificate was received by Charles R. Owens, Route 4, Oldtown Road, for a muskrat pelt he had on display.

Mr. Owens will enter the award-winning pelt in the finals of the fur show in March. Owner of the winning fur piece will receive a $1,000 cash award.

Celanese Employe Gets Service Award

Roy J. Taylor, Fairgo, received a pocket watch Tuesday from L. L. Helmer, assistant plant manager, in acknowledgement of over a quarter century of services at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation.

John Bestwick, superintendent of spinning, presented Taylor a certificate attesting to 25 years of service and also a five-star lapel emblem.

All of Taylor's Celanese service has been in the Spinning Department where he has been a chargehand for past 12 years.

Taylor has a son who is serving in Korea with the engineering branch of the Air Corps.

Cumberland First Grade Teachers Convene

First grade teachers from all Cumberland public schools met Tuesday in the Board of Education Building to discuss mutual problems.

Miss Winifred Greene, elementary school supervisor, who attended the meeting with the teachers, said that this was the second of four such sessions planned during the school year. Mrs. Nell D. Smith is chairman and Miss Thelma Hadley, co-chairman of the group.

One of the chief topics of discussion was the question of improving the language of the pupils without discouraging their learning new ideas.

Paper Is Published By Young Democrats

The first edition of "The Young Democrat," a publication by the Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland, has been received here.

Current plans call for four issues a year depending on subscriptions. If enough are received, the paper will be published monthly.

The first, four-page edition contains news of the county groups, state and national activities. Paul A. Pumpian, 4811 Lanier Avenue, Baltimore 15, is editor.

Included on the Board of Editors is Miss Gene H. Miller, of Cumberland and Annapolis. Miss Miller is national committeewoman.

Two Wills Admitted For Probate Here

Two wills were admitted to probate in Orphans Court.

The will of James L. Feeney, this city, who died January 11 named his son, James P. Feeney, of Towson, as executor. Bond of $15,000 was posted by the executor.

St. Mary's Catholic Church receives $1,000 for masses for Feeney and his deceased wife.

The balance of the estate is left share and share alike to his children, Catherine Stump, Patricia Norton, William L. Feeney, James P. Feeney, F. Gerard Feeney Peter A. Feeney and Hubert J. Feeney.

The will of Verlinda A. Grubb, who died January 2 was also probated. E. W. Gearhart and Homer B. Brill, were named executors. They are named as trustees for two daughters of the deceased, Kathleen Edna Grubb and Corrine E. Grubb.

Churchill Before Congress

Circumstances attending the speech of Prime Minister Churchill today will greatly differ from those which surrounded his first appearance before Congress on December 26, 1941. The war then was a hot one, and Britain was carrying the brunt of it. The close association which had grown for many months between the United States and Britain had been transformed overnight by Pearl Harbor into a military alliance.

Except for the hostilities in Korea, the war now is a cold one, and even in Korea the United States is carrying the ball. The United States and Britain are allies under the United Nations flag in Korea, and under the North Atlantic security pact, but as for the rest of the world, the more realistic term for the relationship between the two nations would be "association."

In 1941, Churchill spoke as the leader of a firm coalition government; today he governs as the leader of a Conservative party which has only a slim majority in the House of Commons. Churchill was the guest in 1941 of a President whose temperament and tradition were much like his own. There is little kinship between the Churchill of Blenheim Palace and the Truman of Independence, Mo.

The Congress in 1941 had had a year to recover from the strains of a vigorous national election campaign; the recent shock of Pearl Harbor had restored a feeling of unity. No such solidarity exists in the Congress which today gives every evidence of preparing to speed through its session in order to participate in a political pull-and-haul just as spirited as the one in 1940.

In 1941 Churchill drew laughter and applause from the solons by remarking, "By the way, I cannot help reflecting that if my father had been American and my mother British, instead of the other way round, I might have got here on my own." But despite the early laughter, the mood of the 1941 speech was both somber and stubbornly optimistic.

Churchill spoke of "a long and hard war," and said, "Our peoples would rather know the truth." He sounded the note then that he was to repeat in later speeches to the American people—of the need for Britain and American association:

> "Prodigious hammer strokes have been needed to bring us together today; or, if you will allow me to use other language, I will say that he must, indeed, have blind soul who cannot see that some great purpose and design is being worked out here below, of which we have the honor to be the faithful servants . . . I avow my hope and faith, sure and inviolate, that in days to come the British and American peoples will for their own safety and for the good of all walk together side by side in majesty, in justice, and in peace."

Churchill returned to that theme in his speech at Fulton, Mo., on March 5, 1946. He spoke then as a private citizen, defeated in the last election. But he had been introduced by President Truman, with the words, "I know he will have something constructive to say."

Then Churchill proposed a "fraternal association" of Britain and the United States that would give the world "an overwhelming assurance of security." What Churchill envisioned was a virtual military alliance. And, "Eventually there may come the principle of common citizenship, but that we may be content to leave to destiny, whose outstretched arms so many of us can clearly see."

"Clean-Up" Whitewash

There is little in the record of Attorney General McGrath to warrant the belief that he is the man to clean up the government. There is even less in the attitude he has consistently taken toward other agencies and individuals who have tried to expose corruption and punish wrongdoers in the federal service.

During the investigations of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, which were conducted by the congressional subcommittee headed by Representative Cecil King, California Democrat, Mr. McGrath stubbornly refused to lay open the files of the Department of Justice which he heads. As a result, evidence which should have been easily and quickly available had to be obtained through laborious processes and by devious means. Some information, indeed, which would have had an important bearing on the situation, never did reach the committee.

The appointment of Mr. McGrath to investigate wrongdoing in government belies the President's recent public professions of a determination to cleanse his administration of every taint of dishonesty. It is a complete rejection of the sound theory that any inquiry, to be sincerely conducted and effective in results, should be entrusted to men who are in no way associated with the parties to be investigated.

The so-called Truman "clean-up" can be written off now as a whitewash.

U. S. Navy Visits Spain

For the first time since 1936 the larger part of the U. S. Navy's Mediterranean Fleet is paying a visit to ports in Spain. Divided among the eight harbors covered in this "goodwill mission" are 35 ships, including cruisers, destroyers, and the carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Some of the ports visited could become bases for the U. S. Sixth Fleet under the terms of a U. S.-Spanish military agreement, projected but still to be negotiated. The United States has not officially disclosed what bases it wants.

At least one of the ports visited—Cartagena—has been mentioned in news dispatches from Madrid as a possible Western Mediterranean base for the U. S. Navy. The Spanish economy, admittedly weak, could contribute little to the U. S. re-equipment of the Spanish army or to the U. S. construction of air bases in Spain.

Spain could probably contribute more toward the organization of U. S. naval bases in Spain. Such bases, when added to the British base at Gibraltar, might prove valuable to an Allied naval force for any anti-submarine activities in either the Mediterranean or the Atlantic.

International Bank (another name for the American taxpayer) has lent $300,000,000 to backward nations that aren't backward when it comes to mooching moola.

Russia has returned two of the 650 ships loaned that country by Roosevelt, but so far Navy men have been unable to discover what is the matter with them.

Syphilis Of The Brain

Civilization and syphilization have gone hand in hand for centuries but some day they are going to part company. Enough is now known to stamp out the disease. In fact, treatment is so successful in early cases that the late manifestations gradually are becoming nonexistent.

The first two stages of syphilis are serious because the malady is contagious at this time and can be spread easily to others. Involvement of the brain and spinal cord leads to paralysis and complete helplessness if treatment is withheld. Statistics show that in 1943, of all the admissions to our state mental hospitals, 8 per cent had the late manifestations of syphilis. We might assume the same ratio in private institutions because the condition is not partial to rich or poor, old or young, male or female. In the past, many of our best minds had their exodus via this route.

General paresis (general paralysis of the insane) is one of the most common forms of syphilis of the brain. It is five times as frequent in men as women and can be detected by special studies of the blood and spinal fluid. In many instances the tests are positive long before symptoms appear. The early signs are vague and consist of changes in personality such as irritability, absentmindedness, inability to concentrate, lack of judgment, and carelessness about the clothes and the person.

The initial indications of this phase of the disease may not last long. They often occasion no concern to friends or relatives but could have critical consequences when the victim holds a responsible position. Huge business losses may be sustained before the cause of the personality changes is discovered or the reputation may be lost through drinking or various aberrations. Meanwhile the moods swing between mild depression and euphoria. Ultimately these changes become more pronounced and the more characteristic features of the late phases of the disease appear. Those with euphoria, for example, become highly elated and have delusions of wealth and grandeur; they seem really happy and for the time being are sitting on top of the world. The depressed patients become more so and sink deeper into states of anxiety, fear, and self-accusation.

The physician finds on examination mild disturbances in manual dexterity, lack of coordinated movements, reflex changes, and slight eye abnormalities. Enunciation is poor so that the sufferer is unable to say "Methodist Episcopal" without slurring the syllables. The condition goes from bad to worse with progressive dementia and, finally, complete disability.

This was true in the past when a good remedy was not available. Several years ago fever therapy was introduced with great success in many cases. The body temperature was raised by placing the person in a heat cabinet or by utilizing inductotherm or the injection of malarial parasites. When penicillin became avialable its efficacy in the treatment of other diseases overshadowed the good results in syphilis of the brain. The antibiotic has proved to be our best treatment, especially when combined with fever therapy.

Churchill Gets Advice On U. S. Of Europe; Truman-Churchill Talks Made No Real Progress Toward European Unity; British Aloofness Hit

WASHINGTON—It didn't leak to the press but at the President's first luncheon for Winston Churchill, the 77-year-old prime minister got some friendly advice from the only guest older than he.

The adviser was 84-year-old Sen. Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island, who, despite his age, is even more active than Churchill, and who during the luncheon gently told the P.M. about moves toward a United States of Europe made at the Strasbourg Conference.

Green recently served as co-chairman with Paul Spaak of Belgium, over the consultative assembly of the Council of Europe, attended by 14 U. S. senators and congressmen, plus delegates from all parts of Europe. And the Rhode Island senator was quite eloquent in describing the pleas for unity made by the delegates—and their disappointment over British opposition.

Most U. S. congressmen attending the Strasbourg Conference came away determined that future American aid to Europe should be tied to a proviso that Europe unite. Even conservative Democrats Gene Cox of Georgia and Howard Smith of Virginia made speeches praising European unity and criticising British aloofness.

Diplomatic Senator Green did not bear down too hard on this during the President's lunch for Churchill, but tried to get his point across by saying:

"Your delegate Robert Boothby did as well as he could with the limited material he had."

Churchill grunted.

"Good man Boothby," he said. Then with pride in his own political party, he added: "He's a Conservative."

Senator Green's hint, however, had no effect upon the Churchill-Truman conferences that followed. The prime minister paid nothing more than lip-service to European unity.

During the Strasbourg Conference, British Delegate Boothby in opposing a United States of Europe argued:

"The finest unity the world has ever seen was that between Churchill and Roosevelt when they met together to decide the problems of the world."

To this Congressman Frazier Reams of Toledo, O., took exception.

"I have had the greatest respect for both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill," he told the Strasbourg assembly, "but most of Eastern Europe is littered with broken pieces of the policies they left behind."

Diplomats who watched the venerable British statesman in Washington couldn't escape the impression that Churchill still believes the problems of the world should be settled between two men only.

Diplomats who watched Churchill in other conferences also remembered, however, how obstructionist he could be when Roosevelt would not yield, and how some of the decisions he insisted upon completely upset the peace of the world. Here are some of them:

Error In China— Meeting with Chiang Kai-shek and FDR in one of their famed conferences (Cairo in 1943) Roosevelt felt the urgent need of strengthening Chiang. His army had been fighting the Japanese longer than any other. Already he faced desertions to the Communists. So FDR urged an Allied campaign over the Burma Road to rescue China.... But Churchill was vigorously opposed. He would hear none of it. Instead he wanted an Allied campaign to retake Britain's old possessions—Singapore and the Malays.... At this Chiang got sore, threatened to pull out altogether, and it took a lot of persuading by FDR to keep him in Cairo. To placate him FDR proposed that Britain give up Hong Kong, make it an international port under the UN.... Churchill's reply: "I was not made prime minister to liquidate the British Empire."... Chiang, returning empty-handed, faced increasing defections to the Communists.... Real fact is that for Chiang, Cairo marked the beginning of the end. ... Incidentally Hong Kong, still British, supplied the Communists with part of their gas and oil to oppose us in Korea.

Error In Greece—At Casablanca, Churchill got from FDR a promise that the Mediterranean was to be a British theatre, with all commands and political decisions clearing through British hands. This meant not only a British top commander for Allied forces in Italy—though most of the troops were American—but it meant that not even a telegram could be sent in the Mediterranean Theatre without a British OK.... one result was gross mismanagement in Greece. Churchill backed the wrong leaders, got the country involved in civil war, eventually sent a telegram that shocked the world.... "Do not hesitate to act as if you were in a conquered city," Churchill wired the British commander in Athens. "You should not hesitate to open fire on any armed male in the Greek capital who assails the authority of the British.... Keep and dominate Athens."... Eventually this policy failed. It failed so miserably that London gave the United States peremptory notice it was turning the future of Greece over to us.... Since then we have been running Greece—at a cost of about one billion dollars a year—some of which could have been saved if we had followed the old adage, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Iran And Egypt—Diplomats also recall the manner in which Churchill secured from Roosevelt full control of policy in Egypt, Iran and the Middle East. The result of that policy, partly spelled out in Egyptian riots and closed British consulates in Iran, is too fresh to need repetition here.... But the manner in which American wartime commanders backed up British supremacy, may have been forgotten. Gen. Benny Giles, lecturing U. S. newsmen who criticized British policy in Cairo in 1943, said: "Gentlemen, I have noticed that you have been writing political news. You are war correspondents, and you will write nothing critical of British policy in the Middle East."

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—President Truman plans to send a personal representative to the Vatican with exactly the same informal status that Myron C. Taylor had when he was sent there as "personal representative" by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

A prominent Catholic has been chosen for the post. What hasn't been decided is whether a nomination shall be sent to the Senate for the position of ambassador and then, if it is rejected, send the same envoy as a "personal representative" or whether to abandon now the idea of naming an ambassador and send at once to Rome the "personal representative."

Shortly after naming General Clark and notwithstanding the controversy it stirred up, Mr. Truman, in letters written to friends, said he had promised the Pope that he would send a representative and he intended to abide by that promise. The President used the word "representative" in his writings rather than either "ambassador" or "minister."

President's Attitude Disclosed

This correspondent disclosed the President's attitude in a dispatch in these columns on November 15 last, which said in part:

"If both houses of Congress fail to bring to a vote or to pass the special legislation required to give Gen. Clark the status that has been requested for him, so that he can serve in a diplomatic post and still retain his rank in the Army, the President may name someone else. In fact, it would not be surprising if sometime during the next session, Gen. Clark himself asked that his name be withdrawn so that it would not interfere with possible opportunities he may have for promotion to a more responsible position in the Army than he now holds as commander of the field forces.

"Thus it could turn out that Mr. Truman would send a 'personal representative' to the Vatican without waiting for congressional action on the matter of an embassy."

The schedule seems to be working out. General Clark has asked that his name be withdrawn. The White House said last Sunday night that another name will be sent to the Senate soon. Leaders of both parties on Capitol Hill are saying privately that no action will be taken. In fact, they doubt whether it will come to a vote if another nomination is sent to the Senate.

Mr. Truman could, of course, carry out his pledge to the Pope by sending a "personal representative."

Some Protestants Protested

Speaking of commitments and pledges, on the other hand there are Protestant groups which insist that some of their spokesmen protested from time to time in conferences with President Truman against the continuance of the Taylor mission. The President is reported to have made a pledge or commitment that he would not send an ambassador to the Vatican as was being recommended to him by Representative McCormack of Massachusetts, Democratic leader of the House.

There is, moreover, a reliable report that at one of these conferences with Protestant groups, Mr. Truman also promised that he would continue the Taylor mission or its equivalent only until peace had been achieved. Whether this meant only until a technical status of peace had been accomplished by treaties with Japan and Germany or whether it meant until world conditions had reached a stage where peace was assured involves a point that the various documents on the subject available to this correspondent from Protestant spokesmen do not clarify.

As for the furor which the nomination of General Clark occasioned, it is evident from heavy protest mail received by members of Congress from their constituents that if they can find a way to smother the issue and keep it from coming to a record vote, they will be happy to do so. As for the "personal representative" method of carrying on informal relations with the Vatican or any group or religious headquarters here or abroad, that's something any President can do without the need for congressional action of any kind.

Strategy For July

WASHINGTON

The immediate result of General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower's announcement of his availability has been to place the forces behind Sen. Robert A. Taft, who not long ago seemed about to sweep all before him, wholly on the defensive. It is already obvious, for example, that the last thing in the world the Taft camp wants is a direct trial of strength between Eisenhower and Taft.

The Taft strategy may change, of course, in response to the pressure of events. But at present the intention is to limit Taft's primary contests to only three states—Ohio, Illinois and Wisconsin. And as the Taft strategists are most thoroughly aware, it will be extremely difficult for the Eisenhower backers to challenge Taft directly in any of these states.

As for Wisconsin, the Taft strategists like to recall Eisenhower's statement that "I shall not participate in pre-convention activities." By Wisconsin law, to get his name on the ballot a Presidential aspirant must submit a signed affidavit to the effect that he is a candidate. Thus the Taft backers consider their man fairly safe from a direct Eisenhower challenge in the Wisconsin primary.

Scales Weighted For Taft

Consent of the candidate is also required in Ohio, and in any event the Eisenhower men would hardly choose to challenge Taft in his home state. No consent is required in Illinois. But primary voting is restricted to registered Republicans, and the Illinois registered Republicans who take the trouble to vote in a primary are exceedingly responsive to the wishes of Col. Robert R. McCormick, who hates Eisenhower and loves Taft. Thus the scales would be weighted heavily for Taft in a test in Illinois.

For these reasons the Taft men hope to avoid any pre-convention battle of the ballots with Eisenhower. In the Eisenhower camp, no firm counter-strategy has yet been decided upon. Much depends on what Eisenhower means by "pre-convention activities." If he means that he will not enter any contest in which he would have to re-affirm his availability, the Eisenhower men are automatically restricted to entering his name in those few states where consent of the candidate is not required.

These include New Hampshire—where Eisenhower is already entered—Minnesota (March 18), Pennsylvania (April 22), and Oregon (May 16). The more aggressive and confident of the Eisenhower backers, reportedly including Sen. James Duff, of Pennsylvania, would like to see Eisenhower's name entered in all these states.

This aggressive strategy would tend to put great pressure on Taft, in the words of one Eisenhower man, to "come out of hiding." In Pennsylvania, for example, the Grundy-Owlett faction would dearly love to see Taft nominated, but the Grundy-Owlett machine is still sitting cautiously on the fence. The horrid prospect of Eisenhower, his name on the ballot, capturing most of the delegates by default, might force the machine to plump for Eisenhower, if Taft refused to enter the race.

"Ike" Leads Stassen

The enfeebled perennial, Harold Stassen, is accounted Minnesota's "favorite son." But the business interests which formerly backed Stassen are now beginning to go over to Eisenhower, and recent polls show Eisenhower leading Stassen by a huge majority among Minnesota's Republican voters. Again, the prospect of an Eisenhower victory in Minnesota would put great pressure on Taft to come in. So would the threat of an Eisenhower clean sweep in the Oregon primaries on May 16, just before the convention.

Yet if the Taft camp steadfastly kept their man's name out of these primaries, the Eisenhower backers would still be deprived of what they want—a straight test of Republican voter sentiment between the two men. This is why the more aggressive-minded among the Eisenhower backers are strongly inclined to believe that Eisenhower should be entered in Wisconsin also.

They argue, reasonably enough, that Eisenhower has already said in effect that he would run if nominated; and that to say it again in a formal affidavit, in order to meet the Wisconsin requirement, would constitute no unseemly participation in preconvention activities. These men argue that Eisenhower would beat Taft hands-down in Wisconsin, and that such a victory in the State of Wisconsin, with its isolationist history, would settle the issue once and for all.

No decision has yet been finally made on this point—indeed, it is not certain that Eisenhower will be entered even in those states where consent of the candidate is not necessary. But one thing is clear. Taft's strength derives from the Republican professionals. The delegates to a national convention are by and large professionals, of the same stripe as the county chairmen who were polled three to one for Taft. Taft needs only 600 such men, voting for him at the convention, to win the nomination.

Yet if the polls and other soundings of popular sentiment mean anything, a large majority of the non-professional Republican voters want Eisenhower as their candidate. The professionals are always sensitive to pressure from below. And it is the job of the Eisenhower organizers to bring this pressure to bear, by every means, as heavily and constantly as possible. This is why an aggressive Eisenhower strategy is likely to prove in the end the right strategy.

These Days

Tin And Rubber

Great Britain is now very worried about Malaya, which is a very rich country, rich in tin and rubber. Its great city is Singapore.

The British believed before World War II that Singapore was impregnable. The Japanese took it with little effort. Now the British have it back and it is a rich place. And the great commodities that are sold to whoever will buy—the United States or Soviet Russia—are tin and rubber. The British would not enjoy losing all the advantages of controlling tin and rubber.

The principal customer is the United States, which pays enormously for both tin and rubber. W. Stuart Symington resigned from the headship of the RFC, it is reported, because he and the State Department quarrelled over the price of tin. The RFC was buying tin so that this country would not be without when the lanes of traffic in the Pacific are cut by war. But the British have a high price for tin, higher than is reasonable, but not higher than the United States will pay so that dollars may be accumulated in Great Britain. This price is now an indirect subsidy paid by the United States.

The Chinese Communists want that rubber and tin. They want it for themselves and they want it for Soviet Russia. Also, and this is important, if they can control Malaya, and from Malaya, Indonesia, they can prevent the United States from getting any tin and rubber from Southeast Asia. It would be very tough on the United States if this country failed to get tin and rubber.

One of the outstanding mistakes made in 1945, when the great statesmen made so many mistakes, was that they ditched Holland and gave Indonesia encouragement for freedom. And the Indonesian Republic was established in 1949, with its 75,000,000 people and its great wealth. Today, if the Dutch held those islands, they might be a base for our defenses, as the Philippines and Formosa form bases. Now it is not clear how Indonesia would stand if the Chinese Communists march on Malaya.

And one of the troubles in this whole situation is that Singapore is as much Chinese as it is Malayan. Chinese from Fukien and Kwantung provinces settled in Singapore. Many of them are very rich. Many are poor. They are puzzled as to whether they should support Chiang Kai-shek or Mao Tze-tung. But most of all, they want to trade with China.

If the British had not been so anxious to recognize Communist China, most of the Singapore Chinese would have supported Chiang Kai-shek as they had done since 1925, but they live in a British country and follow the course of their rulers. Into their ranks, the Chinese Communists infiltrated with great skill.

And now that situation turns on the British like a frightful calamity, because not only are the Chinese Communists marching on Malaya from the outside, but they are thick inside Malaya. They are crawling all over the place, killing men, setting fire to plantations, slowing up work, committing every outrage of guerrilla warfare. The Chinese are smarter than the Malays, and can teach them tricks.

This is one of the great worries of Winston Churchill and Anthony Eden and has caused conferences at the State Department and the White House. And in the President's speech and in the joint Churchill-Truman statement, Malaya becomes an item like Korea. And as has been said, if the Chinese Communists hit at Malaya, it will be a fight like Korea.

But who will fight?

Will it be another "police action" of the United Nations or will it be war involving the United States and Great Britain? The probability is that nobody will ever try a "police action" again; nobody will permit a lot of diplomats, Arabs and South Americans and such to decide what is to be done about American troops. The British will not like that, although they did like it in Korea.

There is the Malayan situation, perhaps oversimplified; yet, in essence, it is the whole of the story. There is blood on the moon in the southeast of Asia unless the battle is on the mainland of China.

General Douglas MacArthur, who fought over all the islands in Southeast Asia, understood that when he wanted to bomb Manchuria. It would have been an easier fight in Manchuria than it ever can be in the Malayan jungle.

Churchill Before Congress

Circumstances attending the speech of Prime Minister Churchill today will greatly differ from those which surrounded his first appearance before Congress on December 26, 1941. The war then was a hot one, and Britain was carrying the brunt of it. The close association which had grown for many months between the United States and Britain had been transformed overnight by Pearl Harbor into a military alliance.

Except for the hostilities in Korea, the war now is a cold one, and even in Korea the United States is carrying the ball. The United States and Britain are allies under the United Nations flag in Korea, and under the North Atlantic security pact, but as for the rest of the world, the more realistic term for the relationship between the two nations would be "association."

In 1941, Churchill spoke as the leader of a firm coalition government; today he governs as the leader of a Conservative party which has only a slim majority in the House of Commons. Churchill was the guest in 1941 of a President whose temperament and tradition were much like his own. There is little kinship between the Churchill of Blenheim Palace and the Truman of Independence, Mo.

The Congress in 1941 had had a year to recover from the strains of a vigorous national election campaign; the recent shock of Pearl Harbor had restored a feeling of unity. No such solidarity exists in the Congress which today gives every evidence of preparing to speed through its session in order to participate in a political pull-and-haul just as spirited as the one in 1940.

In 1941 Churchill drew laughter and applause from the solons by remarking, "By the way, I cannot help reflecting that if my father had been American and my mother British, instead of the other way round, I might have got here on my own." But despite the early laughter, the mood of the 1941 speech was both somber and stubbornly optimistic.

Churchill spoke of "a long and hard war," and said, "Our peoples would rather know the truth." He sounded the note then that he was to repeat in later speeches to the American people—of the need for Britain and American association:

> "Prodigious hammer strokes have been needed to bring us together today; or, if you will allow me to use other language, I will say that he must, indeed, have blind soul who cannot see that some great purpose and design is being worked out here below, of which we have the honor to be the faithful servants . . . I avow my hope and faith, sure and inviolate, that in days to come the British and American peoples will for their own safety and for the good of all walk together side by side in majesty, in justice, and in peace."

Churchill returned to that theme in his speech at Fulton, Mo., on March 5, 1946. He spoke then as a private citizen, defeated in the last election. But he had been introduced by President Truman, with the words, "I know he will have something constructive to say."

Then Churchill proposed a "fraternal association" of Britain and the United States that would give the world "an overwhelming assurance of security." What Churchill envisioned was a virtual military alliance. And, "Eventually there may come the principle of common citizenship, but that we may be content to leave to destiny, whose outstretched arms so many of us can clearly see."

"Clean-Up" Whitewash

There is little in the record of Attorney General McGrath to warrant the belief that he is the man to clean up the government. There is even less in the attitude he has consistently taken toward other agencies and individuals who have tried to expose corruption and punish wrongdoers in the federal service.

During the investigations of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, which were conducted by the congressional subcommittee headed by Representative Cecil King, California Democrat, Mr. McGrath stubbornly refused to lay open the files of the Department of Justice which he heads. As a result, evidence which should have been easily and quickly available had to be obtained through laborious processes and by devious means. Some information, indeed, which would have had an important bearing on the situation, never did reach the committee.

The appointment of Mr. McGrath to investigate wrongdoing in government belies the President's recent public professions of a determination to cleanse his administration of every taint of dishonesty. It is a complete rejection of the sound theory that any inquiry, to be sincerely conducted and effective in results, should be entrusted to men who are in no way associated with the parties to be investigated.

The so-called Truman "clean-up" can be written off now as a whitewash.

U. S. Navy Visits Spain

For the first time since 1936 the larger part of the U. S. Navy's Mediterranean Fleet is paying a visit to ports in Spain. Divided among the eight harbors covered in this "goodwill mission" are 35 ships, including cruisers, destroyers, and the carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Some of the ports visited could become bases for the U. S. Sixth Fleet under the terms of a U. S.-Spanish military agreement, projected but still to be negotiated. The United States has not officially disclosed what bases it wants.

At least one of the ports visited—Cartagena—has been mentioned in news dispatches from Madrid as a possible Western Mediterranean base for the U. S. Navy. The Spanish economy, admittedly weak, could contribute little to the U. S. re-equipment of the Spanish army or to the U. S. construction of air bases in Spain.

Spain could probably contribute more toward the organization of U. S. naval bases in Spain. Such bases, when added to the British base at Gibraltar, might prove valuable to an Allied naval force for any anti-submarine activities in either the Mediterranean or the Atlantic.

"Your delegate Robert Boothby did as well as he could with the limited material he had."

Churchill grunted.

"Good man Boothby," he said. Then with pride in his own political party, he added: "He's a Conservative."

Senator Green's hint, however, had no effect upon the Churchill-Truman conferences that followed. The prime minister paid nothing more than lip-service to European unity.

During the Strasbourg Conference, British Delegate Boothby in opposing a United States of Europe argued:

"The finest unity the world has ever seen was that between Churchill and Roosevelt when they met together to decide the problems of the world."

To this Congressman Frazier Reams of Toledo, O., took exception.

"I have had the greatest respect for both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill," he told the Strasbourg assembly, "but most of Eastern Europe is littered with broken pieces of the policies they left behind."

Diplomats who watched the venerable British statesman in Washington couldn't escape the impression that Churchill still believes the problems of the world should be settled between two men only.

Diplomats who watched Churchill in other conferences also remembered, however, how obstructionist he could be when Roosevelt would not yield, and how some of the decisions he insisted upon completely upset the peace of the world. Here are some of them:

Error In China— Meeting with Chiang Kai-shek and FDR in one of their famed conferences (Cairo in 1943) Roosevelt felt the urgent need of strengthening Chiang. His army had been fighting the Japanese longer than any other. Already he faced desertions to the Communists. So FDR urged an Allied campaign over the Burma Road to rescue China.... But Churchill was vigorously opposed. He would hear none of it. Instead he wanted an Allied campaign to retake Britain's old possessions—Singapore and the Malays.... At this Chiang got sore, threatened to pull out altogether, and it took a lot of persuading by FDR to keep him in Cairo. To placate him FDR proposed that Britain give up Hong Kong, make it an international port under the UN.... Churchill's reply: "I was not made prime minister to liquidate the British Empire.",... Chiang, returning empty-handed, faced increasing defections to the Communists.... Real fact is that for Chiang, Cairo marked the beginning of the end. ... Incidentally Hong Kong, still British, supplied the Communists with part of their gas and oil to oppose us in Korea.

Error In Greece—At Casablanca, Churchill got from FDR a promise that the Mediterranean was to be a British theatre, with all commands and political decisions clearing through British hands. This meant not only a British top commander for Allied forces in Italy—though most of the troops were American—but it meant that not even a telegram could be sent in the Mediterranean Theatre without a British OK.... one result was gross mismanagement in Greece. Churchill backed the wrong leaders, got the country involved in civil war, eventually sent a telegram that shocked the world.... "Do not hesitate to act as if you were in a conquered city," Churchill wired the British commander in Athens. "You should not hesitate to open fire on any armed male in the Greek capital who assails the authority of the British.... Keep and dominate Athens.".... Eventually this policy failed. It failed so miserably that London gave the United States peremptory notice it was turning the future of Greece over to us.... Since then we have been running Greece—at a cost of about one billion dollars a year—some of which could have been saved if we had followed the old adage, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Iran And Egypt—Diplomats also recall the manner in which Churchill secured from Roosevelt full control of policy in Egypt, Iran and the Middle East. The result of that policy, partly spelled out in Egyptian riots and closed British consulates in Iran, is too fresh to need repetition here.... But the manner in which American wartime commanders backed up British supremacy, may have been forgotten. Gen. Benny Giles, lecturing U. S. newsmen who criticized British policy in Cairo in 1943, said: "Gentlemen, I have noticed that you have been writing political news. You are war correspondents, and you will write nothing critical of British policy in the Middle East."

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—President Truman plans to send a personal representative to the Vatican with exactly the same informal status that Myron C. Taylor had when he was sent there as "personal representative" by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

A prominent Catholic has been chosen for the post. What hasn't been decided is whether a nomination shall be sent to the Senate for the position of ambassador and then, if it is rejected, send the same envoy as a "personal representative" or whether to abandon now the idea of naming an ambassador and send at once to Rome the "personal representative."

Shortly after naming General Clark and notwithstanding the controversy it stirred up, Mr. Truman, in letters written to friends, said he had promised the Pope that he would send a representative and he intended to abide by that promise. The President used the word "representative" in his writings rather than either "ambassador" or "minister."

President's Attitude Disclosed

This correspondent disclosed the President's attitude in a dispatch in these columns on November 15 last, which said in part:

"If both houses of Congress fail to bring to a vote or to pass the special legislation required to give Gen. Clark the status that has been requested for him, so that he can serve in a diplomatic post and still retain his rank in the Army, the President may name someone else. In fact, it would not be surprising if sometime during the next session, Gen. Clark himself asked that his name be withdrawn so that it would not interfere with possible opportunities he may have for promotion to a more responsible position in the Army than he now holds as commander of the field forces.

"Thus it could turn out that Mr. Truman would send a 'personal representative' to the Vatican without waiting for congressional action on the matter of an embassy."

The schedule seems to be working out. General Clark has asked that his name be withdrawn. The White House said last Sunday night that another name will be sent to the Senate soon. Leaders of both parties on Capitol Hill are saying privately that no action will be taken. In fact, they doubt whether it will come to a vote if another nomination is sent to the Senate.

Mr. Truman could, of course, carry out his pledge to the Pope by sending a "personal representative."

Some Protestants Protested

Speaking of commitments and pledges, on the other hand there are Protestant groups which insist that some of their spokesmen protested from time to time in conferences with President Truman against the continuance of the Taylor mission. The President is reported to have made a pledge or commitment that he would not send an ambassador to the Vatican as was being recommended to him by Representative McCormack of Massachusetts, Democratic leader of the House.

There is, moreover, a reliable report that at one of these conferences with Protestant groups, Mr. Truman also promised that he would continue the Taylor mission or its equivalent only until peace had been achieved. Whether this meant only until a technical status of peace had been accomplished by treaties with Japan and Germany or whether it meant until world conditions had reached a stage where peace was assured involves a point that the various documents on the subject available to this correspondent from Protestant spokesmen do not clarify.

As for the furor which the nomination of General Clark occasioned, it is evident from heavy protest mail received by members of Congress from their constituents that if they can find a way to smother the issue and keep it from coming to a record vote, they will be happy to do so. As for the "personal representative" method of carrying on informal relations with the Vatican or any group or religious headquarters here or abroad, that's something any President can do without the need for congressional action of any kind.

Strategy For July

WASHINGTON

The immediate result of General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower's announcement of his availability has been to place the forces behind Sen. Robert A. Taft, who not long ago seemed about to sweep all before him, wholly on the defensive. It is already obvious, for example, that the last thing in the world the Taft camp wants is a direct trial of strength between Eisenhower and Taft.

The Taft strategy may change, of course, in response to the pressure of events. But at present the intention is to limit Taft's primary contests to only three states—Ohio, Illinois and Wisconsin. And as the Taft strategists are most thoroughly aware, it will be extremely difficult for the Eisenhower backers to challenge Taft directly in any of these states.

As for Wisconsin, the Taft strategists like to recall Eisenhower's statement that "I shall not participate in pre-convention activities." By Wisconsin law, to get his name on the ballot a Presidential aspirant must submit a signed affidavit to the effect that he is a candidate. Thus the Taft backers consider their man fairly safe from a direct Eisenhower challenge in the Wisconsin primary.

Scales Weighted For Taft

Consent of the candidate is also required in Ohio, and in any event the Eisenhower men would hardly choose to challenge Taft in his home state. No consent is required in Illinois. But primary voting is restricted to registered Republicans, and the Illinois registered Republicans who take the trouble to vote in a primary are exceedingly responsive to the wishes of Col. Robert R. McCormick, who hates Eisenhower and loves Taft. Thus the scales would be weighted heavily for Taft in a test in Illinois.

For these reasons the Taft men hope to avoid any pre-convention battle of the ballots with Eisenhower. In the Eisenhower camp, no firm counter-strategy has yet been decided upon. Much depends on what Eisenhower means by "pre-convention activities." If he means that he will not enter any contest in which he would have to re-affirm his availability, the Eisenhower men are automatically restricted to entering this name in those few states where consent of the candidate is not required.

These include New Hampshire—where Eisenhower is already entered—Minnesota (March 18), Pennsylvania (April 22), and Oregon (May 16). The more aggressive and confident of the Eisenhower backers, reportedly including Sen. James Duff, of Pennsylvania, would like to see Eisenhower's name entered in all these states.

This aggressive strategy would tend to put great pressure on Taft, in the words of one Eisenhower man, to "come out of hiding." In Pennsylvania, for example, the Grundy-Owlett faction would dearly love to see Taft nominated, but the Grundy-Owlett machine is still sitting cautiously on the fence. The horrid prospect of Eisenhower, his name on the ballot, capturing most of the delegates by default, might force the machine to plump for Eisenhower, if Taft refused to enter the race.

"Ike" Leads Stassen

The enfeebled perennial, Harold Stassen, is accounted Minnesota's "favorite son." But the business interests which formerly backed Stassen are now beginning to go over to Eisenhower, and recent polls show Eisenhower leading Stassen by a huge majority among Minnesota's Republican voters. Again, the prospect of an Eisenhower victory in Minnesota would put great pressure on Taft to come in. So would the threat of an Eisenhower clean sweep in the Oregon primaries on May 16, just before the convention.

Yet if the Taft camp steadfastly kept their man's name out of these primaries, the Eisenhower backers would still be deprived of what they want—a straight test of Republican voter sentiment between the two men. This is why the more aggressive-minded among the Eisenhower backers are strongly inclined to believe that Eisenhower should be entered in Wisconsin also.

They argue, reasonably enough, that Eisenhower has already said in effect that he would run if nominated; and that to say it again in a formal affidavit, in order to meet the Wisconsin requirement, would constitute no unseemly participation in preconvention activities. These men argue that Eisenhower would beat Taft hands-down in Wisconsin, and that such a victory in the State of Wisconsin, with its isolationist history, would settle the issue once and for all.

No decision has yet been finally made on this point—indeed, it is not certain that Eisenhower will be entered even in those states where consent of the candidate is not necessary. But one thing is clear. Taft's strength derives from the Republican professionals. The delegates to a national convention are by and large professionals, of the same stripe as the county chairmen who were polled three to one for Taft. Taft needs only 600 such men, voting for him at the convention, to win the nomination.

Yet if the polls and other soundings of popular sentiment mean anything, a large majority of the non-professsional Republican voters want Eisenhower as their candidate. The professionals are always sensitive to pressure from below. And it is the job of the Eisenhower organizers to bring this pressure to bear, by every means, as heavily and constantly as possible. This is why an aggressive Eisenhower strategy is likely to prove in the end the right strategy.

Tin And Rubber

Great Britain is now very worried about Malaya, which is a very rich country, rich in tin and rubber. Its great city is Singapore.

The British believed before World War II that Singapore was impregnable. The Japanese took it with little effort. Now the British have it back and it is a rich place. And the great commodities that are sold to whoever will buy—the United States or Soviet Russia—are tin and rubber. The British would not enjoy losing all the advantages of controlling tin and rubber.

The principal customer is the United States, which pays enormously for both tin and rubber. W. Stuart Symington resigned from the headship of the RFC, it is reported, because he and the State Department quarrelled over the price of tin. The RFC was buying tin so that this country would not be without when the lanes of traffic in the Pacific are cut by war. But the British have a high price for tin, higher than is reasonable, but not higher than the United States will pay so that dollars may be accumulated in Great Britain. This price is now an indirect subsidy paid by the United States.

The Chinese Communists want that rubber and tin. They want it for themselves and they want it for Soviet Russia. Also, and this is important, if they can control Malaya, and from Malaya, Indonesia, they can prevent the United States from getting any tin and rubber from Southeast Asia. It would be very tough on the United States if this country failed to get tin and rubber.

One of the outstanding mistakes made in 1945, when the great statesmen made so many mistakes, was that they ditched Holland and gave Indonesia encouragement for freedom. And the Indonesian Republic was established in 1949, with its 75,000,000 people and its great wealth. Today, if the Dutch held those islands, they might be a base for our defenses, as the Philippines and Formosa form bases. Now it is not clear how Indonesia would stand if the Chinese Communists march on Malaya.

And one of the troubles in this whole situation is that Singapore is as much Chinese as it is Malayan. Chinese from Fukien and Kwantung provinces settled in Singapore. Many of them are very rich. Many are poor. They are puzzled as to whether they should support Chiang Kai-shek or Mao Tze-tung. But most of all, they want to trade with China.

If the British had not been so anxious to recognize Communist China, most of the Singapore Chinese would have supported Chiang Kai-shek as they had done since 1925, but they live in a British country and follow the course of their rulers. Into their ranks, the Chinese Communists infiltrated with great skill.

And now that situation turns on the British like a frightful calamity, because not only are the Chinese Communists marching on Malaya from the outside, but they are thick inside Malaya. They are crawling all over the place, killing men, setting fire to plantations, slowing up work, committing every outrage of guerrilla warfare. The Chinese are smarter than the Malays, and can teach them tricks.

This is one of the great worries of Winston Churchill and Anthony Eden and has caused conferences at the State Department and the White House. And in the President's speech and in the joint Churchill-Truman statement, Malaya becomes an item like Korea. And as has been said, if the Chinese Communists hit at Malaya, it will be a fight like Korea.

But who will fight?

Will it be another "police action" of the United Nations or will it be war involving the United States and Great Britain? The probability is that nobody will ever try a "police action" again; nobody will permit a lot of diplomats, Arabs and South Americans and such to decide what is to be done about American troops. The British will not like that, although they did like it in Korea.

There is the Malayan situation, perhaps oversimplified; yet, in essence, it is the whole of the story. There is blood on the moon in the southeast of Asia unless the battle is on the mainland of China.

General Douglas MacArthur, who fought over all the islands in Southeast Asia, understood that when he wanted to bomb Manchuria. It would have been an easier fight in Manchuria than it ever can be in the Malayan jungle.

Churchill Before Congress

Circumstances attending the speech of Prime Minister Churchill today will greatly differ from those which surrounded his first appearance before Congress on December 26, 1941. The war then was a hot one, and Britain was carrying the brunt of it. The close association which had grown for many months between the United States and Britain had been transformed overnight by Pearl Harbor into a military alliance.

Except for the hostilities in Korea, the war now is a cold one, and even in Korea the United States is carrying the ball. The United States and Britain are allies under the United Nations flag in Korea, and under the North Atlantic security pact, but as for the rest of the world, the more realistic term for the relationship between the two nations would be "association."

In 1941, Churchill spoke as the leader of a firm coalition government; today he governs as the leader of a Conservative party which has only a slim majority in the House of Commons. Churchill was the guest in 1941 of a President whose temperament and tradition were much like his own. There is little kinship between the Churchill of Blenheim Palace and the Truman of Independence, Mo.

The Congress in 1941 had had a year to recover from the strains of a vigorous national election campaign; the recent shock of Pearl Harbor had restored a feeling of unity. No such solidarity exists in the Congress which today gives every evidence of preparing to speed through its session in order to participate in a political pull-and-haul just as spirited as the one in 1940.

In 1941 Churchill drew laughter and applause from the solons by remarking, "By the way, I cannot help reflecting that if my father had been American and my mother British, instead of the other way round, I might have got here on my own." But despite the early laughter, the mood of the 1941 speech was both somber and stubbornly optimistic.

Churchill spoke of "a long and hard war," and said, "Our peoples would rather know the truth." He sounded the note then that he was to repeat in later speeches to the American people—of the need for Britain and American association:

> "Prodigious hammer strokes have been needed to bring us together today; or, if you will allow me to use other language, I will say that he must, indeed, have blind soul who cannot see that some great purpose and design is being worked out here below, of which we have the honor to be the faithful servants . . . I avow my hope and faith, sure and inviolate, that in days to come the British and American peoples will for their own safety and for the good of all walk together side by side in majesty, in justice, and in peace."

Churchill returned to that theme in his speech at Fulton, Mo., on March 5, 1946. He spoke then as a private citizen, defeated in the last election. But he had been introduced by President Truman, with the words, "I know he will have something constructive to say."

Then Churchill proposed a "fraternal association" of Britain and the United States that would give the world "an overwhelming assurance of security." What Churchill envisioned was a virtual military alliance. And, "Eventually there may come the principle of common citizenship, but that we may be content to leave to destiny, whose outstretched arms so many of us can clearly see."

"Clean-Up" Whitewash

There is little in the record of Attorney General McGrath to warrant the belief that he is the man to clean up the government. There is even less in the attitude he has consistently taken toward other agencies and individuals who have tried to expose corruption and punish wrongdoers in the federal service.

During the investigations of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, which were conducted by the congressional subcommittee headed by Representative Cecil King, California Democrat, Mr. McGrath stubbornly refused to lay open the files of the Department of Justice which he heads. As a result, evidence which should have been easily and quickly available had to be obtained through laborious processes and by devious means. Some information, indeed, which would have had an important bearing on the situation, never did reach the committee.

The appointment of Mr. McGrath to investigate wrongdoing in government belies the President's recent public professions of a determination to cleanse his administration of every taint of dishonesty. It is a complete rejection of the sound theory that any inquiry, to be sincerely conducted and effective in results, should be entrusted to men who are in no way associated with the parties to be investigated.

The so-called Truman "clean-up" can be written off now as a whitewash.

U. S. Navy Visits Spain

For the first time since 1936 the larger part of the U. S. Navy's Mediterranean Fleet is paying a visit to ports in Spain. Divided among the eight harbors covered in this "goodwill mission" are 35 ships, including cruisers, destroyers, and the carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Some of the ports visited could become bases for the U. S. Sixth Fleet under the terms of a U. S.-Spanish military agreement, projected but still to be negotiated. The United States has not officially disclosed what bases it wants.

At least one of the ports visited—Cartagena—has been mentioned in news dispatches from Madrid as a possible Western Mediterranean base for the U. S. Navy. The Spanish economy, admittedly weak, could contribute little to the U. S. re-equipment of the Spanish army or to the U. S. construction of air bases in Spain.

Spain could probably contribute more toward the organization of U. S. naval bases in Spain. Such bases, when added to the British base at Gibraltar, might prove valuable to an Allied naval force for any anti-submarine activities in either the Mediterranean or the Atlantic.

How To Keep Well

Syphilis Of The Brain

Civilization and syphilization have gone hand in hand for centuries but some day they are going to part company. Enough is now known to stamp out the disease. In fact, treatment is so successful in early cases that the late manifestations gradually are becoming nonexistent.

The first two stages of syphilis are serious because the malady is contagious at this time and can be spread easily to others. Involvement of the brain and spinal cord leads to paralysis and complete helplessness if treatment is withheld. Statistics show that in 1943, of all the admissions to our state mental hospitals, 8 per cent had the late manifestations of syphilis. We might assume the same ratio in private institutions because the condition is not partial to rich or poor, old or young, male or female. In the past, many of our best minds had their exodus via this route.

General paresis (general paralysis of the insane) is one of the most common forms of syphilis of the brain. It is five times as frequent in men as women and can be detected by special studies of the blood and spinal fluid. In many instances the tests are positive long before symptoms appear. The early signs are vague and consist of changes in personality such as irritability, absentmindedness, inability to concentrate, lack of judgment, and carelessness about the clothes and the person.

The initial indications of this phase of the disease may not last long. They often occasion no concern to friends or relatives but could have critical consequences when the victim holds a responsible position. Huge business losses may be sustained before the cause of the personality changes is discovered or the reputation may be lost through drinking or various aberrations. Meanwhile the moods swing between mild depression and euphoria. Ultimately these changes become more pronounced and the more characteristic features of the late phases of the disease appear. Those with euphoria, for example, become highly elated and have delusions of wealth and grandeur; they seem really happy and for the time being are sitting on top of the world. The depressed patients become more so and sink deeper into states of anxiety, fear, and self-accusation.

The physician finds on examination mild disturbances in manual dexterity, lack of coordinated movements, reflex changes, and slight eye abnormalities. Enunciation is poor so that the sufferer is unable to say "Methodist Episcopal" without slurring the syllables. The condition goes from bad to worse with progressive dementia and, finally, complete disability.

This was true in the past when a good remedy was not available. Several years ago fever therapy was introduced with great success in many cases. The body temperature was raised by placing the person in a heat cabinet or by utilizing inductotherm or the injection of malarial parasites. When penicillin became avialable its efficacy in the treatment of other diseases overshadowed the good results in syphilis of the brain. The antibiotic has proved to be our best treatment, especially when combined with fever therapy.

Churchill Gets Advice On U. S. Of Europe; Truman-Churchill Talks Made No Real Progress Toward European Unity; British Aloofness Hit

WASHINGTON—It didn't leak to the press but at the President's first luncheon for Winston Churchill, the 77-year-old prime minister got some friendly advice from the only guest older than he.

The adviser was 84-year-old Sen. Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island, who, despite his age, is even more active than Churchill, and who during the luncheon gently told the P.M. about moves toward a United States of Europe made at the Strasbourg Conference.

Green recently served as co-chairman with Paul Spaak of Belgium, over the consultative assembly of the Council of Europe, attended by 14 U. S. senators and congressmen, plus delegates from all parts of Europe. And the Rhode Island senator was quite eloquent in describing the pleas for unity made by the delegates—and their disappointment over British opposition.

Most U. S. congressmen attending the Strasbourg Conference came away determined that future American aid to Europe should be tied to a proviso that Europe unite. Even conservative Democrats Gene Cox of Georgia and Howard Smith of Virginia made speeches praising European unity and criticising British aloofness.

Diplomatic Senator Green did not bear down too hard on this during the President's lunch for Churchill, but tried to get his point across by saying:

"Your delegate Robert Boothby did as well as he could with the limited material he had."

Churchill grunted.

"Good man Boothby," he said. Then with pride in his own political party, he added: "He's a Conservative."

Senator Green's hint, however, had no effect upon the Churchill-Truman conferences that followed. The prime minister paid nothing more than lip-service to European unity.

During the Strasbourg Conference, British Delegate Boothby in opposing a United States of Europe argued:

"The finest unity the world has ever seen was that between Churchill and Roosevelt when they met together to decide the problems of the world."

To this Congressman Frazier Reams of Toledo, O., took exception.

"I have had the greatest respect for both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill," he told the Strasbourg assembly, "but most of Eastern Europe is littered with broken pieces of the policies they left behind."

Diplomats who watched the venerable British statesman in Washington couldn't escape the impression that Churchill still believes the problems of the world should be settled between two men only.

Diplomats who watched Churchill in other conferences also remembered, however, how obstructionist he could be when Roosevelt would not yield, and how some of the decisions he insisted upon completely upset the peace of the world. Here are some of them:

Error In China— Meeting with Chiang Kai-shek and FDR in one of their famed conferences (Cairo in 1943) Roosevelt felt the urgent need of strengthening Chiang. His army had been fighting the Japanese longer than any other. Already he faced desertions to the Communists. So FDR urged an Allied campaign over the Burma Road to rescue China.... Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—President Truman plans to send a personal representative to the Vatican with exactly the same informal status that Myron C. Taylor had when he was sent there as "personal representative" by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

A prominent Catholic has been chosen for the post. What hasn't been decided is whether a nomination shall be sent to the Senate for the position of ambassador and then, if it is rejected, send the same envoy as a "personal representative" or whether to abandon now the idea of naming an ambassador and send at once to Rome the "personal representative."

Shortly after naming General Clark and notwithstanding the controversy it stirred up, Mr. Truman, in letters written to friends, said he had promised the Pope that he would send a representative and he intended to abide by that promise. The President used the word "representative" in his writings rather than either "ambassador" or "minister."

President's Attitude Disclosed

This correspondent disclosed the President's attitude in a dispatch in these columns on November 15 last, which said in part:

"If both houses of Congress fail to bring to a vote or to pass the special legislation required to give Gen. Clark the status that has been requested for him, so that he can serve in a diplomatic post and still retain his rank in the Army, the President may name someone else. In fact, it would not be surprising if sometime during the next session, Gen. Clark himself asked that his name be withdrawn so that it would not interfere with possible opportunities he may have for promotion to a more responsible position in the Army than he now holds as commander of the field forces.

"Thus it could turn out that Mr. Truman would send a 'personal representative' to the Vatican without waiting for congressional action on the matter of an embassy."

The schedule seems to be working out. General Clark has asked that his name be withdrawn. The White House said last Sunday night that another name will be sent to the Senate soon. Leaders of both parties on Capitol Hill are saying privately that no action will be taken. In fact, they doubt whether it will come to a vote if another nomination is sent to the Senate.

Mr. Truman could, of course, carry out his pledge to the Pope by sending a "personal representative."

Some Protestants Protested

Speaking of commitments and pledges, on the other hand there are Protestant groups which insist that some of their spokesmen protested from time to time in conferences with President Truman against the continuance of the Taylor mission. The President is reported to have made a pledge or commitment that he would not send an ambassador to the Vatican as was being recommended to him by Representative McCormack of Massachusetts, Democratic leader of the House.

There is, moreover, a reliable report that at one of these conferences with Protestant groups, Mr. Truman also promised that he would continue the Taylor mission or its equivalent only until peace had been achieved. Whether this meant only until a technical status of peace had been accomplished by treaties with Japan and Germany or whether it meant until world conditions had reached a stage where peace was assured involves a point that the various documents on the subject available to this correspondent from Protestant spokesmen do not clarify.

As for the furor which the nomination of General Clark occasioned, it is evident from heavy protest mail received by members of Congress from their constituents that if they can find a way to smother the issue and keep it from coming to a record vote, they will be happy to do so. As for the "personal representative" method of carrying on informal relations with the Vatican or any group or religious headquarters here or abroad, that's something any President can do without the need for congressional action of any kind.

Strategy For July

WASHINGTON

The immediate result of General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower's announcement of his availability has been to place the forces behind Sen. Robert A. Taft, who not long ago seemed about to sweep all before him, wholly on the defensive. It is already obvious, for example, that the last thing in the world the Taft camp wants is a direct trial of strength between Eisenhower and Taft.

The Taft strategy may change, of course, in response to the pressure of events. But at present the intention is to limit Taft's primary contests to only three states—Ohio, Illinois and Wisconsin. And as the Taft strategists are most thoroughly aware, it will be extremely difficult for the Eisenhower backers to challenge Taft directly in any of these states.

As for Wisconsin, the Taft strategists like to recall Eisenhower's statement that "I shall not participate in pre-convention activities." By Wisconsin law, to get his name on the ballot a Presidential aspirant must submit a signed affidavit to the effect that he is a candidate. Thus the Taft backers consider their man fairly safe from a direct Eisenhower challenge in the Wisconsin primary.

Scales Weighted For Taft

Consent of the candidate is also required in Ohio, and in any event the Eisenhower men would hardly choose to challenge Taft in his home state. No consent is required in Illinois. But primary voting is restricted to registered Republicans, and the Illinois registered Republicans who take the trouble to vote in a primary are exceedingly responsive to the wishes of Col. Robert R. McCormick, who hates Eisenhower and loves Taft. Thus the scales would be weighted heavily for Taft in a test in Illinois.

For these reasons the Taft men hope to avoid any pre-convention battle of the ballots with Eisenhower. In the Eisenhower camp, no firm counter-strategy has yet been decided upon. Much depends on what Eisenhower means by "pre-convention activities." If he means that he will not enter any contest in which he would have to re-affirm his availability, the Eisenhower men are automatically restricted to entering his name in those few states where consent of the candidate is not required.

These include New Hampshire—where Eisenhower is already entered—Minnesota (March 18), Pennsylvania (April 22), and Oregon (May 16). The more aggressive and confident of the Eisenhower backers, reportedly including Sen. James Duff, of Pennsylvania, would like to see Eisenhower's name entered in all these states.

This aggressive strategy would tend to put great pressure on Taft, in the words of one Eisenhower man, to "come out of hiding." In Pennsylvania, for example, the Grundy-Owlett faction would dearly love to see Taft nominated, but the Grundy-Owlett machine is still sitting cautiously on the fence. The horrid prospect of Eisenhower, his name on the ballot, capturing most of the delegates by default, might force the machine to plump for Eisenhower, if Taft refused to enter the race.

"Ike" Leads Stassen

The enfeebled perennial, Harold Stassen, is accounted Minnesota's "favorite son." But the business interests which formerly backed Stassen are now beginning to go over to Eisenhower, and recent polls show Eisenhower leading Stassen by a huge majority among Minnesota's Republican voters. Again, the prospect of an Eisenhower victory in Minnesota would put great pressure on Taft to come in. So would the threat of an Eisenhower clean sweep in the Oregon primaries on May 16, just before the convention.

Yet if the Taft camp steadfastly kept their man's name out of these primaries, the Eisenhower backers would still be deprived of what they want—a straight test of Republican voter sentiment between the two men. This is why the more aggressive-minded among the Eisenhower backers are strongly inclined to believe that Eisenhower should be entered in Wisconsin also.

They argue, reasonably enough, that Eisenhower has already said in effect that he would run if nominated; and that to say it again in a formal affidavit, in order to meet the Wisconsin requirement, would constitute no unseemly participation in preconvention activities. These men argue that Eisenhower would beat Taft hands-down in Wisconsin, and that such a victory in the State of Wisconsin, with its isolationist history, would settle the issue once and for all.

No decision has yet been finally made on this point—indeed, it is not certain that Eisenhower will be entered even in those states where consent of the candidate is not necessary. But one thing is clear. Taft's strength derives from the Republican professionals. The delegates to a national convention are by and large professionals, of the same stripe as the county chairmen who were polled three to one for Taft. Taft needs only 600 such men, voting for him at the convention, to win the nomination.

Yet if the polls and other soundings of popular sentiment mean anything, a large majority of the non-professional Republican voters want Eisenhower as their candidate. The professionals are always sensitive to pressure from below. And it is the job of the Eisenhower organizers to bring this pressure to bear, by every means, as heavily and constantly as possible. This is why an aggressive Eisenhower strategy is likely to prove in the end the right strategy.

These Days

Tin And Rubber

Great Britain is now very worried about Malaya, which is a very rich country, rich in tin and rubber. Its great city is Singapore.

The British believed before World War II that Singapore was impregnable. The Japanese took it with little effort. Now the British have it back and it is a rich place. And the great commodities that are sold to whoever will buy—the United States or Soviet Russia—are tin and rubber. The British would not enjoy losing all the advantages of controlling tin and rubber.

The principal customer is the United States, which pays enormously for both tin and rubber. W. Stuart Symington resigned from the headship of the RFC, it is reported, because he and the State Department quarrelled over the price of tin. The RFC was buying tin so that this country would not be without when the lanes of traffic in the Pacific are cut by war. But the British have a high price for tin, higher than is reasonable, but not higher than the United States will pay so that dollars may be accumulated in Great Britain. This price is now an indirect subsidy paid by the United States.

The Chinese Communists want that rubber and tin. They want it for themselves and they want it for Soviet Russia. Also, and this is important, if they can control Malaya, and from Malaya, Indonesia, they can prevent the United States from getting any tin and rubber from Southeast Asia. It would be very tough on the United States if this country failed to get tin and rubber.

One of the outstanding mistakes made in 1945, when the great statesmen made so many mistakes, was that they ditched Holland and gave Indonesia encouragement for freedom. And the Indonesian Republic was established in 1949, with its 75,000,000 people and its great wealth. Today, if the Dutch held those islands, they might be a base for our defenses, as the Philippines and Formosa form bases. Now it is not clear how Indonesia would stand if the Chinese Communists march on Malaya.

And one of the troubles in this whole situation is that Singapore is as much Chinese as it is Malayan. Chinese from Fukien and Kwantung provinces settled in Singapore. Many of them are very rich. Many are poor. They are puzzled as to whether they should support Chiang Kai-shek or Mao Tze-tung. But most of all, they want to trade with China.

If the British had not been so anxious to recognize Communist China, most of the Singapore Chinese would have supported Chiang Kai-shek as they had done since 1925, but they live in a British country and follow the course of their rulers. Into their ranks, the Chinese Communists infiltrated with great skill.

And now that situation turns on the British like a frightful calamity, because not only are the Chinese Communists marching on Malaya from the outside, but they are thick inside Malaya. They are crawling all over the place, killing men, setting fire to plantations, slowing up work, committing every outrage of guerrilla warfare. The Chinese are smarter than the Malays, and can teach them tricks.

This is one of the great worries of Winston Churchill and Anthony Eden and has caused conferences at the State Department and the White House. And in the President's speech and in the joint Churchill-Truman statement, Malaya becomes an item like Korea. And as has been said, if the Chinese Communists hit at Malaya, it will be a fight like Korea.

But who will fight?

Will it be another "police action" of the United Nations or will it be war involving the United States and Great Britain? The probability is that nobody will ever try a "police action" again; nobody will permit a lot of diplomats, Arabs and South Americans and such to decide what is to be done about American troops. The British will not like that, although they did like it in Korea.

There is the Malayan situation, perhaps oversimplified; yet, in essence, it is the whole of the story. There is blood on the moon in the southeast of Asia unless the battle is on the mainland of China.

General Douglas MacArthur, who fought over all the islands in Southeast Asia, understood that when he wanted to bomb Manchuria. It would have been an easier fight in Manchuria than it ever can be in the Malayan jungle.

Egyptian Heir Born Amid Strife

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 16. (AP) — Egypt celebrated with artillery salutes and popular demonstrations today the birth of a son and heir to King Farouk and his young queen, Narriman.

The 31-year-old monarch proudly instructed his government to announce to "both parts of the Nile valley, north and south, and to the rest of the world the birth of crown prince Ahmed Fouad."

He named his first son after his own father, the late King Fouad I.

The baby prince has three half-sisters, born to the King and former Queen Farida, whom Farouk divorced in November, 1948, after she failed to give him an heir. By the constitution, only a male succeeds to the throne.

This was the King's first child by the beauteous 18-year-old Narriman, daughter of an Egyptian civil servant, whom Farouk married last May 6.

The birth came as fresh violence flared in the Suez Canal Zone.

Tank - supported British troops reported they killed five Egyptians and arrested from 120 to 160 Egyptian police in anti-sniper raids on two clay hut villages, Tel-El-Kebir and El Hammada.

Russia Holding 106,000 German Prisoners Of War

BONN, Germany, Jan. 16 (AP)—The West German government knows the names of 106,000 German prisoners of war still held in Soviet Russia, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said today.

He told parliament the government had every reason to believe that the number actually held is far greater.

This was West German's answer to Russia's claim that all prisoners except the sick and those serving sentences for alleged war crimes had been returned to Germany.

Adenauer said that altogether, 1,300,000 members of the German armed forces were still listed as missing but there was no means of knowing how many were dead and how many were still captives.

Murphy To Be New Japan Ambassador

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP) — President Truman was reported tonight to have chosen Robert Daniel Murphy, ambassador to Belgium, to be ambassador to Japan after the Japanese peace treaty is ratified.

The White House has not indicated when it will send the appointment to the Senate for confirmation. Authoritative sources said this is likely to await Senate ratification of the peace treaty. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee is expected to begin hearings on the pact next week.

Dancy Receives Hero's Welcome

HOOK GREEN, England, Jan. 16 (AP) — Kenneth Dancy, who shared the perils of Capt. Kurt Carlsen's last six days aboard the freighter Flying Enterprise, was greeted as a hero in his home hamlet today.

The population of Hook Green—which has 167 residents—turned out en masse for the arrival of the 27-year-old bachelor seaman.

tractors hauled those for whom a walk was too much. A fleet of autos and trucks had been marshalled in a cleared assembly area at the highway. They moved the rescued group to Nyack Lodge, about four miles away, and to other lodges along the route.

The streamliner had been without all but the most elemental facilities since its fuel was exhausted and its water supplies frozen by the extreme cold of the 5,500-foot high Yuba Gap country.

The weather broke nicely for the stranded voyagers. After a night of blizzard, it was bright and sunny as the tired people finally got out of their dreary, tunnel-like train.

Russia Holding 106,000 German Prisoners Of War

BONN, Germany, Jan. 16 (AP)—The West German government knows the names of 106,000 German prisoners of war still held in Soviet Russia, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said today.

He told parliament the government had every reason to believe that the number actually held is far greater.

This was West German's answer to Russia's claim that all prisoners except the sick and those serving sentences for alleged war crimes had been returned to Germany.

Adenauer said that altogether, 1,300,000 members of the German armed forces were still listed as missing but there was no means of knowing how many were dead and how many were still captives.

Murphy To Be New Japan Ambassador

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP) — President Truman was reported tonight to have chosen Robert Daniel Murphy, ambassador to Belgium, to be ambassador to Japan after the Japanese peace treaty is ratified.

The White House has not indicated when it will send the appointment to the Senate for confirmation. Authoritative sources said this is likely to await Senate ratification of the peace treaty. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee is expected to begin hearings on the pact next week.

Dancy Receives Hero's Welcome

HOOK GREEN, England, Jan. 16 (AP) — Kenneth Dancy, who shared the perils of Capt. Kurt Carlsen's last six days aboard the freigher Flying Enterprise, was greeted as a hero in his home hamlet today.

The population of Hook Green—which has 167 residents—turned out en masse for the arrival of the 27-year-old bachelor seaman.

tractors hauled those for whom a walk was too much. A fleet of autos and trucks had been marshalled in a cleared assembly area at the highway. They moved the rescued group to Nyack Lodge, about four miles away, and to other lodges along the route.

The streamliner had been without all but the most elemental facilities since its fuel was exhausted and its water supplies frozen by the extreme cold of the 5,500-foot high Yuba Gap country.

The weather broke nicely for the stranded voyagers. After a night of blizzard, it was bright and sunny as the tired people finally got out of their dreary, tunnel-like train.

Mrs. Nora Fleming Heads Democratic Women's Club

The United Democratic Women's Club re-elected Mrs. Nora Fleming president at the meeting Tuesday evening at the Algonquin Hotel.

Serving with her are Mrs. Marshall Twigg, vice president; Mrs. Charles Hammersmith, secretary; Mrs. Paul Stein, treasurer; and Mrs. Mae Mont, corresponding secretary. Mrs. Hammersmith also was appointed publicity chairman.

Plans for a spring card party were discussed. The club voted a donation of $5 to the March of Dimes drive.

Concluding the evening a social hour was held with Mrs. John Small and Mrs. Jeanne Franchi serving refreshments.

Catherine Eye Girls To Collect Old Cards

The Catherine Eye Girls of Melvin Methodist Church selected collecting old Christmas cards for the February project at the meeting recently at the home of Sharon Day, Willowbrook Road. A letter from the George O. Robinson home expressing appreciation for the Christmas box was read.

Carol Newman presided. The worship theme was on "Constant in Prayer." The group sang, "In the Beautiful Garden of Prayer," and "Keep on Praying." Donna Northcraft read the Scripture and Mary Newman gave the call to worship. Prayer was offered by Betty Ferguson after which each member recited a sentence prayer marking the beginning of the new year. Benediction followed.

Concluding the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Donna Northcraft.

Carol and Doris Day were guests. Other members present were Nancy and Olive Stewart, Donna Willison, Martha Rice, Edith Streett, Mrs. Carl Smith, Barbara Diehl, Barbara Weaver, Jeanette McDonald, Marjory and Arlene Hardinger, Regina Eiler, Norma Shreve, Barbara Clark and Louise Perdew.

The next meeting will be at the church at 7 p. m., February 7 with Norma Shreve and Carol Newman hostesses.

Mrs. Virshel Jack Hampton, Williams Road, announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Margie Faye Hampton, to Pvt. John Parker Reuschel, Hinkle Road.

The bride-elect is attending Flintstone High School, where she is a junior, a member of the 4-H Club and a cheer leader.

The prospective bridegroom is a graduate of Fort Hill High School. He entered the Army October 22, 1951 and is stationed at Aberdeen.

No date has been set for the wedding.

ANN GRIECO

William E. Delaney, Jr. To Wed Ann Grieco, Feb. 23

Miss Ann Grieco, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Reynolds M. Grieco, 840 Vallimont Drive, Williamsport, Pa., is to become the bride of William E. Delaney, Jr., son of Mrs. W. Eugene Delaney, 400 Lincoln Avenue, Williamsport, and the late Dr. Delaney, February 23.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized in the Annunciation Church, Williamsport.

League Has Dinner-Dance

A banquet and dance was held by the Schwarzenbach's Bowling League recently at the Moose Club.

George Schwarzenbach was toastmaster for the evening. John Schwarzenbach was present as honor guest of the league and spoke humorously concerning the activities of the league. Talks also were given by Joseph Koegel, president of the league; and the four team captains, Russell Ponton, George Schaaf, William Jones and William Norton. Brief remarks also were made by Raymond Beard and Thurmond Cassell.

Mrs. Elizabeth Trenary was in charge of the table decorations which included a centerpiece of snap dragons. Gilded bowling pins, designed by Ralph Wigger, member of the league, decorated the side tables. The bowling pin design was repeated in the menus.

Dancing concluded the evening's entertainment.

Gives To Orphanage

The Friendly Bible Class of the Evangelical United Brethren Church voted gifts at the meeting Tuesday evening at the church. Mrs. Ira Brashers presided and routine reports were given by Mrs. Emily Nesselrodt and Mrs. C. W. Bloss.

A $10 donation was voted for an orphanage, and flowers and gifts to the sick and shut-ins.

Members attending were Mrs. Walter Bloss, Mrs. Fred Boyd, Mrs. Mary Brant, Mrs. Mattie Corrick, Mrs. Fred Goss, Mrs. G. W. Kaylor, Mrs. Estalla Middleton, Mrs. Hilda Snider, Mrs. Flora Smith, Mrs. J. W. True, Mrs. W. C. Wilson, Mrs. Virgie Yeager, and Mrs. Pearl Ganoe.

Allegany Nurses Alumnae To Have Benefit Dance Apr. 18

Allegany Hospital Alumnae Association elected two officers and two board members and planned benefit activities at the annual meeting recently at the nurses' home. Mrs. Grace Fox Moore presided.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lovett was elected first vice president; and Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, secretary. Board members are Miss Kathleen Mullan and Miss Anna Murphy. The president, second vice president, treasurer and two other board members will be elected alternating years.

Tentative plans were formulated for a bake sale, March 15. The program committee is in charge of arrangements.

A benefit dance and Easter party is to be held April 18, with the social committee in charge.

Members voted to send a sunshine box, once a year, to each shut-in. It was decided to dispense with the meeting notice cards, and the annual roll call was taken and reports made.

Miss Mary Louise Grassi gave a report on the sick and accident insurance policy offered to nurses who are members of the district organization.

Duo Club To Meet Friday

The Duo Club of First Presbyterian Church will hold installation of officers and have a program at the dinner-meeting tomorrow evening. It is to be at 7 o'clock in the lecture hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Winsheimer are to be installed as president; Mr. and Mrs. James R. Wilson, Jr., vice president; Mr. and Mrs. Peter W. Smith, treasurer; and Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Black, secretary.

Selections from Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice," will be presented by William B. Ludman.

Twiggtown Club Names Nominating Committee

The Twiggtown Homemakers Club met recently at the home of Mrs. Edith Bowman, at which time a nominating committee was named.

Mrs. J. N. Willison and Mrs. Austin Twigg, Jr., were appointed to serve on the committee.

Plans were made for a white elephant sale at the February meeting, to which each member is to bring a guest.

ANN GRIECO

William E. Delaney, Jr. To Wed Ann Grieco, Feb. 23

Miss Ann Grieco, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Reynolds M. Grieco, 840 Vallimont Drive, Williamsport, Pa., is to become the bride of William E. Delaney, Jr., son of Mrs. W. Eugene Delaney, 400 Lincoln Avenue, Williamsport, and the late Dr. Delaney, February 23.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized in the Annunciation Church, Williamsport.

League Has Dinner-Dance

A banquet and dance was held by the Schwarzenbach's Bowling League recently at the Moose Club.

George Schwarzenbach was toastmaster for the evening. John Schwarzenbach was present as honor guest of the league and spoke humorously concerning the activities of the league. Talks also were given by Joseph Koegel, president of the league; and the four team captains, Russell Ponton, George Schaaf, William Jones and William Norton. Brief remarks also were made by Raymond Beard and Thurmond Cassell.

Mrs. Elizabeth Trenary was in charge of the table decorations which included a centerpiece of snap dragons. Gilded bowling pins, designed by Ralph Wigger, member of the league, decorated the side tables. The bowling pin design was repeated in the menus.

Dancing concluded the evening's entertainment.

Gives To Orphanage

The Friendly Bible Class of the Evangelical United Brethren Church voted gifts at the meeting Tuesday evening at the church. Mrs. Ira Brashers presided and routine reports were given by Mrs. Emily Nesselrodt and Mrs. C. W. Bloss.

A $10 donation was voted for an orphanage, and flowers and gifts to the sick and shut-ins.

Members attending were Mrs. Walter Bloss, Mrs. Fred Boyd, Mrs. Mary Brant, Mrs. Mattie Corrick, Mrs. Fred Goss, Mrs. G. W. Kaylor, Mrs. Estalla Middleton, Mrs. Hilda Snider, Mrs. Flora Smith, Mrs. J. W. True, Mrs. W. C. Wilson, Mrs. Virgie Yeager, and Mrs. Pearl Ganoe.

A social hour was held with Mrs. Goss and Mrs. Boyd in charge.

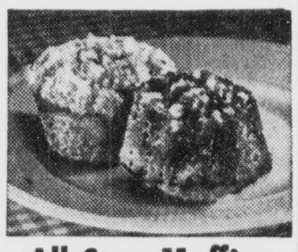
WIFE PRESERVERS

The waxed paper and cellophane wrappings on bread and other bakery foods keep them fresh longer and preserve flavors, if closed tightly after amount needed is removed.



All-Star Muffins

4 kinds from 1 easy recipe

2 tbsp. shortening
¼ cup sugar or molasses
1 egg
1 cup Kellogg's All-Bran
¾ cup milk
1 cup sifted flour
2½ tsp. baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Blend well shortening, sugar; add egg, beat well. Stir in ALL-BRAN, milk; soak until most moisture is taken up. Sift flour with baking powder, salt; add to first mixture, stir only until combined. Fill greased muffin pans ⅔ full. Bake in preheated mod. hot oven (400°F.) 30 min. Yield: 9 medium or 12 small muffins.

Spicy Bran Muffins: Mix 1 tsp. butter, ½ cup sugar, 1 tsp. cinnamon. Sprinkle over unbaked muffin batter.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Allegany Nurses Alumnae To Have Benefit Dance Apr. 18

Allegany Hospital Alumnae Association elected two officers and two board members and planned benefit activities at the annual meeting recently at the nurses' home. Mrs. Grace Fox Moore presided.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lovett was elected first vice president; and Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, secretary. Board members are Miss Kathleen Mullan and Miss Anna Murphy. The president, second vice president, treasurer and two other board members will be elected alternating years.

Tentative plans were formulated for a bake sale, March 15. The program committee is in charge of arrangements.

A benefit dance and Easter party is to be held April 18, with the social committee in charge.

Members voted to send a sunshine box, once a year, to each shut-in. It was decided to dispense with the meeting notice cards, and the annual roll call was taken and reports made.

Miss Mary Louise Grassi gave a report on the sick and accident insurance policy offered to nurses who are members of the district organization.

Duo Club To Meet Friday

The Duo Club of First Presbyterian Church will hold installation of officers and have a program at the dinner-meeting tomorrow evening. It is to be at 7 o'clock in the lecture hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Winsheimer are to be installed as president; Mr. and Mrs. James R. Wilson, Jr., vice president; Mr. and Mrs. Peter W. Smith, treasurer; and Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Black, secretary.

Selections from Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice," will be presented by William B. Ludman.

Twiggtown Club Names Nominating Committee

The Twiggtown Homemakers Club met recently at the home of Mrs. Edith Bowman, at which time a nominating committee was named.

Mrs. J. N. Willison and Mrs. Austin Twigg, Jr., were appointed to serve on the committee.

Plans were made for a white elephant sale at the February meeting, to which each member is to bring a guest.

Marriage Licenses

George Wilbert Lapp, 716 Oldtown Road, and Norma Lee Davis, 716 Yale Street.

Peskins FASHIONS — SECOND FLOOR

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK — The things one New Yorker thinks about: The most astonishing aspect of the recent holiday season to me was the presense on the platform of the Columbus Circle Station of the Eighth Avenue Subway of a lighted Christmas tree and the mysterious sound of organ music surrounding it. Absolutely the most unlikely spot in the world for a Christmas tree. . . . There are so many bouquets handed out in the theater at this time that it seems appropriate to make the Heimer awards for amateurish performances—to Gloria Swanson in "Nina," Uta Hagen in "Saint Joan" and Jackie Cooper in "Remains To Be Seen." Oh, a waspish man, I.

I would not go so far as to say that the drive against illegal gambling has been a complete success here in Manhattan, but it is a fact that last month there were only 60 arrests for making book, compared with the customary 500 a month.... New York is becoming frighteningly healthy, too, incidentally. The average New Yorker now is aged 33.8, compared with 28.8 just 20 years ago. The most serious contagious disease in the city remains tuberculosis. In spite of the miracle drugs and advanced methods of treatment, there are more consumption patients in our hospitals than ever before.

I just got a letter from a Fox Lake, Wis., reader who says sadly I wouldn't like her because she's built like an overgrown police matron an she "can tell by your writing the type of gal you like as to shape." Women are truthful with themselves, aren't they? I can't think of one fat man I know who'll admit that he's genuinely fat. . . . My personal good news for early 1952 is that Renie Riano, who plays Maggie in the "Bringing Up Father" movies, is coming east for good in the spring. Renie is the one who motorbiked 500 miles from Los Angeles to San Francisco to see her daughter one year. Nicest, most intelligent, most interesting person in the film dodge.

Friend of mine just moved to a little street off East 26th called Sniffen Court. With a name like that you'd think it would be villagy and quaint; actually it costs a good deal of loot to pay rent there. . . . Hardest street to find in Manhattan, for my soiled money, is one called Milligan Alley; you walk along Sixth Avenue in the Village and just before you get to Tenth Street you duck through a wooden gate into a tiny square called Milligan Alley. The houses front on Patchin Place, and between the two streets, quaintness runs rampant.

A. M. Perlman, known in the rayon converting profession as the "Prince of Prints"—one out of every 10 women in America wears a Perlman print—has another interesting title. He is president of the Minkowitz Society, which consists of nearly every person in the United States who was born in the Russian town of Minkowitz. The only one stipulation in the society's charter — that no ex-Minkowitzer be permitted to go in want. . . . Miss Dorothy McGuire, the screen performer, just laid an egg here in "Legend of Lovers," strengthening my argument that she is not yet a great actress—if she ever will be—and confusing those enthusiastic souls who already have said she is.

I see Pat Allen may produce a musical in the near future. Pat is one of New York's most interesting women; she heads a model agency that specializes in furnishing men, making her a kind of female Harry Conover. Models are notoriously empty-headed but Pat is about as opposite from that as can be.

Miss June Allyson, who is around town in a Van Johnson movie, still has a number of annoying mannerisms, like wrinkling her nose coyly, but she has come a long way as an actress from her days in the Copacabana chorus line here. . . . "An American in Paris" is the best musical I ever saw, stage or movie, but two stage shows are right behind: "Pal Joey" and "Guys and Dolls."

Miss Anna Neagle is in town briefly; she is the nicest British performer I ever met. A real doll. . . . Miss Judy Garland is still doing two-a-day at the Palace here. I must go see her? What's the matter with me, I don't like her? Should I be psyched?

Every successful homemaker must have twelve important requisites. Here they are!

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

My business brings me in contact with a lot of women in these United States. Frequently, as a conversational starter, I ask a new acquaintance how she spends her time. You would be surprised how many answer with, "Oh, I'm just a housewife." This oft-encountered apologetic reply brings to mind this toast: "Here's to the women — without whom life would be impossible!"

Woman's Responsibilities

Do you women who have the responsibility of making life possible and living pleasant actually think of yourselves in so belittling a fashion that you feel it necessary to add the "just a" before the word "housewife?" Secretely, I'm fairly sure that you know you are "just" about the most important job holder in today's society. It is unbecoming of you to pretend a self-effacement that you do not and definitely should not feel.

It is true that economic changes within the world have forced almost half the women in this country to take jobs outside the home (48% according to the Women's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor). And there are more employed women who are married than single.

But that just places an added burden on those of you who do not go into the marts of trade to make your livelihood. Those of you who remain at home are chiefly responsible for the community, church and cultural activities of your locale.

What It Takes

You know that being a successful wife, housewife, mother, custodian of a home, and responsible member of the community requires judgment, patience, self-reliance, self-control, ingenuity, generosity, technical knowledge of myriad subjects, skill, assimilated experience, courtesy, understanding and inordinate tact. And as much of each of those characteristics as you can command. Is there any other occupation that demands more for success? Is there any other vocation in which a person is called upon to make more decisions, carry on more different kinds of cooperations in any day?

Not if you are the kind of homemaker whose family flourishes under your tutelage and direction, who supplies the spiritual values that enrich a home, whose husband and children are happy and well-cared for!

If that is the case, the next time you are asked how you spend your time say, "I'm a housewife"—with the pride commensurate with your accomplishment!

Oh, a waspish man, I.

I would not go so far as to say that the drive against illegal gambling has been a complete success here in Manhattan, but it is a fact that last month there were only 60 arrests for making book, compared with the customary 500 a month.... New York is becoming frighteningly healthy, too, incidentally. The average New Yorker now is aged 33.8, compared with 28.8 just 20 years ago. The most serious contagious disease in the city remains tuberculosis. In spite of the miracle drugs and advanced methods of treatment, there are more consumption patients in our hospitals than ever before.

I just got a letter from a Fox Lake, Wis., reader who says sadly I wouldn't like her because she's built like an overgrown police matron an she "can tell by your writing the type of gal you like as to shape." Women are truthful with themselves, aren't they? I can't think of one fat man I know who'll admit that he's genuinely fat. . . . My personal good news for early 1952 is that Renie Riano, who plays Maggie in the "Bringing Up Father" movies, is coming east for good in the spring. Renie is the one who motorbiked 500 miles from Los Angeles to San Francisco to see her daughter one year. Nicest, most intelligent, most interesting person in the film dodge.

Friend of mine just moved to a little street off East 26th called Sniffen Court. With a name like that you'd think it would be villagy and quaint; actually it costs a good deal of loot to pay rent there. . . . Hardest street to find in Manhattan, for my soiled money, is one called Milligan Alley; you walk along Sixth Avenue in the Village and just before you get to Tenth Street you duck through a wooden gate into a tiny square called Milligan Alley. The houses front on Patchin Place, and between the two streets, quaintness runs rampant.

A. M. Perlman, known in the rayon converting profession as the "Prince of Prints"—one out of every 10 women in America wears a Perlman print—has another interesting title. He is president of the Minkowitz Society, which consists of nearly every person in the United States who was born in the Russian town of Minkowitz. Th e is only one stipulation in the society's charter — that no ex-Minkowitzer be permitted to go in want. . . . Miss Dorothy McGuire, the screen performer, just laid an egg here in "Legend of Lovers," strengthening my argument that she is not yet a great actress—if she ever will be—and confusing those enthusiastic souls who already have said she is.

I see Pat Allen may produce a musical in the near future. Pat is one of New York's most interesting women; she heads a model agency that specializes in furnishing men, making her a kind of female Harry Conover. Models are notoriously empty-headed but Pat is about as opposite from that as can be.

Miss June Allyson, who is around town in a Van Johnson movie, still has a number of annoying mannerisms, like wrinkling her nose coyly, but she has come a long way as an actress from her days in the Copacabana chorus line here. . . . "An American in Paris" is the best musical I ever saw, stage or movie, but two stage shows are right behind: "Pal Joey" and "Guys and Dolls."

Miss Anna Neagle is in town briefly; she is the nicest British performer I ever met. A real doll. . . . Miss Judy Garland is still doing two-a-day at the Palace here. I must go see her? What's the matter with me, I don't like her? Should I be psyched?

Every successful homemaker must have twelve important requisites. Here they are!

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

My business brings me in contact with a lot of women in these United States. Frequently, as a conversational starter, I ask a new acquaintance how she spends her time. You would be surprised how many answer with, "Oh, I'm just a housewife." This oft-encountered apologetic reply brings to mind this toast: "Here's to the women — without whom life would be impossible!"

Woman's Responsibilities

Do you women who have the responsibility of making life possible and living pleasant actually think of yourselves in so belittling a fashion that you feel it necessary to add the "just a" before the word "housewife?" Secretely, I'm fairly sure that you know you are "just" about the most important job holder in today's society. It is unbecoming of you to pretend a self-effacement that you do not and definitely should not feel.

It is true that economic changes within the world have forced almost half the women in this country to take jobs outside the home (48% according to the Women's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor). And there are more employed women who are married than single.

But that just places an added burden on those of you who do not go into the marts of trade to make your livelihood. Those of you who remain at home are chiefly responsible for the community, church and cultural activities of your locale.

What It Takes

You know that being a successful wife, housewife, mother, custodian of a home, and responsible member of the community requires judgment, patience, self-reliance, self-control, ingenuity, generosity, technical knowledge of myriad subjects, skill, assimilated experience, courtesy, understanding and inordinate tact. And as much of each of those characteristics as you can command. Is there any other occupation that demands more for success? Is there any other vocation in which a person is called upon to make more decisions, carry on more different kinds of cooperations in any day?

Not if you are the kind of homemaker whose family flourishes under your tutelage and direction, who supplies the spiritual values that enrich a home, whose husband and children are happy and well-cared for!

If that is the case, the next time you are asked how you spend your time say, "I'm a housewife"—with the pride commensurate with your accomplishment!

P. S. from J. R. P.
YOUR STEPS TO A SUCCESSFUL CAREER

Keyser Officials Discouraged On Street Change

Alternate Plan Considered Unlikely

KEYSER, W. Va.—Mayor Chester J. Compton and City Attorney James H. Swadley, Jr., have received little encouragement from State Road Commissioner Ray Cavendish in their effort to get a change in the commission's plans for improvement of U. S. Route 220 through Keyser.

Through Cavendish, the commission announced that South Mineral Street, which is part of Route 220 through Keyser, will be 40 feet wide from Piedmont Street to Lincoln Street, except for a section from Fort Avenue to State Street, which will have a 32-foot width.

Compton and Swadley went to Charleston to explain to Cavendish an alternate plan which would provide a 32-foot width throughout. The commission said the announced plan will stand.

Cavendish promised to present the mayor's proposal to the Federal Bureau of Public Works, but expressed doubts that a change would result. Compton was informed that the Mineral Street plan was adopted several years ago jointly by state and federal agencies in conjunction with the construction of a new bridge across the Potomac River. A change on the part of the State Road Commission now might prompt the Federal group to refuse to share in the cost, leaving all payments to the state.

The Keyser mayor has suggested that the announced plan is inconsistent as only one parking lane would be provided on part of the street and two lanes for parking on the rest.

In question is the state-owned campus of Potomac State School, where a stone wall borders the street for 600 feet.

Cavendish told the Keyser officials that the new Route 220 will leave Mineral Street near Lincoln, veering eastward until it reaches the present route of South Davis Street. It then will cut through a portion of Newcome Field and part of the property owned by the Mineral County Board of Education, joining the present route on New Creek Drive near Warren Boggs' home.

POETRY CONTESTANTS—James R. Hays (seated, right) of Newton, W. Va., is judged winner of this year's poetry reading contest at Potomac State School, Keyser, W. Va. Hays chose as his theme "The North Country" and read poems by Robert Service. Seated with him is Dr. Elizabeth A. Atwater, instructor in speech and donor of the contest award, a set of personalized bookplates. Standing are Russell Yokum, Keyser; Patricia Armstrong, Parkersburg, W. Va., and Helen Yoder, Cumberland.

Hays Wins Potomac State Poetry Reading Contest

KEYSER, W. Va. — James R. Hays, sophomore, from Newton, W. Va., won the 1952 Poetry Reading contest, conducted annually in the Speech 3 classes of Potomac State School. Finals were held January 10 in the Play Shop.

"The Spirit of the North Country" was the theme chosen by Hays and included, "The Ballad of Yukon Jack" by Edward Paramore, Jr., and "The Ballad of Blasphemous Bill McKei" by Robert W. Service.

Members of each Speech 3 Class voted to select their choices of the leading readers in their respective sections. The two top readers of each class competed in the finals.

The other student from Hays' section named was Miss Helen Yoder, a freshman from Cumberland. Her theme, "'Men" included the following poems: "Love Song," "Godspeed" and "Indian Summer" all by Dorothy Parker; and "'That's the Way It Goes" by Helen Price.

Miss Patricia Armstrong, a freshman from Parkersburg and Russell W. Yokum, here were the representatives for the other speech class.

Dr. Elizabeth Atwater, course instructor presented Hays a letter telling him of his award, a set of personalized book plates. Miss Addie McLaughlin, a sophomore, was last year's winner.

Judges for the contest included Mrs. Gwendolyn Gillham, instructor in French and director of Players Club; Miss Sue Webster, counselor of girls, and Arthur W. Pennington, instructor in mathematics.

Miss Pritts, J. Davisson Are Married

WESTERNPORT — Miss Norma Lee Pritts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pritts, Westernport, and Joseph Carl Davisson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Davisson, Piedmont, were married Saturday, January 5.

The double-ring ceremony was performed at Piedmont Trinity Methodist Church Parsonage, Westernport, with Rev. O. Clarence Mitchell, pastor, officiating.

Miss Anna Kerling, Westernport, was the bride's maid of honor and the bridegroom's best man was Richard Appel, USN.

The bride chose a royal blue dress, trimmed in black velvet and rhinestones. The costume was completed with white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Davisson is a graduate of Bruce High School, Westernport, Class of 1951. She was formerly employed in Washington and is now employed at the G. C. Murphy Company Store in Keyser, W. Va. Mr. Davisson, also a graduate of Bruce High School, Westernport, was employed at the B. and O. Shops, Keyser, W. Va., prior to entering the Navy. He has returned to Bainbridge.

Mineral County Court Cases Set

KEYSER, W. Va. — Mineral County Circuit Court yesterday set the dates for cases to be heard at the January term.

The first case to be heard, on Monday, January 28, will be that of Francis M. Hamilton, Cumberland, charged with soliciting business for a Philadelphia law firm. He was granted a new trial after being convicted at the last term of court when it was discovered that a juror had discussed the case with persons outside the court room.

Two persons will be tried Wednesday, January 30. They are Vincent Friend, who pleaded not guilty to a charge of passing a check for $650 without funds in the National Bank of Terra Alta, made payable to the Keyser Auto Mart, and Linwood "Buck" Brown, who pleaded not guilty to a charge of theft of a pistol valued at $50 from John Washington.

Brown also will be tried on a misdemeanor charge resulting from the case, that of unlawfully carrying a pistol without a license, and on an appeal from a conviction of drunkeness.

Harold Edward Bosley, who pleaded not guilty to a charge of shooting Otis Franklin Eversole in a store at Limestone where Eversole was employed, will be tried Thursday, January 31.

Miss Hoffman Is Bride Of R. Coleman

KEYSER, W. Va.—Mr. and Mrs. Russell J. Hoffman, Route 1, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Clara Mae Hoffman to Richard Coleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coleman, Route 3, Saturday, December 29, at Pentecostal Assembly of God Church, West Piedmont Street, with Rev. Herman Fry, pastor, officiating.

Mrs. Kathryn Coleman, Baltimore, sang, accompanied by Mrs. Lois Fry, who also played the traditional wedding processional and recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly lace over satin, fashioned with fitted bodice buttoned from the mandarin neckline to the waist, long sleeves with points over her wrists and a full floor-length skirt of illusion net. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion was held by a tight-fitting headpiece edged with orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses with white satin streamers.

Mrs. Irwin Sharpless, Sharpsville, Pa., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. James Coleman, Baltimore, brother of the bridegroom, best man. Pfc. Harry Hoffman, brother of the bride, and Irwin Sharpless were ushers.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the home of the bride. The table was decorated with candles and a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Mrs. Coleman is a graduate of Keyser High School and is employed at the Davis Mill. Mr. Coleman attended Bruce High School, Westernport, and is employed at the Keyser Cement Products. The couple will reside at 81 Orchard Street.

Mineral County Court Cases Set

KEYSER, W. Va. — Mineral County Circuit Court yesterday set the dates for cases to be heard at the January term.

The first case to be heard, on Monday, January 28, will be that of Francis M. Hamilton, Cumberland, charged with soliciting business for a Philadelphia law firm. He was granted a new trial after being convicted at the last term of court when it was discovered that a juror had discussed the case with persons outside the court room.

Two persons will be tried Wednesday, January 30. They are Vincent Friend, who pleaded not guilty to a charge of passing a check for $650 without funds in the National Bank of Terra Alta, made payable to the Keyser Auto Mart, and Linwood "Buck" Brown, who pleaded not guilty to a charge of theft of a pistol valued at $50 from John Washington.

Brown also will be tried on a misdemeanor charge resulting from the case, that of unlawfully carrying a pistol without a license, and on an appeal from a conviction of drunkeness.

Harold Edward Bosley, who pleaded not guilty to a charge of shooting Otis Franklin Eversole in a store at Limestone where Eversole was employed, will be tried Thursday, January 31.

Miss Pritts, J. Davisson Are Married

WESTERNPORT — Miss Norma Lee Pritts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pritts, Westernport, and Joseph Carl Davisson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Davisson, Piedmont, were married Saturday, January 5.

The double-ring ceremony was performed at Piedmont Trinity Methodist Church Parsonage, Westernport, with Rev. O. Clarence Mitchell, pastor, officiating.

Miss Anna Kerling, Westernport, was the bride's maid of honor and the bridegroom's best man was Richard Appel, USN.

The bride chose a royal blue dress, trimmed in black velvet and rhinestones. The costume was completed with white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Davisson is a graduate of Bruce High School, Westernport, Class of 1951. She was formerly employed in Washington and is now employed at the G. C. Murphy Company Store in Keyser, W. Va. Mr. Davisson, also a graduate of Bruce High School, Westernport, was employed at the B. and O. Shops, Keyser, W. Va., prior to entering the Navy. He has returned to Bainbridge.

Keyser Officials Discouraged On Street Change

KEYSER, W. Va.—Mayor Chester J. Compton and City Attorney James H. Swadley, Jr., have received little encouragement from State Road Commissioner Ray Cavendish in their effort to get a change in the commission's plans for improvement of U. S. Route 220 through Keyser.

Through Cavendish, the commission announced that South Mineral Street, which is part of Route 220 through Keyser, will be 40 feet wide from Piedmont Street to Lincoln Street, except for a section from Fort Avenue to State Street, which will have a 32-foot width.

Compton and Swadley went to Charleston to explain to Cavendish an alternate plan which would provide a 32-foot width throughout. The commission said the announced plan will stand.

Cavendish promised to present the mayor's proposal to the Federal Bureau of Public Works, but expressed doubts that a change would result. Compton was informed that the Mineral Street plan was adopted several years ago jointly by state and federal agencies in conjunction with the construction of a new bridge across the Potomac River. A change on the part of the State Road Commission now might prompt the Federal group to refuse to share in the cost, leaving all payments to the state.

The Keyser mayor has suggested that the announced plan is inconsistent as only one parking lane would be provided on part of the street and two lanes for parking on the rest.

In question is the state-owned campus of Potomac State School, where a stone wall borders the street for 600 feet.

Cavendish told the Keyser officials that the new Route 220 will leave Mineral Street near Lincoln, veering eastward until it reaches the present route of South Davis Street. It then will cut through a portion of Newcome Field and part of the property owned by the Mineral County Board of Education, joining the present route on New Creek Drive near Warren Boggs' home.

POETRY CONTESTANTS—James R. Hays (seated, right) of Newton, W. Va., is judged winner of this year's poetry reading contest at Potomac State School, Keyser, W. Va. Hays chose as his theme "The North Country" and read poems by Robert Service. Seated with him is Dr. Elizabeth A. Atwater, instructor in speech and donor of the contest award, a set of personalized bookplates. Standing are Russell Yokum, Keyser; Patricia Armstrong, Parkersburg, W. Va., and Helen Yoder, Cumberland.

Hays Wins Potomac State Poetry Reading Contest

KEYSER, W. Va. — James R. Hays, sophomore, from Newton, W. Va., won the 1952 Poetry Reading contest, conducted annually in the Speech 3 classes of Potomac State School. Finals were held January 10 in the Play Shop.

"The Spirit of the North Country" was the theme chosen by Hays and included, "The Ballad of Yukon Jack" by Edward Paramore, Jr., and "The Ballad of Blasphemous Bill McKei" by Robert W. Service.

Members of each Speech 3 Class voted to select their choices of the leading readers in their respective sections. The two top readers of each class competed in the finals.

The other student from Hays' section named was Miss Helen Yoder, a freshman from Cumberland. Her theme, "'Men" included the following poems: "Love Song," "Godspeed" and "Indian Summer" all by Dorothy Parker; and "'That's the Way It Goes" by Helen Price.

Miss Patricia Armstrong, a freshman from Parkersburg and Russell W. Yokum, here were the representatives for the other speech class.

Dr. Elizabeth Atwater, course instructor presented Hays a letter telling him of his award, a set of personalized book plates. Miss Addie McLaughlin, a sophomore, was last year's winner.

Judges for the contest included Mrs. Gwendolyn Gillham, instructor in French and director of Players Club; Miss Sue Webster, counselor of girls, and Arthur W. Pennington, instructor in mathematics.

March Of Dimes Campaign Gets Underway Here

Members of the Exchange Club were distributing coin containers in uptown Cumberland today for the March of Dimes drive in behalf of polio victims. The South End Republican Club completed distribution of 85 coin containers in the area south of Williams Street yesterday.

More than 400 coin receptacles have been placed in Allegany County outside Cumberland under the supervision of the chairmen for various towns and areas.

Two girls stationed at the Baltimore and Ohio railroad shops yesterday collected $89 for the war against polio.

The annual March of Dimes drive in Allegany County, headed this year by Winfield Adam, secretary of Central Y. M. C. A., will be concluded with a benefit dance sponsored by Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B. P. O. Elks, Saturday night, February 2.

Headquarters for the drive is at the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, City Hall Square.

Dr. George Eaton, Baltimore, will conduct two orthopedic clinics this week in Western Maryland—one at Oakland tomorrow and the other in Cumberland Friday. Mrs. H. Opie Annan, executive secretary of the League, has made engagements for 125 crippled children to attend the clinic here which is scheduled to run straight through from 8:30 a. m. to 2 p m.

The 1952 March of Dimes campaign being conducted here and in 16,000 communities throughout the country is aimed at equipping the nation to cope with polio on a national basis—the only way, experience has shown, that this strange epidemic disease can be fought with any degree of success.

The fact that no community—no matter how large or small—can meet a full-scale attack of infantile paralysis, is demonstrated by the experience of the first ten months of 1951 when headquarters of the National Foundation sent almost $7,000,000 in March of Dimes funds to some 900 county chapters whose own funds had been depleted by epidemic demands.

Radio Network Plans Set In County Civil Defense

Amateur radio operators will begin to set up an Allegany County network today as part of the formation of the Communications Sections of the Civil Defense program here.

J. Vincent Gafney, section chairman, said groundwork for the network was laid at a meeting of approximately 35 "hams" and radio technicians last week in the Red Cross rooms of the Post Office Building.

The county network will eventually tie in with the Maryland and national networks.

Gafney, who with William G. Barger, county director, presided at last week's meeting, said discussions included what equipment will be needed and added a "number of constructive ideas" were presented.

Gafney said two of the radio men, Paul E. Custer, Box 74, Cresaptown, and Walter S. Gatrell, Route 2, Creek Road, were named a committee to work with and map out a program for the "hams" or amateur operators.

The system will be designed to operate independently of normal communication outlets.

Robert C. Graham, 721 Bedford Street; Francis R. Himmelwright, 317 Avirett Avenue; George S. Snyder, 120 Mullin Street; Fred W. Jenkins, 117 Wilmont Avenue; William L. Carpenter, 6 East First Street; Ralph D. Bosilio, 413 Columbia Street; Mark A. Schriver, 100 Auburn Avenue; William C. Knepper, Route 5, Box 216, Cumberland; and A. J. Scarletta, Route 3, Keyser, W. Va.

Coaches Urged To Respect Grid Code Of Ethics

NCAA Acts To Cut Down Rough Play

BY GEORGE BOWEN

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Jan. 16 (AP)—Coaches and officials have contributed to "undesirable trends" in the game of football, the NCAA rules committee declared today. It called upon them to teach and enforce the spirit as well as letter of the regulations.

The committee adopted at the end of a three-day meeting a resolution stating "undesirable trends have developed in our game, affecting sportsmanship and the spirit of fair play, excessively rough play, a tendency to beat the ball and a lack of respect for the football code" of ethics.

"It is the opinion of the members of the committee that the football coaches and football officials have contributed to this undesirable trend, the coaches by their failure always to observe the spirit of the rules, and the officials by their failure to enforce the football rules rigidly.

"The football rules committee calls upon the coaches and officials to devote their attention more conscientiously and more diligently to the best interests of the game of football and the young men who play, by teaching and enforcing the spirit as well as the letter of the rules."

Roughness Stressed

Amos Alonzo Stagg, a coach for 60 years and a rulemaker since 1904, sponsored the resolution.

He said increased roughness was the main concern of the committee this year.

"The committee always is trying to improve the rules to safeguard the players," Stagg said. "We don't want any coaching techniques that will cause any injury. All of the coaches don't live up to the fair play rules.

"Like good Americans, players and coaches have the winning spirit, which is a fine thing, you know, up to a certain point. But with all the pressure to win, some coaches, if they can, will cut the rules a little bit."

The committee strengthened the rules on roughness and legal shifts to meet some attempts to "beat" them. The resolution emphasized these intentions.

Penalty Is Increased

To combat an "inclination not to observe" the requirement for a one-second delay by a team after coming out of a huddle, the committee raised the penalty for violation from 5 to 15 yards. Members reported "some teams were shading" the one-second rule and getting an unfair jump on the defense.

Attempting to cut down rough play, the committee took these steps:

1. Added use of elbows, forearms and locked hands to fists and knees subject to mandatory ejection from game.

2. Defined clipping as a block from the rear on any part of the back instead of just from the waist down.

3. Increased the penalty for defensive holding from 5 to 15 yards.

4. To protect passer, allowed him to use his hands to ward off opponents as long as the ball is in flight.

To Charge Time Out

Only one change was made in the substitution rules, foundation of the platoon system. This will charge a team with a time out for sending in a substitute such as a punter while the clock is running. Each team is allowed five time outs per half and heretofore the only penalty for delaying the game was five yards.

Acting to penalize an unsportsmanlike trick, the committee provided a 15-yard penalty for any player faking a fair catch signal. It also limited a fair catch receiver to two steps after getting the ball or be penalized five yards.

PCL To Shun Majors

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16. (AP)—The Pacific Coast League, taking another step toward independence, decided today to sever all major league connections in 1953.

In their first meeting since the PCL obtained its new "open" classification, league directors voted that no club shall enter into a working agreement with a major team or accept any player on option from a big league club in 1953.

Millner Named Eagles' Coach

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 16 (AP) — Assistant coach Wayne Millner was named head coach today by the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

Veteran players Frank Reagan and Vic Lindskog were named today as assistants to Millner. Jim Trimble was retained as an assistant coach.

Furillo Is 7th Dodger To Sign

BROOKLYN, Jan. 16. (AP)—Carl Furillo, rifle-armed Brooklyn outfielder, has signed his 1952 contract, the Dodgers announced today. Furillo received a slight raise, the club said, and is the seventh Dodger in the fold.

Last year the Reading, Pa., star received about $20,000. His new pact probably calls for about $22,000.

The 29-year old righthander appeared in all 158 of Brooklyn's games last year and hit .295. He had 24 assists, the highest total for an outfielder in the league since 1945 when Carden Gillenwater of Boston also had 24.

Little League Players Feted At Frostburg

16 Yankees Get Cups, Pony League Planned

FROSTBURG, Jan. 16—Frostburg honored its Little League players at a dinner tonight at Salem Evangelical Reformed Church.

John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, coach of Fort Hill High School's baseball and basketball teams, was the principal speaker and his subject was "Sportsmanship." Approximately 250 persons attended the dinner which was served by the ladies of Salem church.

The Rev. John Bayley Jones, pastor of First Methodist Church, acted as toastmaster, and among those he introduced were managers of the teams and their assistants, namely, George Hawkins, Tony Zumpano and Bill Seibert, of the Giants; Mike Diehl, Bob Diehl and Walter Minnick, of the Red Sox; Dave Powell, Joe Bolt and Bill Biggs, of the Pirates, and Roger Day and Nick Harris of the Yankees.

Others introduced and responded with remarks included:

Bond Presents Awards

Arthur "Tad" Bond, commissioner of the league, also stressed sportsmanship, and had the honor of presenting the awards.

Sixteen members of the Yankees' championship team received gold loving cups suitably engraved and the 75 boys who participated in the league received gold lapel buttons.

Messrs. Schindler and Morgan of Hagerstown's state championship team were present as was Ronnie LaRue, player, who was stricken with rheumatic fever last spring.

A walnut plaque containing the names of all league players, the work of Bill Seibert, was exhibited and drew praiseworthy comment.

Officers of the Little League Ladies Auxiliary who were introduced were: Mrs. David Powell, president; Mrs. William Seibert, vice president; Mrs. Raymond Skidmore, secretary, and Mrs. Walter Hunter, treasurer.

The toastmaster announced that the following had contributed to the league: Frostburg Fire Department, B. P. O. Elks, F. O. Eagles, Rotary Club, Mayor and Council, Lions Club, Knights of Columbus, Republican Club and Loyal Order of Moose.

Plan Pony League

President Lemmert announced that a Pony League will be formed for boys 12 to 15 and plans will be discussed at a meeting set for January 28 at 8 p.m. in Fireman's Hall.

Invocation was given by Father Regis Larkin of St. Michael's Church and the benediction by Rev. George Wehler of Salem Church.

Rawlings Stops Bolanos In 5th

CHICAGO, Jan. 16. (AP)—Luther Rawlings, Chicago, tonight vaulted into a title match with Jimmy Carter, lightweight champion, by scoring a fifth round technical knockout over Enrique Bolanos, Los Angeles trial horse in the Chicago Stadium.

Rawlings, rated the No. 1 contender in the 135 pound division, probably will meet Carter in the Stadium Feb. 20 or later.

The gangling Rawlings, tallest in the lightweight division at six feet, draped the fading Bolanos over the middle rope of the ring before the one-sided bout was ended by Referee Johnny Behr after two minutes and eleven seconds of the fifth.

Dapper Dans Elect Vincent Morrissey President For 1952

Vincent T. (Willard) Morrissey was elected president of the Cumberland Chapter of the Dapper Dan Club at a meeting held last night at the Knights of Columbus Home.

Morrissey succeeds Paul J. Gallen, retiring president, who becomes chairman of the executive board.

The executive board elected at last night's session comprises Christ Charuhas, Alex Schute, Peter J. Carpenti, Reatus L. Spiker, William V. Keegan, Ira Boyer, David Kauffman and William "Boots" Miller.

Garver Signs At Fat Salary

May Be Highest Paid In History Of Club

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 16. (AP)—Pitcher Ned Garver, a 20-game winner with the last-place St. Louis Browns in 1951, today signed a contract after a one-minute talk with owner Bill Veeck.

The contract, subject to approval by the government's wage stabilization board, is believed to provide for a salary of more than $25,000. This probably will make Garver the highest-paid player in the club's history. He made about $18,000 last year.

Veeck said his conference with Garver probably set some kind of speed record. The Brown's president recalled that, as owner of the Cleveland Indians, he once signed pitcher Bob Feller after a talk lasting two and one-half minutes.

Garver was the fifth player to agree to terms since the club mailed out contracts last week-end.

Pitcher Cliff Fannin agreed to terms today. Catcher Matt Batts and second baseman Mike Goliat notified the club yesterday that they are satisfied with their contract offers.

Boosters Honor Fort Hill Grid Champs Tonight

300 To Attend Banquet At Shrine Country Club

Coach William P. Hahn and members of Fort Hill High School's city championship football team will be honored by the Fort Hill Boosters' Club at the annual awards banquet sponsored by the latter organization today at 6:30 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Fort Hill retained the city title by defeating Allegany for the third successive year on Thanksgiving Day.

The James H. Hipsley Football Award will be presented as will the Cumberland Times-News trophy. The Hipsley award goes to the outstanding player on the team, and is determined by a vote of the lettermen on the squad. Eddie Landis captured the award in 1951. Fort Hill won the first leg on the new Times-News trophy this year after retiring one last year. The trophy must be won twice for keeps.

Small trophies will be presented to each of the 43 members of the squad and to the five cheerleaders.

H. Clifford Spiker, head of the Boosters' Club, last night announced that all of the 316 tickets for the banquet, have been sold.

Dr. Ralph Roth, Fort Hill graduate of 1938, will be the master of ceremonies.

Furillo Is 7th Dodger To Sign

BROOKLYN, Jan. 16. (AP)—Carl Furillo, rifle-armed Brooklyn outfielder, has signed his 1952 contract, the Dodgers announced today. Furillo received a slight raise, the club said, and is the seventh Dodger in the fold.

Last year the Reading, Pa., star received about $20,000. His new pact probably calls for about $22,000.

The 29-year old righthander appeared in all 158 of Brooklyn's games last year and hit .295. He had 24 assists, the highest total for an outfielder in the league since 1945 when Carden Gillenwater of Boston also had 24.

Little League Players Feted At Frostburg

16 Yankees Get Cups, Pony League Planned

FROSTBURG, Jan. 16—Frostburg honored its Little League players at a dinner tonight at Salem Evangelical Reformed Church.

John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, coach of Fort Hill High School's baseball and basketball teams, was the principal speaker and his subject was "Sportsmanship." Approximately 250 persons attended the dinner which was served by the ladies of Salem church.

The Rev. John Bayley Jones, pastor of First Methodist Church, acted as toastmaster, and among those he introduced were managers of the teams and their assistants, namely, George Hawkins, Tony Zumpano and Bill Seibert, of the Giants; Mike Diehl, Bob Diehl and Walter Minnick, of the Red Sox; Dave Powell, Joe Bolt and Bill Biggs, of the Pirates, and Roger Day and Nick Harris of the Yankees.

Others introduced and responded with remarks included:

Bond Presents Awards

Arthur "Tad" Bond, commissioner of the league, also stressed sportsmanship, and had the honor of presenting the awards.

Sixteen members of the Yankees' championship team received gold loving cups suitably engraved and the 75 boys who participated in the league received gold lapel buttons.

Messrs. Schindler and Morgan of Hagerstown's state championship team were present as was Ronnie LaRue, player, who was stricken with rheumatic fever last spring.

A walnut plaque containing the names of all league players, the work of Bill Seibert, was exhibited and drew praiseworthy comment.

Officers of the Little League Ladies Auxiliary who were introduced were: Mrs. David Powell, president; Mrs. William Seibert, vice president; Mrs. Raymond Skidmore, secretary, and Mrs. Walter Hunter, treasurer.

The toastmaster announced that the following had contributed to the league: Frostburg Fire Department, B. P. O. Elks, F. O. Eagles, Rotary Club, Mayor and Council, Lions Club, Knights of Columbus, Republican Club and Loyal Order of Moose.

Plan Pony League

President Lemmert announced that a Pony League will be formed for boys 12 to 15 and plans will be discussed at a meeting set for January 28 at 8 p.m. in Fireman's Hall.

Invocation was given by Father Regis Larkin of St. Michael's Church and the benediction by Rev. George Wehler of Salem Church.

Rawlings Stops Bolanos In 5th

CHICAGO, Jan. 16. (AP)—Luther Rawlings, Chicago, tonight vaulted into a title match with Jimmy Carter, lightweight champion, by scoring a fifth round technical knockout over Enrique Bolanos, Los Angeles trial horse in the Chicago Stadium.

Rawlings, rated the No. 1 contender in the 135 pound division, probably will meet Carter in the Stadium Feb. 20 or later.

The gangling Rawlings, tallest in the lightweight division at six feet, draped the fading Bolanos over the middle rope of the ring before the one-sided bout was ended by Referee Johnny Behr after two minutes and eleven seconds of the fifth.

Dapper Dans Elect Vincent Morrissey President For 1952

Vincent T. (Willard) Morrissey was elected president of the Cumberland Chapter of the Dapper Dan Club at a meeting held last night at the Knights of Columbus Home.

Morrissey succeeds Paul J. Gallen, retiring president, who becomes chairman of the executive board.

Joseph K. Mooney was elected vice president and Harold Rosenmerkel was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The executive board elected at last night's session comprises Christ Charuhas, Alex Schute, Peter J. Carpenti, Reatus L. Spiker, William V. Keegan, Ira Boyer, David Kauffman and William "Boots" Miller.

Garver Signs At Fat Salary

May Be Highest Paid In History Of Club

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 16. (AP)—Pitcher Ned Garver, a 20-game winner with the last-place St. Louis Browns in 1951, today signed a contract after a one-minute talk with owner Bill Veeck.

The contract, subject to approval by the government's wage stabilization board, is believed to provide for a salary of more than $25,000. This probably will make Garver the highest-paid player in the club's history. He made about $18,000 last year.

Veeck said his conference with Garver probably set some kind of speed record. The Brown's president recalled that, as owner of the Cleveland Indians, he once signed pitcher Bob Feller after a talk lasting two and one-half minutes.

Garver was the fifth player to agree to terms since the club mailed out contracts last week-end.

Pitcher Cliff Fannin agreed to terms today. Catcher Matt Batts and second baseman Mike Goliat notified the club yesterday that they are satisfied with their contract offers.

300 To Attend Banquet At Shrine Country Club

Coach William P. Hahn and members of Fort Hill High School's city championship football team will be honored by the Fort Hill Boosters' Club at the annual awards banquet sponsored by the latter organization today at 6:30 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Fort Hill retained the city title by defeating Allegany for the third successive year on Thanksgiving Day.

The James H. Hipsley Football Award will be presented as will the Cumberland Times-News trophy. The Hipsley award goes to the outstanding player on the team, and is determined by a vote of the lettermen on the squad. Eddie Landis captured the award in 1951. Fort Hill won the first leg on the new Times-News trophy this year after retiring one last year. The trophy must be won twice for keeps.

Small trophies will be presented to each of the 43 members of the squad and to the five cheerleaders.

H. Clifford Spiker, head of the Boosters' Club, last night announced that all of the 316 tickets for the banquet, have been sold.

Dr. Ralph Roth, Fort Hill graduate of 1938, will be the master of cefemonies.

Coaches Urged To Respect Grid Code Of Ethics

NCAA Acts To Cut Down Rough Play

BY GEORGE BOWEN

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Jan. 16 (AP)—Coaches and officials have contributed to "undesirable trends" in the game of football, the NCAA rules committee declared today. It called upon them to teach and enforce the spirit as well as letter of the regulations.

The committee adopted at the end of a three-day meeting a resolution stating "undesirable trends have developed in our game, affecting sportsmanship and the spirit of fair play, excessively rough play, a tendency to beat the ball and a lack of respect for the football code" of ethics.

"It is the opinion of the members of the committee that the football coaches and football officials have contributed to this undesirable trend, the coaches by their failure always to observe the spirit of the rules, and the officials by their failure to enforce the football rules rigidly.

"The football rules committee calls upon the coaches and officials to devote their attention more conscientiously and more diligently to the best interests of the game of football and the young men who play, by teaching and enforcing the spirit as well as the letter of the rules."

Roughness Stressed

Amos Alonzo Stagg, a coach for 60 years and a rulemaker since 1904, sponsored the resolution.

He said increased roughness was the main concern of the committee this year.

"The committee always is trying to improve the rules to safeguard the players," Stagg said. "We don't want any coaching techniques that will cause any injury. All of the coaches don't live up to the fair play rules.

"Like good Americans, players and coaches have the winning spirit, which is a fine thing, you know, up to a certain point. But with all the pressure to win, some coaches, if they can, will cut the rules a little bit."

The committee strengthened the rules on roughness and legal shifts to meet some attempts to "beat" them. The resolution emphasized these intentions.

Penalty Is Increased

To combat an "inclination not to observe" the requirement for a one-second delay by a team after coming out of a huddle, the committee raised the penalty for violation from 5 to 15 yards. Members reported "some teams were shading" the one-second rule and getting an unfair jump on the defense.

Attempting to cut down rough play, the committee took these steps:

1. Added use of elbows, forearms and locked hands to fists and knees subject to mandatory ejection from game.

2. Defined clipping as a block from the rear on any part of the back instead of just from the waist down.

3. Increased the penalty for defensive holding from 5 to 15 yards.

4. To protect passer, allowed him to use his hands to ward off opponents as long as the ball is in flight.

To Charge Time Out

Only one change was made in the substitution rules, foundation of the platoon system. This will charge a team with a time out for sending in a substitute such as a punter while the clock is running. Each team is allowed five time outs per half and heretofore the only penalty for delaying the game was five yards.

Acting to penalize an unsportsmanlike trick, the committee provided a 15-yard penalty for any player faking a fair catch signal. It also limited a fair catch receiver to two steps after getting the ball or be penalized five yards.

PCL To Shun Majors

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16. (AP)—The Pacific Coast League, taking another step toward independence, decided today to sever all major league connections in 1953.

In their first meeting since the PCL obtained its new "open" classification, league directors voted that no club shall enter into a working agreement with a major team or accept any player on option from a big league club in 1953.

Millner Named Eagles' Coach

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 16 (AP)—Assistant coach Wayne Millner was named head coach today by the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

Veteran players Frank Reagan and Vic Lindskog were named today as assistants to Millner. Jim Trimble was retained as an assistant coach.

50 Boys Enroll For Mt. Savage Hot Stove Loop

MT. SAVAGE, Jan. 16 — With fifty boys enrolled, plans are now under way for the formation of Hot Stove Baseball League in Mt. Savage.

Fifteen newcomers also have enrolled for the Little League which functioned so successfully last season.

Each league this year will comprise four teams and the officers will be the same.

Parents will meet with Little League officials at a meeting set for Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Community Building.

Comets Win, 55-21; Lattimer, Beightol, Alderton Score 40

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Jan. 16—The Cumberland Comets scored their third victory in the University of Maryland's intramural basketball league by defeating the Udder Boys to the tune of 55 to 21.

The Comets' scoring combination of Charley Lattimer, Lynn Beightol and John Alderton racked up 40 points.

At the halfway mark the Comets, managed by J. Welch Hardman, former Allegany High (Cumberland) student, held the long end of a 30-9 score. Lineups:

Rawlings Stops Bolanos In 5th

CHICAGO, Jan. 16. (AP)—Luther Rawlings, Chicago, tonight vaulted into a title match with Jimmy Carter, lightweight champion, by scoring a fifth round technical knockout over Enrique Bolanos, Los Angeles trial horse in the Chicago Stadium.

Rawlings, rated the No. 1 contender in the 135 pound division, probably will meet Carter in the Stadium Feb. 20 or later.

The gangling Rawlings, tallest in the lightweight division at six feet, draped the fading Bolanos over the middle rope of the ring before the one-sided bout was ended by Referee Johnny Behr after two minutes and eleven seconds of the fifth.

Dapper Dans Elect Vincent Morrissey President For 1952

Vincent T. (Willard) Morrissey was elected president of the Cumberland Chapter of the Dapper Dan Club at a meeting held last night at the Knights of Columbus Home.

Morrissey succeeds Paul J. Gallen, retiring president, who becomes chairman of the executive board.

Joseph K. Mooney was elected vice president and Harold Rosenmerkel was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The executive board elected at last night's session comprises Christ Charuhas, Alex Schute, Peter J. Carpenti, Reatus L. Spiker, William V. Keegan, Ira Boyer, David Kauffman and William "Boots" Miller.

Forty members attended the meeting.

Garver Signs At Fat Salary

May Be Highest Paid In History Of Club

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 16. (AP)—Pitcher Ned Garver, a 20-game winner with the last-place St. Louis Browns in 1951, today signed a contract after a one-minute talk with owner Bill Veeck.

The contract, subject to approval by the government's wage stabilization board, is believed to provide for a salary of more than $25,000. This probably will make Garver the highest-paid player in the club's history. He made about $18,000 last year.

Veeck said his conference with Garver probably set some kind of speed record. The Brown's president recalled that, as owner of the Cleveland Indians, he once signed pitcher Bob Feller after a talk lasting two and one-half minutes.

Garver was the fifth player to agree to terms since the club mailed out contracts last week-end.

Pitcher Cliff Fannin agreed to terms today. Catcher Matt Batts and second baseman Mike Goliat notified the club yesterday that they are satisfied with their contract offers.

300 To Attend Banquet At Shrine Country Club

Coach William P. Hahn and members of Fort Hill High School's city championship football team will be honored by the Fort Hill Boosters' Club at the annual awards banquet sponsored by the latter organization today at 6:30 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Fort Hill retained the city title by defeating Allegany for the third successive year on Thanksgiving Day.

The James H. Hipsley Football Award will be presented as will the Cumberland Times-News trophy. The Hipsley award goes to the outstanding player on the team, and is determined by a vote of the lettermen on the squad. Eddie Landis captured the award in 1951. Fort Hill won the first leg on the new Times-News trophy this year after retiring one last year. The trophy must be won twice for keeps.

Small trophies will be presented to each of the 43 members of the squad and to the five cheerleaders.

H. Clifford Spiker, head of the Boosters' Club, last night announced that all of the 316 tickets for the banquet, have been sold.

Dr. Ralph Roth, Fort Hill graduate of 1938, will be the master of ceremonies.

Frostburg Legion Makes Clean Sweep

Doby To Refuse Cut In Salary

Hit .295 In 1951, Tribe's 2nd Best

DALLAS, Jan. 16. (AP) — Larry Doby, the Cleveland outfielder, said today he would not take a cut in salary.

The big negro center fielder, who hit .295 last season, admitted that he had been asked to take a slash in pay for the 1952 campaign.

"I will not accept a cut," he declared emphatically. "I'll admit I was almost 30 points off my 1950 average, but at that I finished with the second highest average on the club."

Bobby Avilla with .304 topped Doby on the Cleveland club.

Doby, in Dallas representing a beer company, said he had not seen his 1952 contract.

"It probably will reach me at my home in New Jersey when I return there next week," he added. "But I have been told of the proposed cut and I will become a holdout rather than sign for anything less than the salary I received last year."

Doby was reported to have received $25,000 to $30,000.

He predicted Clevelend would be in the thick of the pennant fight in 1952 and figured New York, without Joe DiMaggio, wouldn't be the threat they were a year ago.

Doby lauded DiMaggio's retirement from baseball. "Joe had sense enough to know when he was through and to retire while he still held the respect of the fans," said the Indians player. "Too bad Joe Louis didn't do the same thing."

Change Game Date

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 16 (AP)—No longer will the Missouri-Kansas football game interfere with the Thanksgiving dinner of thousands of Missourians.

The game, a fixture of six decades, will be played Nov. 22 this year—the Saturday before Thanksgiving—Coach Don Faurot announced today.

Deluge Halts Races

ARCADIA, Calif., Jan. 16 (AP) — Santa Anita today called off the day's racing program because of Southern California's current deluge.

A spokesman said the condition of the track had nothing to do with the decision but officials "wanted to keep the cars off the highways."

The steady rain has snarled traffic in all sections of the county.

Dallas Man Offers To Buy Grid Yanks

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (AP)—Bert Bell, National Football League commissioner, said today a Dallas man had made an offer to buy the New York Yank football franchise.

Bell said the offer had been transmitted to Ted Collins, radio man who owns the franchise, but the NFL had heard nothing further from Collins.

Doby To Refuse Cut In Salary

Hit .295 In 1951, Tribe's 2nd Best

DALLAS, Jan. 16. (AP) — Larry Doby, the Cleveland outfielder, said today he would not take a cut in salary.

The big negro center fielder, who hit .295 last season, admitted that he had been asked to take a slash in pay for the 1952 campaign.

"'I will not accept a cut," he declared emphatically. "I'll admit I was almost 30 points off my 1950 average, but at that I finished with the second highest average on the club."

Bobby Avilla with .304 topped Doby on the Cleveland club.

Doby, in Dallas representing a beer company, said he had not seen his 1952 contract.

"It probably will reach me at my home in New Jersey when I return there next week," he added. "'But I have been told of the proposed cut and I will become a holdout rather than sign for anything less than the salary I received last year."

Doby was reported to have received $25,000 to $30,000.

He predicted Clevelend would be in the thick of the pennant fight in 1952 and figured New York, without Joe DiMaggio, wouldn't be the threat they were a year ago.

Doby lauded DiMaggio's retirement from baseball. "Joe had sense enough to know when he was through and to retire while he still held the respect of the fans," said the Indians player. "Too bad Joe Louis didn't do the same thing."

Change Game Date

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 16 (AP)—No longer will the Missouri-Kansas football game interfere with the Thanksgiving dinner of thousands of Missourians.

The game, a fixture of six decades, will be played Nov. 22 this year—the Saturday before Thanksgiving—Coach Don Faurot announced today.

Deluge Halts Races

ARCADIA, Calif., Jan. 16 (AP) — Santa Anita today called off the day's racing program because of Southern California's current deluge.

A spokesman said the condition of the track had nothing to do with the decision but officials "wanted to keep the cars off the highways."

The steady rain has snarled traffic in all sections of the county.

Dallas Man Offers To Buy Grid Yanks

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (AP)—Bert Bell, National Football League commissioner, said today a Dallas man had made an offer to buy the New York Yank football franchise.

Bell said the offer had been transmitted to Ted Collins, radio man who owns the franchise, but the NFL had heard nothing further from Collins.

Doby To Refuse Cut In Salary

Hit .295 In 1951, Tribe's 2nd Best

DALLAS, Jan. 16. (AP) — Larry Doby, the Cleveland outfielder, said today he would not take a cut in salary.

The big negro center fielder, who hit .295 last season, admitted that he had been asked to take a slash in pay for the 1952 campaign.

"I will not accept a cut," he declared emphatically. "I'll admit I was almost 30 points off my 1950 average, but at that I finished with the second highest average on the club."

Bobby Avilla with .304 topped Doby on the Cleveland club.

Doby, in Dallas representing a beer company, said he had not seen his 1952 contract.

"It probably will reach me at my home in New Jersey when I return there next week," he added. "But I have been told of the proposed cut and I will become a holdout rather than sign for anything less than the salary I received last year."

Doby was reported to have received $25,000 to $30,000.

He predicted Clevelend would be in the thick of the pennant fight in 1952 and figured New York, without Joe DiMaggio, wouldn't be the threat they were a year ago.

Doby lauded DiMaggio's retirement from baseball. "Joe had sense enough to know when he was through and to retire while he still held the respect of the fans," said the Indians player. "Too bad Joe Louis didn't do the same thing."

Change Game Date

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 16 (AP)—No longer will the Missouri-Kansas football game interfere with the Thanksgiving dinner of thousands of Missourians.

The game, a fixture of six decades, will be played Nov. 22 this year—the Saturday before Thanksgiving—Coach Don Faurot announced today.

Deluge Halts Races

ARCADIA, Calif., Jan. 16 (AP) — Santa Anita today called off the day's racing program because of Southern California's current deluge.

A spokesman said the condition of the track had nothing to do with the decision but officials "wanted to keep the cars off the highways."

The steady rain has snarled traffic in all sections of the county.

Dallas Man Offers To Buy Grid Yanks

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (AP)—Bert Bell, National Football League commissioner, said today a Dallas man had made an offer to buy the New York Yank football franchise.

Bell said the offer had been transmitted to Ted Collins, radio man who owns the franchise, but the NFL had heard nothing further from Collins.

Lane Likes Ike But Refuses To Break Ranks

Washington County Democrats Confer

HAGERSTOWN, Jan. 26 (AP) — Former Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., told Washington County's Democrats tonight of his long friendship with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, but added "as much as I love that man, my abiding faith is still in the Democratic Party."

Eisenhower, allied commander in Europe, has indicated he would accept the Republican presidential nomination.

Lane and Rep. Lansdale G. Sasscer, a strong candidate for the Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate this year, were the only scheduled speakers who appeared for the Democratic club's annual dinner.

Attorney General J. Howard McGrath, who agreed to substitute for Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), and Sen. Herbert R. O'Conor (R-Md) wired Club President C. William Hetzer they would be unable to attend.

Lane, in welcoming Sasscer to Washington County ground, neither openly extended nor withheld support to the Fifth District representative. He said only that Sasscer "will have my friendship in, out, or running for office."

Sasscer did not refer to his candidacy to the senate seat being abandoned by O'Conor during his remarks. He limited his subject to the Democratic field in general.

He said he was aware of the talk of defeatism among Democratic ranks in the coming election but declared the Democrats would not lose as long as the Republicans continue their sniping tactics and as long as Democrats remain a party of planning and vision.

Lane said he was "mad at no one" after his defeat in trying for re-election two years ago.

Instead, he said, he received satisfaction from the fact that the state's school system has risen from ranking in the low 40s to "almost second" in the nation, and from "knowing that 9,000 mental hospital patients now have a chance for improvement, knowing the roads system is emerging toward what it should be, and from watching the bridge span the Bay."

Approximately 300 persons attended the rally.

State Lists Area Highway Projects

BALTIMORE, Jan. 16. (AP)—The State Roads Commission announced bid opening dates on two projects in Western Maryland.

One job at the intersection of U. S. Routes 15 and 240 in Frederick County, calls for about 2¼ miles of grading, drainage and surfacing. Bids are to be opened Feb. 5.

It includes work on a section of dual highway along relocated U. S. Route 240, through a portion of the future interchange.

On Jan. 29, bids will be opened on grading and surfacing 0.036 mile on State Route 36, at Negro Elbow in Allegany County.

Johnson Heights PTA To Meet

Johnson Heights Parent-Teacher Association will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the school. The topic of discussion will be, "Responsibilities Scaled To Size."

Teachers will be in their rooms at 7:30 o'clock. Fourth grade home room mothers will serve refreshments.

Woman's Term Suspended Provided Money Is Repaid

A former clerk for a trucking company here pleaded guilty yesterday morning in Allegany County Circuit Court to a charge of embezzling $1,735.42 of the firm's receipts.

Mrs. Margaret Fulton Kelly, now of Washington, was given a five-year term in the Maryland Reformatory for Females with the sentence suspended by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris on condition that she make restitution.

Judge Harris stipulated that the payments will be made at a rate of $100 per month through the state's attorney's office.

Assistant State's Attorney William H. Geppert stated that Mrs. Kelly worked for the Morris Motor Company Inc., and between February 2, 1950 and March 24, 1951, she reportedly took the money.

He explained that Mrs. Kelly had kept a fairly accurate account of the money. He said that she started to bet horses and when she would "hit" a winner she would repay the funds she had "borrowed."

Geppert added that she informed him she intended to repay this money, but as she kept betting she went in the red deeper.

He explained her job was to give bills to the drivers, collect the receipts and then turn the money over to the cashier.

Geppert declared she hid the shortages by holding back the C. O. D.'s.

Only three of the embezzlements were for over $30, he pointed—one for $550, another for $203 and $211.

Officers Re-Elected At Commercial Bank

George C. Cook, William C. Dudley, Joseph H. Reinhart, John L. Wellington, and Wilbur V. Wilson.

Officers were re-elected as follows:

Wilbur V. Wilson, president; George C. Cook, vice president and cashier; William C. Dudley, assistant cashier and secretary. Wilson was also named attorney for the bank.

Facts...

every resident of Allegany County should know about the

Red Cross Blood Donor Program

1. The American Red Cross is the sole collecting agency of blood for the armed forces. Red Cross has never failed to meet their quota for blood on the Korean front and three shipments weekly go to the battle zone.

2. The Allegany County Chapter of the American Red Cross is participating in the National Blood Program and is now the sole collecting agency of blood for the armed forces and civilian needs in Allegany County.

3. Blood collected by Red Cross will not be sold. The only charge is for administrative expenses made by the hospitals over which the Red Cross has no control.

4. Under this new program there will be free whole blood and blood derivatives for every person living in Allegany County. No longer will persons needing blood have to pay for it, nor secure blood donors to replace blood taken from hospital blood banks.

5. If a resident needs blood while visiting in another community or is sent to a hospital in a community that does not participate in a civilian blood program free blood will be available through an arrangement with their doctor and the Red Cross Chapter Office — Post Office Building, Cumberland, Md. The only cost will be necessary charges of the hospital and doctor for administration over which the Red Cross has no control.

6. This program will become effective seventy-two hours after the visit of the Blood Mobile Unit to Cumberland.

7. All expenses entailed by participation of the County in the Blood Program will be met from the Red Cross Chapter funds.

8. This is to be a continuing program and Red Cross will have a Mobile Blood Unit two days each month, operating at the Eagles Lodge Room, 65 North Mechanic Street, from 12:00 noon until 6:00 P. M., beginning Monday, January 21, and Tuesday, January 22. The next scheduled dates are Monday, February 25, and Tuesday, February 26, and each month thereafter on dates to be announced.

9. The Allegany County Red Cross Chapter urges every resident to support the National Blood Program to furnish blood to the armed forces and to enable the people of the County to receive through the local hospitals whole blood and blood derivatives, without cost except for hospital laboratory charges. Even more important than the fact that the blood itself is free, is the satisfaction of knowing that there will always be blood obtainable without the usual frantic search for donors to save a life.

DO IT NOW!

If you have already received a Red Cross Blood Donor Pledge card, won't you please fill it in, sign and return at once. If you haven't a pledge card, clip and use this printed form. Thanks.

Lane, in welcoming Sasscer to Washington County ground, neither openly extended nor withheld support to the Fifth District representative. He said only that Sasscer "will have my friendship in, out, or running for office."

Sasscer did not refer to his candidacy to the senate seat being abandoned by O'Conor during his remarks. He limited his subject to the Democratic field in general.

He said he was aware of the talk of defeatism among Democratic ranks in the coming election but declared the Democrats would not lose as long as the Republicans continue their sniping tactics and as long as Democrats remain a party of planning and vision.

Lane said he was "mad at no one" after his defeat in trying for re-election two years ago.

Instead, he said, he received satisfaction from the fact that the state's school system has risen from ranking in the low 40s to "almost second" in the nation, and from "knowing that 9,000 mental hospital patients now have a chance for improvement, knowing the roads system is emerging toward what it should be, and from watching the bridge span the Bay."

Approximately 300 persons attended the rally.

State Lists Area Highway Projects

BALTIMORE, Jan. 16. (AP)—The State Roads Commission announced bid opening dates on two projects in Western Maryland.

One job at the intersection of U. S. Routes 15 and 240 in Frederick County, calls for about 2¼ miles of grading, drainage and surfacing. Bids are to be opened Feb. 5.

It includes work on a section of dual highway along relocated U. S. Route 240, through a portion of the future interchange.

On Jan. 29, bids will be opened on grading and surfacing 0.036 mile on State Route 36, at Negro Elbow in Allegany County.

Johnson Heights PTA To Meet

Johnson Heights Parent-Teacher Association will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the school. The topic of discussion will be, "Responsibilities Scaled To Size."

Teachers will be in their rooms at 7:30 o'clock. Fourth grade home room mothers will serve refreshments.

Woman's Term Suspended Provided Money Is Repaid

A former clerk for a trucking company here pleaded guilty yesterday morning in Allegany County Circuit Court to a charge of embezzling $1,735.42 of the firm's receipts.

Mrs. Margaret Fulton Kelly, now of Washington, was given a five-year term in the Maryland Reformatory for Females with the sentence suspended by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris on condition that she make restitution.

Judge Harris stipulated that the payments will be made at a rate of $100 per month through the state's attorney's office.

Assistant State's Attorney William H. Geppert stated that Mrs. Kelly worked for the Morris Motor Company Inc., and between February 2, 1950 and March 24, 1951, she reportedly took the money.

He explained that Mrs. Kelly had kept a fairly accurate account of the money. He said that she started to bet horses and when she would "hit" a winner she would repay the funds she had "borrowed."

Geppert added that she informed him she intended to repay this money, but as she kept betting she went in the red deeper.

He explained her job was to give bills to the drivers, collect the receipts and then turn the money over to the cashier.

Geppert declared she hid the shortages by holding back the C. O. D.'s.

Only three of the embezzlements were for over $30, he pointed—one for $550, another for $203 and $211.

She was indicted by the January grand jury.

every resident of Allegany County should know about the Red Cross Blood Donor Program

1. The American Red Cross is the sole collecting agency of blood for the armed forces. Red Cross has never failed to meet their quota for blood on the Korean front and three shipments weekly go to the battle zone.

2. The Allegany County Chapter of the American Red Cross is participating in the National Blood Program and is now the sole collecting agency of blood for the armed forces and civilian needs in Allegany County.

3. Blood collected by Red Cross will not be sold. The only charge is for administrative expenses made by the hospitals over which the Red Cross has no control.

4. Under this new program there will be free whole blood and blood derivatives for every person living in Allegany County. No longer will persons needing blood have to pay for it, nor secure blood donors to replace blood taken from hospital blood banks.

5. If a resident needs blood while visiting in another community or is sent to a hospital in a community that does not participate in a civilian blood program free blood will be available through an arrangement with their doctor and the Red Cross Chapter Office — Post Office Building, Cumberland, Md. The only cost will be necessary charges of the hospital and doctor for administration over which the Red Cross has no control.

6. This program will become effective seventy-two hours after the visit of the Blood Mobile Unit to Cumberland.

7. All expenses entailed by participation of the County in the Blood Program will be met from the Red Cross Chapter funds.

8. This is to be a continuing program and Red Cross will have a Mobile Blood Unit two days each month, operating at the Eagles Lodge Room, 65 North Mechanic Street, from 12:00 noon until 6:00 P. M., beginning Monday, January 21, and Tuesday, January 22. The next scheduled dates are Monday, February 25, and Tuesday, February 26, and each month thereafter on dates to be announced.

9. The Allegany County Red Cross Chapter urges every resident to support the National Blood Program to furnish blood to the armed forces and to enable the people of the County to receive through the local hospitals whole blood and blood derivatives, without cost except for hospital laboratory charges. Even more important than the fact that the blood itself is free, is the satisfaction of knowing that there will always be blood obtainable without the usual frantic search for donors to save a life.

Lane Likes Ike But Refuses To Break Ranks

Washington County Democrats Confer

HAGERSTOWN, Jan. 26 (AP) — Former Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., told Washington County's Democrats tonight of his long friendship with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, but added "as much as I love that man, my abiding faith is still in the Democratic Party."

Eisenhower, allied commander in Europe, has indicated he would accept the Republican presidential nomination.

Lane and Rep. Lansdale G. Sasscer, a strong candidate for the Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate this year, were the only scheduled speakers who appeared for the Democratic club's annual dinner.

Attorney General J. Howard McGrath, who agreed to substitute for Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), and Sen. Herbert R. O'Conor (R-Md) wired Club President C. William Hetzer they would be unable to attend.

Lane, in welcoming Sasscer to Washington County ground, neither openly extended nor withheld support to the Fifth District representative. He said only that Sasscer "will have my friendship in, out, or running for office."

Sasscer did not refer to his candidacy to the senate seat being abandoned by O'Conor during his remarks. He limited his subject to the Democratic field in general.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 16. (INS)—Betty Grable's kiss and make up movie at 20th Century-Fox is "The Farmer Takes A Wife." A whizz musical has been whipped up from the former Broadway play as a welcome back present for Betty, the No. 1 babe at the box office, who was on suspension for nine months.

You're asking what happened to "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," touted as the picture Betty was holding out for as her return picture? It can't be made for another year and it's certainly no part of wisdom for Betty to wait that long.

Betty Grable

Henry Fonda was the star of "Farmer" when it was a straight play on Broadway and the late Winnie Sheehan bought the show for films and Fonda along with it.

By way of giving Bette the best—Harold Arlen and Dorothy Fields are writing the music. Frank Rosenberg is the producer and Henry Levin ("Jolson Story") the director.

The King brothers gave Larry Tierney his first screen job in "Dillinger," and although some of the Dillinger gift for getting in trouble may have rubbed off on Larry, the same cannot be said for his brothers, Scott Brady and Eddie Tierney. Now Eddie gets a break with these same King brothers in "The Ring."

Speaking romance-wise, Eddie also is getting a break. He marries Hanne Axman, German actress, sometime within the next two weeks. Eddie looks quite a lot like his brother, Scott Brady, and he's the baby of the family.

Glad to hear Katharine Hepburn has such a sense of humor that she laughed when she was shown a review by a London critic who wrote that she "looks like a picked hen in 'African Queen' but gives a performance of glowing charm."

Katie will have a chance to look this gent straight in the eye before long. She's leaving for England to star in George Bernard Shaw's "The Millionairess" immediately after finishing "Pat and Mike" at MGM.

Never let it be said that Hepburn doesn't like variety. Last year she was on Broadway in Shakespeare and later in Africa. Quite a parlay from Shakespeare, to safari, to Shaw.

Linda Darnell returned home last week. So far few of her friends have seen her as she is still far from well after that severe attack of yellow jaundice. She continues to run a temperature.

She did see Stuart Heisler for whom she made "Saturday Island," and she is interested in making another picture for him. Linda has an offer to go to Italy, but she's been away so much the past year I have an idea Linda will stay right at home for her next movie.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Nancy Valentine comes back to Hollywood today—still insisting she is married to the Maharajah of Cooch-Behar in spite of the Indian government's refusal to admit such a marriage. Talk is that Coochie has himself a new girl friend.

Maris Wrixon, former Warner actress, now Mrs. Rudy Fahr, wife of the Warner producer, has had a triple tragedy. Her mother, grandmother and uncle were all killed in an automobile accident near Seattle, caused by a slippery road.

Some girls are never satisfied. Betty Binder, George Raft's heartthrob, who was a beautiful blonde, is now a redhead. She was at the Band Box with Georgie and the new titian hair.

Ethel Merman goes to Reno in early June for the usual reason. She is taking her two small children and will come here for conferences with Darryl Zanuck on the movie version of "Call Me Madam."

Kurt Kaszner, brought here from New York for "The Happy Time," is suffering from a bad case of unrequited love. This was to have been his wedding day to Peggy Lester, British beauty, but Peggy changed her mind. Kurt hopes to win her back.

Billy Eckstine received a big hand when he took over at the Mocambo at the last minute pinch-hitting for Fran Warren, who was rushed to a hospital with intestinal flu.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

WASHINGTON — (INS) — "If we were being presented with some new scheme for public welfare or another theory I should remain skeptical," said Robert Schuman, France's foreign minister, and a Catholic, when he enthusiastically endorsed the Moral Re-Armament movement.

"But what moral Re-Armament brings us is a philosophy of life applied in action. It is not a question of a change of policy; it is a question of changing men. Democracy and her freedoms can be saved only by the quality of the men who speak in her name."

With a considerable blessing from a number of generally hard-bitten congressmen, including Sen. Tom Connally, MRA is currently holding an assembly of the Americas in Miami Beach. Hundreds of delegates from dozens of nations are on hand attempting—after nearly 2,000 years of frustration—to bring substance to Christ's "Love Thy Neighbor."

Among the delegates are a British longshoremen's official who was a Communist for 23 years, plus other dockworkers of many nationalities determined to break communism's growing hold on these lifelines; representatives of just about every known industry here and aboard; exiled leaders from the iron curtain countries—and men of the type of Dr. Nnamid Azikiwe, president of the National Council of Nigeria and the Cameroons.

MRA's program appears to be so simple that it is regarded with misgivings by peoples who have been tricked into often despotic organizations by their inoffensive-looking facades. Its charter is much less complex than that of the better known organization which hopes to achieve peace, UN. It has been attacked by both rightist and leftist—but in recent years significantly, most of the venom directed against it has been aimed by the Communist world.

MRA claims, and has considerable evidence to back its claims, that by teaching men of different social and economic classes to live together it brought industrial peace to British docks, united France and Western Germany, curbed the menace of communism in the Ruhr and stepped up production more than 20 per cent, has given German youth an ideology to fill the void left by Nazism and threatened by the Reds, brought new understanding in labor-management relations, and so on.

Some of MRA's delegates on hand in Washington a year ago were asked to stand, in the Senate gallery, and Sen. H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey said, in tribute to them, "America more than ever needs to develop ideological strength if we are to win what is primarily a struggle for the minds of men and women. These men and women merit our attention and support."

At the same Washington meeting a former German Communist said, "the united of the West would be more powerful than an atom bomb on the Kremlin. Communists do not mind however much the West rattles the sabre. They know that the Western world can bristle with arms, but without an ideology it will go under."

The effort to teach the world godly virtues, irrespective of individual religions of its cohorts, annually costs about one-tenth the price of a B-36. Most of its missionaries are unsalaried. Some assemblies are fed by gifts of fish from Norway, butter from Denmark, flour from Canada, sugar from Jamaica and so forth. MRA's "training center," at Caux, Switzerland, is heated by coal gifts from the Rhur.

"Where God guides, He provides," Frank Buchman, the founder, likes to say. He got the nucleus of the idea while attending the Washington disarmament conference, where the theme seemed to be whether men thereafter should be killed with 16-inch or 14-inch guns.

"You can plan a new world on paper," he said, "but you must build it out of people." The Miami assembly is trying to do just that, stimulated by the awe-provoking menace of world communism.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUCS" BAER

Winsome Churchill wants both England and the United States to do America's best. Even Winsome concedes that never before have so few owed so much to so many.

You are never sure of what Winsome is after until it's gone. Nor at what degree of tension a handshake turns into an arm twist.

But you have to admire old flannel foot when he goes shopping for England.

Dimes Dance Is Set By Guard Companies

The two National Guard companies here will sponsor a March of Dimes dance in the State Armory Saturday, January 26.

A stage show will be presented. Bill Higgs and his Melody Rangers will furnish the music.

Headquarters and C Company, First Battalion, 115th Infantry Regiment, sponsored a similar dance at Christmas to gather toys and food for needy families.

Instead of the donations, money will be received as admissions this time, with all proceeds to go to the March of Dimes.

Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

Should you be ashamed of a mate's mistakes?

Answer: You may not be able to help feeling embarrassed if your partner commits some serious offense against the rules of grammar or accepted good form, but at least be honest with yourself about it. You are not "embarrassed for him," but for yourself. Your shame means that for the moment your own self-esteem—as affected by "what people will think"—has become more important to you than your love for your mate or your recognition of the qualities for which you love him. But don't let the injury to your ego drive you to even worse breach of good manners of correcting him in public.

Are gamblers and alcoholics alike?

Answer: Yes. Gambling and alcoholism form a "triad" of neurotic patterns with superstition, writes Dr. Iago Galston in Mental Hygiene. All three are based on what he calls "precausal" thinking—that is, thinking in the way a child does before he has learned to recognize the law of cause and effect. The gambler, the alcoholic and the superstitious person all believe that good fotune may come, or the consequences of their mistakes be averted by the intervention of some unseen and capricious power ("Lady Luck," for instance) if they can but gain its favor. Inconsistent parents prevent a child's learning to think realistically.

Does tension make workers inefficient?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. H. Graham Ross, summarizing the conclusions of a Canadian seminar on "Tensional States in Industry." Tense or anxious feelings on the part of workers are responsible for a large share of inefficiency, absenteeism, accidents and psychosomatic illness. Such states may be caused by personal problems outside of the business, but may also result from the nature of the job, the inconsistency of workers or supervisors, and especially from the uneasiness of those workers who are nearing the age of retirement and are conscious of their limitations and their insecure position.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 16. (INS)—Betty Grable's kiss and make up movie at 20th Century-Fox is "The Farmer Takes A Wife." A whizz musical has been whipped up from the former Broadway play as a welcome back present for Betty, the No. 1 babe at the box office, who was on suspension for nine months.

You're asking what happened to "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," touted as the picture Betty was holding out for as her return picture? It can't be made for another year and it's certainly no part of wisdom for Betty to wait that long.

Betty Grable

Henry Fonda was the star of "Farmer" when it was a straight play on Broadway and the late Winnie Sheehan bought the show for films and Fonda along with it.

By way of giving Bette the best—Harold Arlen and Dorothy Fields are writing the music. Frank Rosenberg is the producer and Henry Levin ("Jolson Story") the director.

The King brothers gave Larry Tierney his first screen job in "Dillinger," and although some of the Dillinger gift for getting in trouble may have rubbed off on Larry, the same cannot be said for his brothers, Scott Brady and Eddie Tierney. Now Eddie gets a break with these same King brothers in "The Ring."

Speaking romance-wise, Eddie also is getting a break. He marries Hanne Axman, German actress, sometime within the next two weeks. Eddie looks quite a lot like his brother, Scott Brady, and he's the baby of the family.

Glad to hear Katharine Hepburn has such a sense of humor that she laughed when she was shown a review by a London critic who wrote that she "looks like a picked hen in 'African Queen' but gives a performance of glowing charm."

Katie will have a chance to look this gent straight in the eye before long. She's leaving for England to star in George Bernard Shaw's "The Millionairess" immediately after finishing "Pat and Mike" at MGM.

Never let it be said that Hepburn doesn't like variety. Last year she was on Broadway in Shakespeare and later in Africa. Quite a parlay from Shakespeare, to safari, to Shaw.

Linda Darnell returned home last week. So far few of her friends have seen her as she is still far from well after that severe attack of yellow jaundice. She continues to run a temperature.

She did see Stuart Heisler for whom she made "Saturday Island," and she is interested in making another picture for him. Linda has an offer to go to Italy, but she's been away so much the past year I have an idea Linda will stay right at home for her next movie.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Nancy Valentine comes back to Hollywood today—still insisting she is married to the Maharajah of Cooch-Behar in spite of the Indian government's refusal to admit such a marriage. Talk is that Coochie has himself a new girl friend.

Maris Wrixon, former Warner actress, now Mrs. Rudy Fahr, wife of the Warner producer, has had a triple tragedy. Her mother, grandmother and uncle were all killed in an automobile accident near Seattle, caused by a slippery road.

Some girls are never satisfied. Betty Binder, George Raft's heartthrob, who was a beautiful blonde, is now a redhead. She was at the Band Box with Georgie and the new titian hair.

Ethel Merman goes to Reno in early June for the usual reason. She is taking her two small children and will come here for conferences with Darryl Zanuck on the movie version of "Call Me Madam."

Kurt Kaszner, brought here from New York for "The Happy Time," is suffering from a bad case of unrequited love. This was to have been his wedding day to Peggy Lester, British beauty, but Peggy changed her mind. Kurt hopes to win her back.

Billy Eckstine received a big hand when he took over at the Mocambo at the last minute pinch-hitting for Fran Warren, who was rushed to a hospital with intestinal flu.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

WASHINGTON — (INS) — "If we were being presented with some new scheme for public welfare or another theory I should remain skeptical," said Robert Schuman, France's foreign minister, and a Catholic, when he enthusiastically endorsed the Moral Re-Armament movement.

"But what moral Re-Armament brings us is a philosophy of life applied in action. It is not a question of a change of policy; it is a question of changing men. Democracy and her freedoms can be saved only by the quality of the men who speak in her name."

With a considerable blessing from a number of generally hard-bitten congressmen, including Sen. Tom Connally, MRA is currently holding an assembly of the Americas in Miami Beach. Hundreds of delegates from dozens of nations are on hand attempting—after nearly 2,000 years of frustration—to bring substance to Christ's "Love Thy Neighbor."

Among the delegates are a British longshoremen's official who was a Communist for 23 years, plus other dockworkers of many nationalities determined to break communism's growing hold on these lifelines; representatives of just about every known industry here and aboard; exiled leaders from the iron curtain countries—and men of the type of Dr. Nnamid Azikiwe, president of the National Council of Nigeria and the Cameroons.

MRA's program appears to be so simple that it is regarded with misgivings by peoples who have been tricked into often despotic organizations by their inoffensive-looking facades. Its charter is much less complex than that of the better known organization which hopes to achieve peace, UN. It has been attacked by both rightist and leftist—but in recent years significantly, most of the venom directed against it has been aimed by the Communist world.

MRA claims, and has considerable evidence to back its claims, that by teaching men of different social and economic classes to live together it brought industrial peace to British docks, united France and Western Germany, curbed the menace of communism in the Ruhr and stepped up production more than 20 per cent, has given German youth an ideology to fill the void left by Nazism and threatened by the Reds, brought new understanding in labor-management relations, and so on.

Some of MRA's delegates on hand in Washington a year ago were asked to stand, in the Senate gallery, and Sen. H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey said, in tribute to them, "America more than ever needs to develop ideological strength if we are to win what is primarily a struggle for the minds of men and women. These men and women merit our attention and support."

At the same Washington meeting a former German Communist said, "the united of the West would be more powerful than an atom bomb on the Kremlin. Communists do not mind however much the West rattles the sabre. They know that the Western world can bristle with arms, but without an ideology it will go under."

The effort to teach the world godly virtues, irrespective of individual religions of its cohorts, annually costs about one-tenth the price of a B-36. Most of its missionaries are unsalaried. Some assemblies are fed by gifts of fish from Norway, butter from Denmark, flour from Canada, sugar from Jamaica and so forth. MRA's "training center," at Caux, Switzerland, is heated by coal gifts from the Rhur.

"Where God guides, He provides," Frank Buchman, the founder, likes to say. He got the nucleus of the idea while attending the Washington disarmament conference, where the theme seemed to be whether men thereafter should be killed with 16-inch or 14-inch guns.

"You can plan a new world on paper," he said, "but you must build it out of people." The Miami assembly is trying to do just that, stimulated by the awe-provoking menace of world communism.

Winsome Churchill wants both England and the United States to do America's best. Even Winsome concedes that never before have so few owed so much to so many.

You are never sure of what Winsome is after until it's gone. Nor at what degree of tension a handshake turns into an arm twist.

But you have to admire old flannel foot when he goes shopping for England.

Dimes Dance Is Set By Guard Companies

The two National Guard companies here will sponsor a March of Dimes dance in the State Armory Saturday, January 26.

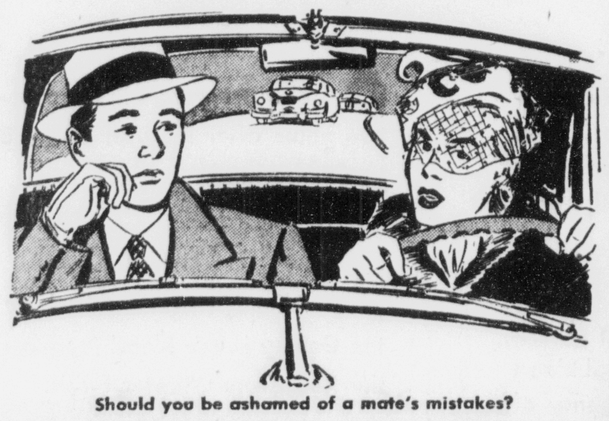
A stage show will be presented. Bill Higgs and his Melody Rangers will furnish the music.

Headquarters and C Company, First Battalion, 115th Infantry Regiment, sponsored a similar dance at Christmas to gather toys and food for needy families.

Instead of the donations, money will be received as admissions this time, with all proceeds to go to the March of Dimes.

Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist



Should you be ashamed of a mate's mistakes?

Answer: You may not be able to help feeling embarrassed if your partner commits some serious offense against the rules of grammar or accepted good form, but at least be honest with yourself about it. You are not "embarrassed for him," but for yourself. Your shame means that for the moment your own self-esteem—as affected by "what people will think"—has become more important to you than your love for your mate or your recognition of the qualities for which you love him. But don't let the injury to your ego drive you to even worse breach of good manners of correcting him in public.

Are gamblers and alcoholics alike?

Answer: Yes. Gambling and alcoholism form a "triad" of neurotic patterns with superstition, writes Dr. Iago Galston in Mental Hygiene. All three are based on what he calls "precausal" thinking—that is, thinking in the way a child does before he has learned to recognize the law of cause and effect. The gambler, the alcoholic and the superstitious person all believe that good fotune may come, or the consequences of their mistakes be averted by the intervention of some unseen and capricious power ("Lady Luck," for instance) if they can but gain its favor. Inconsistent parents prevent a child's learning to think realistically.

Does tension make workers inefficient?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. H. Graham Ross, summarizing the conclusions of a Canadian seminar on "Tensional States in Industry." Tense or anxious feelings on the part of workers are responsible for a large share of inefficiency, absenteeism, accidents and psychosomatic illness. Such states may be caused by personal problems outside of the business, but may also result from the nature of the job, the inconsistency of workers or supervisors, and especially from the uneasiness of those workers who are nearing the age of retirement and are conscious of their limitations and their insecure position.

STAG LINES for men

by Bert Bacharach

Flannel—For Any Occasion

The Basic Suit

FASHION: The single-breasted flannel suit, good for any occasion, is still the basic outfit in many a wardrobe. In gray flannel with long-roll lapels, spread-collar shirts and knit ties, the comedy team of Noonan and Marshall achieve a happy informal informality.

In the Mail: "Are tuxedos proper for a noon wedding?" Answer—It's best not to wear them to any ceremony starting before 6 o'clock in the evening.

Spot Removing: Here's how to remove various species of stain from washable fabrics: Lipstick and rouge—Sponge the spot with carbon tetrachloride and wash in warm suds. . . . Liquor and soft drinks—Soak fresh stains in cool water, then wash in hot, soapy water. . . . Grease and oil—Rub stain with dry cake of soap, then wash fabric in warm suds.

Handyman: Always stand books upright on your shelves. Letting them lean strains the bindings, eventually leads to crippled books.
The colder the weather, the less efficient your battery. Service it often in the winter.

Grooming Note: Whether you want the barber to give you just a trim or a whole crew cut, instruct him to keep your hair-line close to your ears (1, above). A line leaving a bare zone between ear and hair gives that "barber college" or "just off the boat" look (2).

Gadgets: The "Handy Hannah" electric fireside blower, that plugs in anywhere. It will start a wood fire blazing in a jiffy. . . . For those who prefer not to have an electric car clock draining on the battery, there's a new self-windong "Car-Watch" that fastens to your steering wheel—and keeps running.

Robert Alda

Cinematics: Tyrone Power is one of the best-dressed men in movies, but he hadn't worn modern clothes in a picture for the past three years—until the recent "I'll Never Forget You." There he finally gets into modern dress—but sheds it in a few minutes.

Trends: Pocket watches are making a strong comeback in France and England, and a lesser recovery in this country. . . . Robert Alda's outfit as Gambler Sky Masterson in "Guys and Dolls" (at right), has given a new shot in the sleeve to the old dark-colored shirt and white tie fashion.

Pass the Cigars: This week to—just about the nicest, quietest and best-mannered personality in show business, Perry Como. I've never read a line of bad publicity about him, and never known him to deserve one.

Flannel—For Any Occasion

The Basic Suit

FASHION: The single-breasted flannel suit, good for any occasion, is still the basic outfit in many a wardrobe. In gray flannel with long-roll lapels, spread-collar shirts and knit ties, the comedy team of Noonan and Marshall achieve a happy informal informality.

In the Mail: "Are tuxedos proper for a noon wedding?" Answer—It's best not to wear them to any ceremony starting before 6 o'clock in the evening.

Spot Removing: Here's how to remove various species of stain from washable fabrics: Lipstick and rouge—Sponge the spot with carbon tetrachloride and wash in warm suds. . . . Liquor and soft drinks—Soak fresh stains in cool water, then wash in hot, soapy water. . . . Grease and oil—Rub stain with dry cake of soap, then wash fabric in warm suds.

Handyman: Always stand books upright on your shelves. Letting them lean strains the bindings, eventually leads to crippled books. To keep pictures permanently straight on wall, wind narrow adhesive tape around the hook. That way the picture wire won't slip. The colder the weather, the less efficient your battery. Service it often in the winter.

Grooming Note: Whether you want the barber to give you just a trim or a whole crew cut, instruct him to keep your hair-line close to your ears (1, above). A line leaving a bare zone between ear and hair gives that "barber college" or "just off the boat" look (2).

Gadgets: The "Handy Hannah" electric fireside blower, that plugs in anywhere. It will start a wood fire blazing in a jiffy. . . . For those who prefer not to have an electric ear clock draining on the battery, there's a new self-windong "Car-Watch" that fastens to your steering wheel—and keeps running.

Cinematics: Tyrone Power is one of the best-dressed men in movies, but he hadn't worn modern clothes in a picture for the past three years—until the recent "I'll Never Forget You." There he finally gets into modern dress—but sheds it in a few minutes.

Trends: Pocket watches are making a strong comeback in France and England, and a lesser recovery in this country. . . . Robert Alda's outfit as Gambler Sky Masterson in "Guys and Dolls" (at right), has given a new shot in the sleeve to the old dark-colored shirt and white tie fashion.

Robert Alda

Pass the Cigars: This week to—just about the nicest, quietest and best-mannered personality in show business, Perry Como. I've never read a line of bad publicity about him, and never known him to deserve one.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

S T I I U D L H S O X T F E S K S T H S
F O M O B N F K E F E S T H D H D L H K
H T L H O K G Q T X O—Z U H H K F.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: THOUGH THE MILLS OF GOD GRIND SLOWLY, YET THEY GRIND EXCEEDING SMALL—LONGFELLOW.

DEATHS and FUNERALS

STEPHEN B. THOMPSON

Stephen Blackmore Thompson, 84, died Tuesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Austin D. Twigg, Jr., Twiggtown, where he had made his home for five years.

Mr. Thompson was born July 5, 1867, son of the late Francis Marion and Susan (Daniels) Thompson, near Spencer, Roane County, W. Va.

After being graduated from Fairmont State Teachers College, he taught school for several years. He later became a cashier for Roane County Bank, Spencer. Mr. Thompson was the first president of Thompson Drug Co., Inc., founded in Ravenswood, W. Va., and later located in Parkersburg, where he retired a few years ago.

In Spencer, Mr. Thompson was treasurer of Methodist Church, a member of the Town Council and Board of Education, and county chairman of the Liberty Loan Drive of World War I.

His wife was the late Ida May (McMillan) Thompson. Besides his daughter, he is survived by one son, Capt. M. C. Thompson, inspector-instructor of the Naval Reserve Unit, Indianapolis, Ind.; one brother R. G. Thompson, Marion, Ohio seven grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

The body will remain at Hafer Funeral Home until 11 a. m. today when it will be sent to Vaughn Funeral Home, Parkersburg, for services tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. Interment will be in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Parkersburg.

PFC. ROSS SIMMONS

PARSONS — Lawrence Simmons of Blackman's Flats, near here has received word that the body of his son, Pfc. Ross Simmons, 22, has arrived in San Francisco, Calif., aboard the Marquette Victory and will be returned here for interment.

Pfc. Simmons was born here September 4, 1929, a son of Lawrence Simmons and the late Verna Delaney Simmons who died in 1949.

He was graduated from Parsons High School in 1947 and entered the service March 14, 1951. He received basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., and was sent to Korea in July, 1951, and killed in action November 22, 1951.

He is survived by his father, five brothers, Harry Simmons of Akron, O., Forrest here; S/Sgt. Hugh, of the U. S. Army Air Force in Washington, D. C., S/Sgt. Rodney, U. S. Army Air Force, Pheonix, Ariz., Cpl. Fred Simmons with the U. S. Army in Germany. Four sisters, Mrs. Jean Ellis of Detroit, Mich., Mrs. Erma Hedrick of Davis, Mrs. Mary Sturm and Ella Sue Simmons at home.

GRANDSTAFF RITES

WESTERNPORT—A funeral service for Mrs. Nannie Grandstaff was held yesterday afternoon at the Evangelical United Brethren Church, with Rev. Lee E. Sheaffer, pastor, officiating, assisted by Rev. William Good, pastor of Methodist Church, Capon Bridge, W. Va. Interment was in Philos Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Luther Warnick, Russell Fultz, Edward Fazenbaker, Oscar Cosner, Rymer Ferrell and Thomas Montgomery.

Flowerbearers, members of Auxiliary Unit of Victory Post No. 155, American Legion, were Mesdames Anna Baughman, Mollie Densmore, Marie Lyons, Patsie Broy, Josephine McBee, Mary Cueva, Lonora Beckman and Mary McGowan.

MRS. ESTHER WALSH

Services for Mrs. Esther Walsh, 78, of Baltimore, who died January 10 at her home, were held Saturday in Baltimore. A high mass was celebrated with Rev. William Hogan, St. Vincent's Seminary, Philadelphia, a brother of Mrs. Walsh, officiating.

Buoyant Market Registers Some Substantial Gains

NEW YORK, Jan. 16. (AP) — A buoyant market refused to remain submerged under selling pressure today and stocks popped up to register some substantial gains.

New York Central, up ⅜ at 20¼, led the list of 15 most active issues. There were three other rails on the list.

It was followed by Willys-Overland up ½ at 10, U. S. Steel up ¼ at 40, Southern Co. unchanged at 13, General Public Utilities up ⅛ at 21¼, Socony-Vacuum up 1 at 39⅛, and American & Foreign Power off ¼ at 1½, the only stock in that list to decline.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 30 cents at $100.30 with the industrial component up 30 cents, rails 60 cents, and utilities 10 cents.

Calumet & Hecla, tenth most active, was up ⅝ at 9⅞. In Washington the Defense Materials Procurement Agency disclosed a contract to pay the company 5 to 6 cents a pound subsidy for production of high-cost ore in order to keep sorely needed copper flowing into defense channels.

U. S. smelting gained 2¼ at 72¼, and Consolidated Copper Mines was the 13th most active issue up ⅛ at 11¾.

Other gainers included Atlantic Coast Line Railroad up 1¼ at 77½, Amerada Petroleum 2¾ at 154, Johns-Mansville 2¼ at 70, American Telephone ½ at 156⅛, American Smelting ⅝ at 47¼ and Texas Gulf Surphur 1⅛ at 107½.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHAT CAN YOU AFFORD?

HOW many stoppers have you left in the suit led by the defenders? That can be the key to the way you should play for the tricks you require to make your No Trump contract. With only one stopper remaining, you can't afford to use a trick-building method which would require you to lose two tricks to the opponents before you have yours set up. In that event, it is incumbent on you to seek for some means of possibly building enough tricks of your own while losing the lead only once.

(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	2 ♦	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	3 NT

South took the spade 4 lead with the K, being happy that the defense had picked a suit he stopped three times. The heart J to the A established four tricks for him in that suit. Those four plus the three in spades made seven, and he saw that he could build two more surely in diamonds by giving up tricks to the A and K. So, after he won the spade 6 return to the Q, he led the diamond 5 to the K. The returned spade J was won by the A, and South all of a sudden realized, too late, that he was almost surely doomed. As he led the diamond 7 he hoped that A was not held by the defender with the thirteenth spade. But it was. So after winning with his diamond A, West laid down the spade 8 for his side's fourth trick and led the club Q to the K and A for the setter.

When South saw the second spade lead, he should have considered the fact that he would have only one spade stopper remaining. Since diamonds could not be established without losing two tricks in the suit, he should have sought elsewhere for a way he might get two tricks without losing the lead twice. Clubs offered that chance, if the Q happened to be with West. He therefore should have won that second spade lead with the A so he could lead his club 4 to finesse the J. When that knocked out the A, the defenders could have scored two diamond tricks if they wished, but that would have made only four for them. If they then returned a spade to the Q, South could have tried to drop the club Q with the K. Success in that would have enabled him to go ahead then and complete his nine-trick contract.

Buoyant Market Registers Some Substantial Gains

NEW YORK, Jan. 16. (AP) — A buoyant market refused to remain submerged under selling pressure today and stocks popped up to register some substantial gains.

New York Central, up ¾ at 20¼, led the list of 15 most active issues. There were three other rails on the list.

It was followed by Willys-Overland up ½ at 10, U. S. Steel up ¼ at 40, Southern Co. unchanged at 13, General Public Utilities up ⅛ at 21¼, Socony-Vacuum up 1 at 39⅛, and American & Foreign Power off ¼ at 1½, the only stock in that list to decline.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 30 cents at $100.30 with the industrial component up 30 cents, rails 60 cents, and utilities 10 cents.

Calumet & Hecla, tenth most active, was up ⅝ at 9⅞. In Washington the Defense Materials Procurement Agency disclosed a contract to pay the company 5 to 6 cents a pound subsidy for production of high-cost ore in order to keep sorely needed copper flowing into defense channels.

U. S. smelting gained 2¼ at 72¼, and Consolidated Copper Mines was the 13th most active issue up ⅛ at 11¾.

Other gainers included Atlantic Coast Line Railroad up 1¼ at 77½, Amerada Petroleum 2¾ at 154, Johns-Manville 2¼ at 70, American Telephone ½ at 156⅛, American Smelting ⅝ at 47¼ and Texas Gulf Surphur 1⅛ at 107½.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHAT CAN YOU AFFORD?

HOW many stoppers have you left in the suit led by the defenders? That can be the key to the way you should play for the tricks you require to make your No Trump contract. With only one stopper remaining, you can't afford to use a trick-building method which would require you to lose two tricks to the opponents before you have yours set up. In that event, it is incumbent on you to seek for some means of possibly building enough tricks of your own while losing the lead only once.

2 ♣	Pass	2 ♦	Pass

South took the spade 4 lead with the K, being happy that the defense had picked a suit he stopped three times. The heart J to the A established four tricks for him in that suit. Those four plus the three in spades made seven, and he saw that he could build two more surely in diamonds by giving up tricks to the A and K. So, after he won the spade 6 return to the Q, he led the diamond 5 to the K. The returned spade J was won by the A, and South all of a sudden realized, too late, that he was almost surely doomed. As he led the diamond 7 he hoped that A was not held by the defender with the thirteenth spade. But it was. So after winning with his diamond A, West laid down the spade 8 for his side's fourth trick and led the club Q to the K and A for the setter.

When South saw the second spade lead, he should have considered the fact that he would have only one spade stopper remaining. Since diamonds could not be established without losing two tricks in the suit, he should have sought elsewhere for a way he might get two tricks without losing the lead twice. Clubs offered that chance, if the Q happened to be with West. He therefore should have won that second spade lead with the A so he could lead his club 4 to finesse the J. When that knocked out the A, the defenders could have scored two diamond tricks if they wished, but that would have made only four for them. If they then returned a spade to the Q, South could have tried to drop the club Q with the K. Success in that would have enabled him to go ahead then and complete his nine-trick contract.

DEATHS and FUNERALS

STEPHEN B. THOMPSON

Stephen Blackmore Thompson, 84, died Tuesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Austin D. Twigg, Jr., Twiggtown, where he had made his home for five years.

Mr. Thompson was born July 5, 1867, son of the late Francis Marion and Susan (Daniels) Thompson, near Spencer, Roane County, W. Va.

After being graduated from Fairmont State Teachers College, he taught school for several years. He later became a cashier for Roane County Bank, Spencer. Mr. Thompson was the first president of Thompson Drug Co., Inc., founded in Ravenswood, W. Va., and later located in Parkersburg, where he retired a few years ago.

In Spencer, Mr. Thompson was treasurer of Methodist Church, a member of the Town Council and Board of Education, and county chairman of the Liberty Loan Drive of World War I.

His wife was the late Ida May (McMillan) Thompson. Besides his daughter, he is survived by one son, Capt. M. C. Thompson, inspector-instructor of the Naval Reserve Unit, Indianapolis, Ind.; one brother R. G. Thompson, Marion, Ohio seven grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

The body will remain at Hafer Funeral Home until 11 a. m. today when it will be sent to Vaughn Funeral Home, Parkersburg, for services tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. Interment will be in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Parkersburg.

Buoyant Market Registers Some Substantial Gains

NEW YORK, Jan. 16. (AP) — A buoyant market refused to remain submerged under selling pressure today and stocks popped up to register some substantial gains.

New York Central, up ¾ at 20¼, led the list of 15 most active issues. There were three other rails on the list.

It was followed by Willys-Overland up ½ at 10, U. S. Steel up ¼ at 40, Southern Co. unchanged at 13, General Public Utilities up ⅛ at 21¼, Socony-Vacuum up 1 at 39⅛, and American & Foreign Power off ¼ at 1½, the only stock in that list to decline.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 30 cents at $100.30 with the industrial component up 30 cents, rails 60 cents, and utilities 10 cents.

Calumet & Hecla, tenth most active, was up ⅝ at 9⅞. In Washington the Defense Materials Procurement Agency disclosed a contract to pay the company 5 to 6 cents a pound subsidy for production of high-cost ore in order to keep sorely needed copper flowing into defense channels.

U. S. smelting gained 2¼ at 72¼, and Consolidated Copper Mines was the 13th most active issue up ⅛ at 11⅜.

Other gainers included Atlantic Coast Line Railroad up 1¼ at 77½, Amerada Petroleum 2¾ at 154, Johns-Mansville 2¼ at 70, American Telephone ½ at 156⅛, American Smelting ⅝ at 47¼ and Texas Gulf Surphur 1⅛ at 107½.

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHAT CAN YOU AFFORD?

HOW many stoppers have you left in the suit led by the defenders? That can be the key to the way you should play for the tricks you require to make your No Trump contract. With only one stopper remaining, you can't afford to use a trick-building method which would require you to lose two tricks to the opponents before you have yours set up. In that event, it is incumbent on you to seek for some means of possibly building enough tricks of your own while losing the lead only once.

South took the spade 4 lead with the K, being happy that the defense had picked a suit he stopped three times. The heart J to the A established four tricks for him in that suit. Those four plus the three in spades made seven, and he saw that he could build two more surely in diamonds by giving up tricks to the A and K. So, after he won the spade 6 return to the Q, he led the diamond 5 to the K. The returned spade J was won by the A, and South all of a sudden realized, too late, that he was almost surely doomed. As he led the diamond 7 he hoped that A was not held by the defender with the thirteenth spade. But it was. So after winning with his diamond A, West laid down the spade 8 for his side's fourth trick and led the club Q to the K and A for the setter.

When South saw the second spade lead, he should have considered the fact that he would have only one spade stopper remaining. Since diamonds could not be established without losing two tricks in the suit, he should have sought elsewhere for a way he might get two tricks without losing the lead twice. Clubs offered that chance, if the Q happened to be with West. He therefore should have won that second spade lead with the A so he could lead his club 4 to finesse the J. When that knocked out the A, the defenders could have scored two diamond tricks if they wished, but that would have made only four for them. If they then returned a spade to the Q, South could have tried to drop the club Q with the K. Success in that would have enabled him to go ahead then and complete his nine-trick contract.

Bookie May Recover Some Equipment

Judge Harris Grants Petition

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday decided that office equipment not primarily designed for gambling but apparently used for that purpose should legally be returned to the convicted bookmaker who had it in his possession.

Two telephones, an adding machine and an inner-communication system will be returned to Raymond H. Goss, Judge Harris decided yesterday after discussing conflicting arguments and studying law in the matter for several hours.

Petition Filed

Yesterday's hearing in Allegany County Circuit Court, was on a petition which Goss, through Attorney William L. Wilson, Jr., had filed in court last month.

The equipment in question was seized last March 17 by former Detective Lt. Edwin R. Lilya in a raid on the Potomac News Company office on North Mechanic Street. It has been in custody of Sheriff Edward R. Muir.

Goss was convicted of a bookmaking charge last April. After the conviction was upheld by the Maryland Court of Appeals, Goss paid his fine and served a sentence in County Jail.

Present Decisions

Assistant State's Attorney William H. Geppert and Wilson presented several decisions handed down in similar cases by the Maryland Court of Appeals.

Wilson pointed out that the two phones were hooked up to wall plugs by jacks, the loud speaker system was only partially uncrated, and the adding machine had been picked up at a local office supply concern only two hours before the raid.

One case presented by counsel was in a decision governing whisky, legally stamped, being hauled through Maryland. The trucker did not have a permit, and a magistrate ordered the whisky confiscated. However, the appeals court ruled that the whisky was not contraband and could not be destroyed or confiscated.

Another decision declared that devices or equipment designed for gambling are contraband and must be destroyed. Pinball and slot machines, roulette wheels fall into this category, Wilson argued.

For Other Purposes

But adding machines, telephones or speaker systems could all be used for a multitude of purposes other than gambling, Wilson contended. They are not covered in the law as gaming devices, he added.

Geppert argued the equipment was being used for gambling and if there is a conviction on this offense, it should be ruled contraband and confiscated.

The General Assembly enacted a law recently that all money confiscated and declared contraband is to be turned over to the treasurer of the county in which it is seized.

Collectors Will Aid Taxpayers

Deputy collectors of Internal Revenue Service will visit Cumberland for the purpose of assisting taxpayers in filing income tax returns for 1951 and estimates for 1952.

The collectors, according to Richard J. Stakem, division chief of the local bureau office, will arrive February 4 and remain until March 17.

Lonaconing Post Office, February 4; Westernport Post Office, February 5-6; Grantsville American Legion Home, February 7; Mt. Savage Fire Hall, February 8; Oakland Post Office, February 11-12; Crellin, Stanley Coal Company, February 13; Frostburg City Hall, February 14-15 and Luke, Devon Club, February 18-21.

Criminal Trials Set For Monday, Tuesday

Criminal trials in the current term of Allegany County Circuit Court have been docketed for next Monday and Tuesday by Associate Judges George Henderson and Morgan C. Harris.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher has expressed hopes that all of the criminal trials can be completed on the two days. However, next Wednesday also is being held open in case of delay.

Weather

A balmy interlude in another chilly chapter of Winter seemed about to come to a close last night as the mercury began to go down—and down. The high was only 55, the low a cool 38, and the Weather Bureau forecast showers and temperatures no higher than 45 to 50 degrees today. But even that would seem more easy to take than the near-record cold of a few weeks ago. The humidity at 6 p. m. yesterday was 41 per cent.

Heavy Truck Plunges Into Greene Street Building

Triplett's Studio-Residence Damaged By Crash

A two-ton flatbed truck, operated by John Hardinger, 39, RFD No. 2, employe of the John I. Vandegrift Company, plunged into the residence-photographic studio of George W. Triplett, 112 Greene Street, yesterday at 11:15 a. m.

HEADS BAR GROUP — Julius E. Schindler, 783 Fayette Street, has been elected president of the Allegany County Bar Association. Educated at the University of Maryland and National University Law School in Washington, he has been practicing law here since 1929.

The driver and Triplett's mother-in-law, Mrs. Alice E. Staniforth, who was in the structure at the time, escaped injury. The brakes, according to Hardinger, "let down" at the Dingle.

Triplett has operated the studio for the past two years after being furloughed from the Amcelle plant. Last night he estimated damages to his studio equipment in excess of $2,000. Damages to the truck was estimated at about $800. Mrs. Edith Wood Porter, 213 Washington Street, owner of the building, could not be reached last night concerning damage to the structure.

Hardinger, who was coming to Cumberland from the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory for freight, said the brakes on the two-ton flatbed truck "let down" at the Dingle Circle and he was unable to get it into gear.

A left turn was attempted at Smallwood Street, according to police, but a car blocked the path of the truck so the driver swerved to the left sidewalk and scraped against a wall for several feet. Hardinger said he purposely rammed the building to avoid hitting "three or four cars and killing someone" at the traffic light of the Johnson Street intersection.

Triplett said the studio furnishings and photographic equipment were demolished. He had been working a short time before at a desk which was knocked about 18 feet across the room by the impact. He said he had gone downtown and when he was returning saw the truck plunge into building. An adjuster from an insurance firm will estimate the overall damage today, Triplett said.

Investigating the accident were Officers Joseph H. Stitcher and Louis D. Downey. No charges were preferred.

Widows, Children Collect $155,000

After 15 years of operation, old-age and survivors insurance is paying about $155,000 in monthly benefits to about 4700 retired workers, widows and children in the area served by the Cumberland field office according to James S. Getty, manager.

This area consists of Allegany and Garrett counties in Maryland and Grant, Hardy, Hampshire, Mineral and Pendleton counties in West Virginia.

Since 1940, the year in which monthly benefits were first paid, the monthly benefits have increased on a nationwide basis from about 35 million dollars for 1949, to $1.9 billion for the year which ended December 31, 1951.

Getty said this came about through the increase in payments to individuals and the lowering of the work requirements for qualifying for benefits.

It was noted that this Social Security program now affects more people in this area than any other family security program, either private or public.

With the recent changes made regarding coverage for the self-employed, regular farm workers, domestic workers, state employes and others it will mean in years to come that nearly everyone in this country will have a stake in the old-age and survivors insurance program.

Already 85 million people or well over half the total living population have made tax contributions and three out of every four workers or self-employed persons are now covered by this law.

Labor Group Elects Tonight

The Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference will hold its annual election tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Trades Council Hall, Frederick Street.

Nominees, selected at the last meeting include Lester McGill of the Textile Workers, president; Joseph H. Humbertson of the Machinists, first vice-president; Edwin C. Hoffman, of the trainmen second vice president; Paul C. Burley, representing the Bus Drivers, secretary-treasurer; Franklin Warnick of the Rubber Workers, Wayne Ritchie of the Paper Workers and C. E. Stutzman of the Teamsters, trustees.

Stutzman, now president, said other nominations may be made from the floor prior to the balloting and each affiliated local union is urged to have representation at the meeting.

Labor's part in the coming city election will also be on tonight's agenda for discussion, Burley, present secretary stated.

Four Nominees Withdraw From TWUA Election

Balloting Slated January 21-23

Four nominees have withdrawn their names in the annual election of officers of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), which will be held here January 21 to 23.

Officials said the declinations were made by Lester McGill, a candidate for vice president; William Atkinson, Executive Board; James McGann, Board of Trustees, and William Gordon, Auditing Committee.

A heavy slate, including six candidates for the position of president, and four for vice president remains and will probably mean that a run off will be held, since candidates must receive a majority of votes cast to be elected.

Big Slate Left

Candidates for president are Playford Aldridge, the incumbent; Homer Berry, William Gordon, James Martin, Earl Snyder and James Stewart.

Nominees for vice president are Howard Bush, incumbent; William Atkinson, George Harris and Carl Ryan.

John G. Thomas, incumbent secretary-treasurer and business agent, and Melvin Harris have been nominated for that position.

Nominees for the executive board are Lillian Burch, Robert Baker, John Fogle, Lindley Dye, Irvin Lewis, George Lyons, Walter Mahaney, Ira McBride, Lester McGill, Thomas Powers, Ralph Skelly, Neil Toey and William Thompson. Five will be elected.

Three members of the board of trustees will be elected from the following candidates, James Boyland, Roy T. Craze, Lee Emerson, Charles E. Jones, Edward Joyce, James Roby and Carl Sherman.

Nominees for the auditing committee are Walter Hymes, James McGann and Francis P. Philpot. Three are to be elected.

Francis Harvey is unopposed for warden.

Sign Affidavits

Meanwhile, candidates have been busy signing loyalty oaths to be sent to the National Labor Relations Board if they are elected.

Candidates must swear they are not members of the Communist party or affiliated with such party and do not support any organization which believes in or teaches the overthrow of the United States Government by force or illegal methods.

Signing of such oaths before one's name may be placed on the ballot was ordered by the membership several years ago after several candidates refused to sign the loyalty pledges.

Balloting will be held at the union booth and at cafeterias at the Amcelle plant. Polls at the union hall will be open daily from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Slates have again been prohibited by the Executive Board, which ruled any candidate whose name appears on a slate will be disqualified.

Naval Reserve OCS Program Underway Here

Applications Accepted At Local Armory

Applications for the Navy Reserve Officer Candidate program are now being accepted, Lt. Commander W. E. Woodson, Jr., inspector-instructor at the local U. S. Naval Reserve Training Center, announced yesterday.

Woodson said the program offers the opportunity for a commission as Ensign in the Naval Reserve.

The program is open to any reservist, male or female, who is presently attending and in good standing in an accredited college or junior college, Woodson pointed out.

He emphasized, however, that the program is not open to seniors due to the time required for the completion of training.

Applications will be received at the local Naval Reserve Training Center for preliminary processing and forwarding to the Commandant, Fifth Naval District.

Final selection for enrollment is made by the Naval Bureau of Personnel, Washington, Woodson explained, and is based on the following factors:

Officer aptitude, scholastic rating, course being taken in college, membership in the Naval Reserve, previous active duty and length of time before reaching eligibility for appointment to commissioned grade.

If selected, Woodson said, the candidate must maintain his scholastic standing and must receive passing grades at the ROC Summer School. He will also receive a draft deferment until he receives his commission or is disenrolled from the program by any reason.

Woodson pointed out, that candidates will be ordered to take two summer training periods of six weeks duration at the ROC School. These training periods include intensive instruction in seamanship, navigation, ordnance and naval orientation.

Street Barrier Burns

South End firemen were called to the 500 block of Oldtown Road at 9:42 p. m. yesterday when a smudge pot at a street construction project was upset and ignited a wooden street barrier. There was no serious damage.

Blast Victim To Be Buried This Morning

A 12-year-old boy who died after dynamite caps exploded in his hands Sunday will be buried this morning as his younger brother and another boy continue their fight for life.

A reqieum high mass will be conducted at 9 a. m. in St. Patrick's Catholic Church for Arthur William "Mickey" Wolf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo A. Wolf of Corriganville.

Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor, will be celebrant.

The entire student body of St. Patrick's Parochial School, where Mickey was an Eighth Grade pupil, will turn out for the funeral.

Uniformed members of the church-sponsored Boy Scout troop will be pallbearers, and burial will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

At Memorial Hospital last night, Mickey's 10-year-old brother, Paul James "Pinky" Wolf, was reported slightly improved but still serious.

The third boy, Paul William Bennett, 13, was still in critical condition. Both boys lost their right legs and face partial blindness as a result of the explosion.

County and state authorities said they are still investigating.

One-Way Traffic Plan To Start In North End

Three Streets Figure In Setup

One-way traffice will be established on three North End streets for a 30-day trial beginning Friday, according to Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long.

Commissioner Long said that he and Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, streets commissioner, had discussed the plan and agreed to give it a trial.

North-bound traffic will use Independence and Walnut Streets between Bedford and Valley Streets under the new arrangement. South-bound traffic will be routed over Columbia Street from Valley to Bedford Street.

Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn said last night necessary arrangements to start the trial will be completed today.

Guy M. Davis, president of the Cumberland Transit Lines, observed that the change will necessitate a rerouting of buses on the Shriver Avenue line when traveling toward Baltimore Street. Shriver Avenue buses have traveled over Independence and Walnut Streets in both directions. Now in-bound buses will use Columbia Street.

Buses often are delayed in traveling the route along Independence Street, especially when automobiles are parked on both sides of the street. Only one lane for moving traffic remains when parked cars fill the other two lanes. Vehicles constantly weave in and out of traffic along Independence Street.

Fifth Indictment Involves Payment

A fifth indictment arising from allegedly false statements in obtaining aid from the Allegany County Welfare Board was placed on the open docket in Circuit Court yesterday.

Evelyn L. Wilson of the George's Creek area was charged with aiding and abetting a man to obtain Old Age Assistance and Aid To Dependent Children by means of a wilfully false statement. A total of $130 was obtained through the statement, the indictment charges.

Eighteen of the 22 indictments returned by the grand jury last week now are on the open docket.

Board Of Education Hears Statistics

Bowman's Addition Shows Record Low Fire Loss In '51

Bowman's Addition Volunteer Fire Company completed the year 1951 with the lowest community fire loss in its history as well as in the entire area.

A report, completed by Fire Chief Leo C. Emerick, shows fire loss in the community totaling only $150 for the year. The company answered a total of 14 alarms. Three of these were calls to assist other communities, seven were grass firse and four were in dwellings.

A total of 103 men responded to the alarms for an average of seven men per run.

In addition, 17 fire drills were held during the year, three of these with other communities.

The company also purchased $1,200 worth of new hose, adapters and extinguishers during the year and Emerick added, 10 members are taking firemen's training courses.

Chief Emerick attributed the low fire loss last year to a program of property inspections and education of residents toward the elimination of fire hazards, along with a fine spirit of cooperation in the entire community and promptness with which firemen answer alarms.

Sale Of Torch Sweaters In City Continues

Police Recover Eight Garments

Sales of highly inflammable "torch" sweaters continued in Cumberland yesterday despite police efforts and publicity aimed at curbing the dangerous racket.

So far, eight of the combustible brushed rayon garments have been turned over to City Police by people who bought them from sidewalk peddlers and later realized they had been duped.

Several other residents have reported buying the sweaters but have disposed of them. Some are still holding onto the sweaters.

Out-Of-State Peddlers

Yesterday morning, a local man reported he bought one of the garments from a man in a service station. The peddler's car had a Pennsylvania license, he said.

Up to now, police have made no arrests. In every case, the sweaters have been sold by men who drove cars with out-of-state license plates.

Most were sold at garages and service stations or in other places of business.

The salesmen at first asked about $35 for a single sweater or a cardigan-sleeveless combination. They later let themselves be talked down to $6 to $8, made the sales and left.

City firemen tested one sweater a few days ago. In seconds, a match reduced it to a pile of ashes and twisted buttons.

Many Burned

Several persons who bought the "spun rayon" sweaters on the West Coast were seriously burned when the garments caught fire.

Wide publicity of incidents led to hundreds of reports of sales in other parts of the country.

Last night, Circuit Court Clerk Joseph E. Boden said hawkers or peddlers who fail to take out required licenses, which cost $100.50 a year, are subject to imprisonment for one to 10 years. He said no such licenses have been issued for some time.

Legal In Baltimore

Whether or not the sale of combustible garments would be legal if a peddler had obtained a permit is another question.

In Baltimore yesterday, fire officials said the city's fire code applied only to inflammable goods stored in warehouses or stores.

Two salesmen arrested in Baltimore Saturday were fined $250 each for peddling the sweaters without licenses, but charges of violating the fire code were dismissed.

Anderson's Condition Is Still Grave

Police were still holding his petite, 28-year-old wife, Mae, after she allegedly admitted shooting him during an argument Monday night.

Yesterday, doctors at Miners Hospital, Frostburg, probed and found the .32 calibre slug still lodged in the base of Anderson's skull.

Anderson's physicians said he stands a good chance to live if he can survive for about a week. He has been receiving food intravenously since the shooting.

Meanwhile, his despondent wife remained in County Jail after visiting him at the hospital Tuesday. No formal charge has been filed against her, pending outcome of Anderson's wound.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya and State Trooper First Class William F. Baker said Mrs. Anderson had signed a statement admitting she shot her husband because he heckled her about household trouble.

Father, Daughter Are Reunited After 20 Years

A father and his daughter separated 20 years were reunited as the result of a story appearing recently in the Cumberland NEWS.

The newspaper was informed by attaches of Newton D. Baker Hospital at Martinsburg, W. Va. that a Clarence W. Fazenbaker, 63, of Westernport, was a medical patient there and efforts were being made to locate a daughter, Mrs. Bertie Cosner.

Fazenbaker was reported suffering from frozen feet and was in serious condition. A clipping from the paper which appeared on December 29 was received by Mrs. Cosner, who formerly lived in Westernport and had moved to Baltimore.

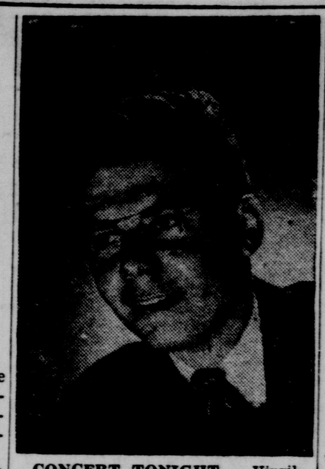
She visited her father recently and his condition is reported as improved although several toes were removed due to gangrene. Mr. and Mrs. Luther Cosner and son Luther, Jr., Laurel, also visited Fazenbaker.

Woman Sentenced

Georgia Moreland, Goethe Street, yesterday was sentenced by Magistrate Alban C. Thompson in Juvenile Court to two years in the Maryland Reformatory For Women at Jessups.

The woman was convicted of contributing to the delinquency of her six-year old daughter, allegedly by failure to provide for the child's needs.

Steps are being taken to place the child in a foster home.



CONCERT TONIGHT — Virgil Fox, organist, at Riverside Church, New York City, will present a concert tonight at 8:30 o'clock at Centre Street Methodist Church under sponsorship of the Cumberland Choral Society. He arrived here yesterday afternoon from Youngstown, Ohio.

City Workers Begin Clean Up Job On Streets

Dirt And Cinders Will Be Removed

The Street Department last night began work on the biggest street cleaning job to be undertaken here since last spring.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, said the department will utilize the present clear weather to remove as much as possible of the dirt and cinders which have accumulated since the heavy snows hit here in mid December.

She said the department realizes the streets have become very dirty and that at least something can be done to remedy the condition before the weather takes a turn for the worse.

Clean Downtown Area

Operation Clean Up began late last night when crews hit the downtown area with the mechanical street sweeper.

She said Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long had ordered his men to flush the accumulated dirt off downtown streets with fire hoses and to aid in clearing parked cars from the streets to be cleaned.

Firemen said last night they were starting at midnight to flush Bedford, Frederick, Centre, Mechanic, Liberty and Baltimore Streets.

Slated to be cleaned today are Greene, Washington and Fayette Streets.

Mrs. Roeder said she will ask Commissioner Long if West Side firemen can cooperate by flushing the streets in that area.

Friday's area includes Henderson Boulevard, Williams Street, Hill Top Drive and Park Street.

Requires Hand Work

Mrs. Roeder said the work will be slow since it will require hand labor where cinder deposits are heavy.

Flushing the streets, she explained, is a debatable issue, and the department about a year ago advised against the use of fire hoses. One of the objections, she said, was that the water would overtax the storm sewer system.

She said she feels the completion of the pressure conduits built in connection with the Flood Control project will provide adequate capacity to take care of the additional water.

Jaycee Membership Campaign To Begin Here Next Week

The 1952 Membership Drive of the Junior Association of Commerce will get underway next week, Robert Barnard, chairman, announced yesterday.

The campaign will be in effect for about three months with final reports at a meeting of the Jaycees in April at which time awards will be given members who get the most new candidates.

Several letters of thanks were read from contestants of the "Voice Of Democracy" at a meeting of the Board of Directors last night at the Jaycee office.

The organization also received an invitation to the annual Community Chest dinner meeting which will be held on January 25 at Centre Street Methodist Church. Other routine business was discussed at last night's session. The next regular meeting will be held on February 6 at the Jaycee office.

Woman, Hit By Car, Is Hospitalized

Mrs. Anna K. Mitchell, 63, of 226 Harrison Street, remains in good condition at Memorial Hospital, where she was admitted last Monday after being struck by an automobile at Virginia Avenue and King Street.

Police said Mrs. Mitchell stepped from the curb into the path of a car driven by Samuel Brown, 19, of Valley Road. No charges were preferred against Brown.

Mrs. Mitchell sustained a hip fracture.

Births

Memorial Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Galen Houdyshell, 327 Race Street, a daughter yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Stump, of Romney, W. Va., a daughter yesterday morning.

Rieve Appeals For Change In Dyehouse Plan

Asks Modernization Of Amcelle Unit

Emil Rieve, general president of the Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, said yesterday that the decision of Celanese Corporation to close the dyehouse at the Amcelle plant "is typical of the company's continued, cold-hearted indifference to the welfare of the community which has nutured it for 27 years."

In a special message to TWUA Local 1874, Rieve said he was doing everything in his power to bring about a change in the company's decision, announced last week.

"However, I do not want to raise any false hopes," he added. "As far as I can determine, there is no way in which the company can be prevented in taking this step if it insists upon doing so.

"But from the moral standpoint, the issue is clear. The Celanese Corporation is wiping out another 525 jobs in Cumberland, which has for several years been a distressed area, primarily because of previous discharges by this same company.

"Our union has never argued that Celanese should retain workers it does not need, and we do not argue this now. Nor do we propose to inject ourselves into the question of management's judgment on what it should or should not produce.

"Neither of these points is involved in the present case. As I understand the company's statement, it plans to continue a certain amount of dyeing and finishing. But it is going to perform this work in Hopewell, Va., rather than in Cumberland.

"I am sure that the members of your union share with me the wish that the citizens of Hopewell will always be able to find jobs at good wages. At the same time, it seems obvious to me that common humanity and a sense of fair play would lead to the conclusion that if a choice must be made, the Cumberland unit should be kept in operation.

"Hopewell, unlike Cumberland, is not a distressed area. Other jobs are available there. It has not suffered, as Cumberland has, from a steady shrinkage of employment opportunities in the Celanese Corporation.

"Under these circumstances the company's action is even more cold-blooded than the customary behavior of big corporations. Considering the tremendous profits earned by Celanese Corporation over many years, including the present, the least it could do is modernize the Amcelle dyehouse, if necessary, and carry on its remaining finishing work here.

I assure you again that your international union will do whatever possible to bring this about.

Union Asks Firm To Modernize Dyehouse Here

Playford Aldridge, president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, (CIO), yesterday asked the Celanese Corporation to use the $500,000 it will pay in severance allowances to dyehouse workers hare as an investment fund to modernize the dyeing and finishing plant and keep it running.

"In announcing its plan to close the dyehouse, the company claimed that the Hopewell, Va., plant is more modern," Aldridge pointed out. "At the same time, the company said it had set aside $400,000 to pay displacement allowances to the workers.

"Actually, the sum needed for displacement pay will almost certainly be much higher. The company's estimate that 400 jobs will be lost is more than conservative. There are 424 hourly-paid workers on the dyehouse seniority lists, and at least another 100 workers in other departments will be dropped if the dyehouse is closed. Therefore, I would say that $500,000 will be needed to pay them off.

"The Celanese Corporation could easily use this money to make the Amcelle dyehouse the equal of that in Hopewell."

Alridge said he was shocked at the statement by Anthony Saeli, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, that the dyehouse closing "is in the best interests of the community."

"It's easy enough for Mr. Saeli to talk about the 'larger prespective'," Aldridge said. "The 'larger perspective' won't put food on the tables of more than 500 Cumberland families.

"Instead of presenting fancy and costly schemes for attracting new industries, Mr. Saeli ought to spend a little time trying to keep what we have."

Two Properties Sold For $13,000

Two properties were sold for a total of $13,000, according to deeds filed in the office of the clerk of Circuit Court.

Arnold C. Kight and Helen L. Kight sold property on Grand Avenue at Wendell Alley to Charles W. True and Bertha M. True for about $6,500. William P. Gray and Merla Gray sold property on the southeast side of McMullen Highway, two miles northeast of Dawson, to Dailey W. Shockey and Ida Rebecca Shockey for about $6,500.

Bookie May Recover Some Equipment

Judge Harris Grants Petition

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday decided that office equipment not primarily designed for gambling but apparently used for that purpose should legally be returned to the convicted bookmaker who had it in his possession.

Two telephones, an adding machine and an inner-communication system will be returned to Raymond H. Goss, Judge Harris decided yesterday after discussing conflicting arguments and studying law in the matter for several hours.

Petition Filed

Yesterday's hearing in Allegany County Circuit Court, was on a petition which Goss, through Attorney William L. Wilson, Jr., had filed in court last month.

The equipment in question was seized last March 17 by former Detective Lt. Edwin R. Lilya in a raid on the Potomac News Company office on North Mechanic Street. It has been in custody of Sheriff Edward R. Muir.

Goss was convicted of a bookmaking charge last April. After the conviction was upheld by the Maryland Court of Appeals, Goss paid his fine and served a sentence in County Jail.

Present Decisions

Assistant State's Attorney William H. Geppert and Wilson presented several decisions handed down in similar cases by the Maryland Court of Appeals.

Wilson pointed out that the two phones were hooked up to wall plugs by jacks, the loud speaker system was only partially uncrated, and the adding machine had been picked up at a local office supply concern only two hours before the raid.

One case presented by counsel was in a decision governing whisky, legally stamped, being hauled through Maryland. The trucker did not have a permit, and a magistrate ordered the whisky confiscated. However, the appeals court ruled that the whisky was not contraband and could not be destroyed or confiscated.

Another decision declared that devices or equipment designed for gambling are contraband and must be destroyed. Pinball and slot machines, roulette wheels fall into this category, Wilson argued.

For Other Purposes

But adding machines, telephones or speaker systems could all be used for a multitude of purposes other than gambling, Wilson contended. They are not covered in the law as gaming devices, he added.

Geppert argued the equipment was being used for gambling and if there is a conviction on this offense, it should be ruled contraband and confiscated.

The General Assembly enacted a law recently that all money confiscated and declared contraband is to be turned over to the treasurer of the county in which it is seized.

DAV OFFICERS INSTALLED—Officers of two Disabled American Veterans chapter were installed in joint ceremonies here last night. Placed in office were officers of Fort Washington Chapter, this city, and Braddock Chapter, Frostburg. The ceremonies were held at the DAV Home, 113 South Centre Street. Law, junior vice-commander; Paul F. Keller, treasurer, and Vernon Crable, judge advocate. Standing are Frostburg chapter officers. Left to right, they are Robert L. Johnson, chaplain; Joseph B. Hess, senior vice-commander; Harry L. Shoemake, commander; Thomas L. Williams, sergeant-at-arms; and Francis Rafferty, junior vice-commander.

Heavy Truck Plunges Into Greene Street Building

Triplett's Studio-Residence Damaged By Crash

A two-ton flatbed truck, operated by John Hardinger, 39, RFD No. 2, employe of the John I. Vandegrift Company, plunged into the residence-photographic studio of George W. Triplett, 112 Greene Street, yesterday at 11:15 a. m.

HEADS BAR GROUP — Julius E. Schindler, 783 Fayette Street, has been elected president of the Allegany County Bar Association. Educated at the University of Maryland and National University Law School in Washington, he has been practicing law here since 1929.

The driver and Triplett's mother-in-law, Mrs. Alice E. Staniforth, who was in the structure at the time, escaped injury. The brakes, according to Hardinger, "let down" at the Dingle.

Triplett has operated the studio for the past two years after being furloughed from the Amcelle plant. Last night he estimated damages to his studio equipment in excess of $2,000. Damages to the truck was estimated at about $800. Mrs. Edith Wood Porter, 213 Washington Street, owner of the building, could not be reached last night concerning damage to the structure.

Hardinger, who was coming to Cumberland from the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory for freight, said the brakes on the two-ton flatbed truck "let down" at the Dingle Circle and he was unable to get it into gear.

A left turn was attempted at Smallwood Street, according to police, but a car blocked the path of the truck so the driver swerved to the left sidewalk and scraped against a wall for several feet. Hardinger said he purposely rammed the building to avoid hitting "three or four cars and killing someone" at the traffic light of the Johnson Street intersection.

Triplett said the studio furnishings and photographic equipment were demolished. He had been working a short time before at a desk which was knocked about 18 feet across the room by the impact. He said he had gone downtown and when he was returning saw the truck plunge into building. An adjuster from an insurance firm will estimate the overall damage today, Triplett said.

Investigating the accident were Officers Joseph H. Stitcher and Louis D. Downey. No charges were preferred.

Widows, Children Collect $155,000

After 15 years of operation, old-age and survivors insurance is paying about $155,000 in monthly benefits to about 4700 retired workers, widows and children in the area served by the Cumberland field office according to James S. Getty, manager.

This area consists of Allegany and Garrett counties in Maryland and Grant, Hardy, Hampshire, Mineral and Pendleton counties in West Virginia.

Since 1940, the year in which monthly benefits were first paid, the monthly benefits have increased on a nationwide basis from about 35 million dollars for 1949, to $1.9 billion for the year which ended December 31, 1951.

Getty said this came about through the increase in payments to individuals and the lowering of the work requirements for qualifying for benefits.

It was noted that this Social Security program now affects more people in this area than any other family security program, either private or public.

With the recent changes made regarding coverage for the self-employed, regular farm workers, domestic workers, state employes and others it will mean in years to come that nearly everyone in this country will have a stake in the old-age and survivors insurance program.

Already 85 million people or well over half the total living population have made tax contributions and three out of every four workers or self-employed persons are now covered by this law.

Collectors Will Aid Taxpayers

Deputy collectors of Internal Revenue Service will visit Cumberland for the purpose of assisting taxpayers in filing income tax returns for 1951 and estimates for 1952.

The collectors, according to Richard J. Stakem, division chief of the local bureau office, will arrive February 4 and remain until March 17.

Lonaconing Post Office, February 4; Westernport Post Office, February 5-6; Grantsville American Legion Home, February 7; Mt. Savage Fire Hall, February 8; Oakland Post Office, February 11-12; Crellin, Stanley Coal Company, February 13; Frostburg City Hall, February 14-15 and Luke, Devon Club, February 18-21.

Criminal Trials Set For Monday, Tuesday

Criminal trials in the current term of Allegany County Circuit Court have been docketed for next Monday and Tuesday by Associate Judges George Henderson and Morgan C. Harris.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher has expressed hopes that all of the criminal trials can be completed on the two days. However, next Wednesday also is being held open in case of delay.

Weather

A balmy interlude in another chilly chapter of Winter seemed about to come to a close last night as the mercury began to go down—and down. The high was only 55, the low a cool 38, and the Weather Bureau forecast showers and temperatures no higher than 45 to 50 degrees today. But even that would seem more easy to take than the near-record cold of a few weeks ago. The humidity at 6 p. m. yesterday was 41 per cent.

Labor Group Elects Tonight

The Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference will hold its annual election tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Trades Council Hall, Frederick Street.

Nominees, selected at the last meeting include Lester McGill of the Textile Workers, president; Joseph H. Humbertson of the Machinists, first vice-president; Edwin C. Hoffman, of the trainmen second vice president; Paul C. Burley, representing the Bus Drivers, secretary-treasurer; Franklin Warnick of the Rubber Workers, Wayne Ritchie of the Paper Workers and C. E. Stutzman of the Teamsters, trustees.

Stutzman, now president, said other nominations may be made from the floor prior to the balloting and each affiliated local union is urged to have representation at the meeting.

Labor's part in the coming city election will also be on tonight's agenda for discussion, Burley, present secretary stated.

Four Nominees Withdraw From TWUA Election

Balloting Slated January 21-23

Four nominees have withdrawn their names in the annual election of officers of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), which will be held here January 21 to 23.

Officials said the declinations were made by Lester McGill, a candidate for vice president; William Atkinson, Executive Board; James McGann, Board of Trustees, and William Gordon, Auditing Committee.

A heavy slate, including six candidates for the position of president, and four for vice president remains and will probably mean that a run off will be held, since candidates must receive a majority of votes cast to be elected.

Candidates for president are Playford Aldridge, the incumbent; Homer Berry, William Gordon, James Martin, Earl Snyder and James Stewart.

Nominees for vice president are Howard Bush, incumbent; William Atkinson, George Harris and Carl Ryan.

John G. Thomas, incumbent secretary-treasurer and business agent, and Melvin Harris have been nominated for that position.

Nominees for the executive board are Lillian Burch, Robert Baker, John Fogle, Lindley Dye, Irvin Lewis, George Lyons, Walter Mahaney, Ira McBride, Lester McGill, Thomas Powers, Ralph Skelly, Neil Toey and William Thompson. Five will be elected.

Three members of the board of trustees will be elected from the following candidates, James Boyland, Roy T. Craze, Lee Emerson, Charles E. Jones, Edward Joyce, James Roby and Carl Sherman.

Nominees for the auditing committee are Walter Hymes, James McGann and Francis P. Philpot. Three are to be elected.

Sign Affidavits

Meanwhile, candidates have been busy signing loyalty oaths to be sent to the National Labor Relations Board if they are elected.

Candidates must swear they are not members of the Communist party or affiliated with such party and do not support any organization which believes in or teaches the overthrow of the United States Government by force or illegal methods.

Signing of such oaths before one's name may be placed on the ballot was ordered by the membership several years ago after several candidates refused to sign the loyalty pledges.

Balloting will be held at the union booth and at cafeterias at the Amcelle plant. Polls at the union hall will be open daily from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Slates have again been prohibited by the Executive Board, which ruled any candidate whose name appears on a slate will be disqualified.

Naval Reserve OCS Program Underway Here

Applications Accepted At Local Armory

Applications for the Navy Reserve Officer Candidate program are now being accepted, Lt. Commander W. E. Woodson, Jr., inspector-instructor at the local U. S. Naval Reserve Training Center, announced yesterday.

Woodson said the program offers the opportunity for a commission as Ensign in the Naval Reserve.

The program is open to any reservist, male or female, who is presently attending and in good standing in an accredited college or junior college, Woodson pointed out.

He emphasized, however, that the program is not open to seniors due to the time required for the completion of training.

Applications will be received at the local Naval Reserve Training Center for preliminary processing and forwarding to the Commandant, Fifth Naval District.

Final selection for enrollment is made by the Naval Bureau of Personnel, Washington, Woodson explained, and is based on the following factors:

Officer aptitude, scholastic rating, course being taken in college, membership in the Naval Reserve, previous active duty and length of time before reaching eligibility for appointment to commissioned grade.

If selected, Woodson said, the candidate must maintain his scholastic standing and must receive passing grades at the ROC Summer School. He will also receive a draft deferment until he receives his commission or is disenrolled from the program by any reason.

Woodson pointed out, that candidates will be ordered to take two summer training periods of six weeks duration at the ROC School. These training periods include intensive instruction in seamanship, navigation, ordnance and naval orientation.

Street Barrier Burns

South End firemen were called to the 500 block of Oldtown Road at 9:42 p. m. yesterday when a smudge pot at a street construction project was upset and ignited a wooden street barrier. There was no serious damage.

Blast Victim To Be Buried This Morning

A 12-year-old boy who died after dynamite caps exploded in his hands Sunday will be buried this morning as his younger brother and another boy continue their fight for life.

A reqieum high mass will be conducted at 9 a. m. in St. Patrick's Catholic Church for Arthur William "Mickey" Wolf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo A. Wolf of Corriganville.

Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor, will be celebrant.

The entire student body of St. Patrick's Parochial School, where Mickey was an Eighth Grade pupil, will turn out for the funeral.

At Memorial Hospital last night, Mickey's 10-year-old brother, Paul James "Pinky" Wolf, was reported slightly improved but still serious.

The third boy, Paul William Bennett, 13, was still in critical condition. Both boys lost their right legs and face partial blindness as a result of the explosion.

County and state authorities said they are still investigating.

One-Way Traffic Plan To Start In North End

Three Streets Figure In Setup

One-way traffice will be established on three North End streets for a 30-day trial beginning Friday, according to Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long.

Commissioner Long said that he and Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, streets commissioner, had discussed the plan and agreed to give it a trial.

North-bound traffic will use Independence and Walnut Streets between Bedford and Valley Streets under the new arrangement. South-bound traffic will be routed over Columbia Street from Valley to Bedford Street.

Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn said last night necessary arrangements to start the trial will be completed today.

Guy M. Davis, president of the Cumberland Transit Lines, observed that the change will necessitate a rerouting of buses on the Shriver Avenue line when traveling toward Baltimore Street. Shriver Avenue buses have traveled over Independence and Walnut Streets in both directions. Now in-bound buses will use Columbia Street.

Buses often are delayed in traveling the route along Independence Street, especially when automobiles are parked on both sides of the street. Only one lane for moving traffic remains when parked cars fill the other two lanes. Vehicles constantly weave in and out of traffic along Independence Street.

Fifth Indictment Involves Payment

A fifth indictment arising from allegedly false statements in obtaining aid from the Allegany County Welfare Board was placed on the open docket in Circuit Court yesterday.

Evelyn L. Wilson of the George's Creek area was charged with aiding and abetting a man to obtain Old Age Assistance and Aid To Dependent Children by means of a wilfully false statement. A total of $130 was obtained through the statement, the indictment charges.

Eighteen of the 22 indictments returned by the grand jury last week now are on the open docket.

Board Of Education Hears Statistics

Bowman's Addition Shows Record Low Fire Loss In '51

Bowman's Addition Volunteer Fire Company completed the year 1951 with the lowest community fire loss in its history as well as in the entire area.

A report, completed by Fire Chief Leo C. Emerick, shows fire loss in the community totaling only $150 for the year. The company answered a total of 14 alarms. Three of these were calls to assist other communities, seven were grass firse and four were in dwellings.

A total of 103 men responded to the alarms for an average of seven men per run.

In addition, 17 fire drills were held during the year, three of these with other communities.

The company also purchased $1,200 worth of new hose, adapters and extinguishers during the year and Emerick added, 10 members are taking firemen's training courses.

Chief Emerick attributed the low fire loss last year to a program of property inspections and education of residents toward the elimination of fire hazards, along with a fine spirit of cooperation in the entire community and promptness with which firemen answer alarms.

Sale Of Torch Sweaters In City Continues

Police Recover Eight Garments

Sales of highly inflammable "torch" sweaters continued in Cumberland yesterday despite police efforts and publicity aimed at curbing the dangerous racket.

So far, eight of the combustible brushed rayon garments have been turned over to City Police by people who bought them from sidewalk peddlers and later realized they had been duped.

Several other residents have reported buying the sweaters but have disposed of them. Some are still holding onto the sweaters.

Out-Of-State Peddlers

Yesterday morning, a local man reported he bought one of the garments from a man in a service station. The peddler's car had a Pennsylvania license, he said.

Up to now, police have made no arrests. In every case, the sweaters have been sold by men who drove cars with out-of-state license plates.

Most were sold at garages and service stations or in other places of business.

The salesmen at first asked about $35 for a single sweater or a cardigan-sleeveless combination. They later let themselves be talked down to $6 to $8, made the sales and left.

City firemen tested one sweater a few days ago. In seconds, a match reduced it to a pile of ashes and twisted buttons.

Many Burned

Several persons who bought the "spun rayon" sweaters on the West Coast were seriously burned when the garments caught fire.

Wide publicity of incidents led to hundreds of reports of sales in other parts of the country.

Last night, Circuit Court Clerk Joseph E. Boden said hawkers or peddlers who fail to take out required licenses, which cost $100.50 a year, are subject to imprisonment for one to 10 years. He said no such licenses have been issued for some time.

Legal In Baltimore

Whether or not the sale of combustible garments would be legal if a peddler had obtained a permit is another question.

In Baltimore yesterday, fire officials said the city's fire code applied only to inflammable goods stored in warehouses or stores.

Two salesmen arrested in Baltimore Saturday were fined $250 each for peddling the sweaters without licenses, but charges of violating the fire code were dismissed.

Anderson's Condition Is Still Grave

Police were still holding his petite, 28-year-old wife, Mae, after she allegedly admitted shooting him during an argument Monday night.

Yesterday, doctors at Miners Hospital, Frostburg, probed and found the .32 calibre slug still lodged in the base of Anderson's skull.

Anderson's physicians said he stands a good chance to live if he can survive for about a week. He has been receiving food intravenously since the shooting.

Meanwhile, his despondent wife remained in County Jail after visiting him at the hospital Tuesday. No formal charge has been filed against her, pending outcome of Anderson's wound.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya and State Trooper First Class William F. Baker said Mrs. Anderson had signed a statement admitting she shot her husband because he heckled her about household trouble.

Father, Daughter Are Reunited After 20 Years

A father and his daughter separated 20 years were reunited as the result of a story appearing recently in the Cumberland NEWS.

The newspaper was informed by attaches of Newton D. Baker Hospital at Martinsburg, W. Va. that a Clarence W. Fazenbaker, 63, of Westernport, was a medical patient there and efforts were being made to locate a daughter, Mrs. Bertie Cosner.

Fazenbaker was reported suffering from frozen feet and was in serious condition. A clipping from the paper which appeared on December 29 was received by Mrs. Cosner, who formerly lived in Westernport and had moved to Baltimore.

She visited her father recently and his condition is reported as improved although several toes were removed due to gangrene. Mr. and Mrs. Luther Cosner and son Luther, Jr., Laurel, also visited Fazenbaker.

Woman Sentenced

Georgia Moreland, Goethe Street, yesterday was sentenced by Magistrate Alban C. Thompson in Juvenile Court to two years in the Maryland Reformatory For Women at Jessups.

The woman was convicted of contributing to the delinquency of her six-year old daughter, allegedly by failure to provide for the child's needs.

Steps are being taken to place the child in a foster home.

CONCERT TONIGHT — Virgil Fox, organist, at Riverside Church, New York City, will present a concert tonight at 8:30 o'clock at Centre Street Methodist Church under sponsorship of the Cumberland Choral Society. He arrived here yesterday afternoon from Youngstown, Ohio.

City Workers Begin Clean Up Job On Streets

Dirt And Cinders Will Be Removed

The Street Department last night began work on the biggest street cleaning job to be undertaken here since last spring.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, said the department will utilize the present clear weather to remove as much as possible of the dirt and cinders which have accumulated since the heavy snows hit here in mid December.

She said the department realizes the streets have become very dirty and that at least something can be done to remedy the condition before the weather takes a turn for the worse.

Clean Downtown Area

She said Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long had ordered his men to flush the accumulated dirt off downtown streets with fire hoses and to aid in clearing parked cars from the streets to be cleaned.

Firemen said last night they were starting at midnight to flush Bedford, Frederick, Centre, Mechanic, Liberty and Baltimore Streets.

Slated to be cleaned today are Greene, Washington and Fayette Streets.

Mrs. Roeder said she will ask Commissioner Long if West Side firemen can cooperate by flushing the streets in that area.

Friday's area includes Henderson Boulevard, Williams Street, Hill Top Drive and Park Street.

Requires Hand Work

Mrs. Roeder said the work will be slow since it will require hand labor where cinder deposits are heavy.

Flushing the streets, she explained, is a debatable issue, and the department about a year ago advised against the use of fire hoses. One of the objections, she said, was that the water would overtax the storm sewer system.

She said she feels the completion of the pressure conduits built in connection with the Flood Control project will provide adequate capacity to take care of the additional water.

Jaycee Membership Campaign To Begin Here Next Week

The 1952 Membership Drive of the Junior Association of Commerce will get underway next week, Robert Barnard, chairman, announced yesterday.

The campaign will be in effect for about three months with final reports at a meeting of the Jaycees in April at which time awards will be given members who get the most new candidates.

Several letters of thanks were read from contestants of the "Voice Of Democracy" at a meeting of the Board of Directors last night at the Jaycee office.

The organization also received an invitation to the annual Community Chest dinner meeting which will be held on January 25 at Centre Street Methodist Church. Other routine business was discussed at last night's session. The next regular meeting will be held on February 6 at the Jaycee office.

Woman, Hit By Car, Is Hospitalized

Mrs. Anna K. Mitchell, 63, of 226 Harrison Street, remains in good condition at Memorial Hospital, where she was admitted last Monday after being struck by an automobile at Virginia Avenue and King Street.

Police said Mrs. Mitchell stepped from the curb into the path of a car driven by Samuel Brown, 19, of Valley Road. No charges were preferred against Brown.

Births

Memorial Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Galen Houdyshell, 327 Race Street, a daughter yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Stump, of Romney, W. Va., a daughter yesterday morning.

Rieve Appeals For Change In Dyehouse Plan

Asks Modernization Of Amcelle Unit

Emil Rieve, general president of the Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, said yesterday that the decision of Celanese Corporation to close the dyehouse at the Amcelle plant "is typical of the company's continued, cold-hearted indifference to the welfare of the community which has nutured it for 27 years."

In a special message to TWUA Local 1874, Rieve said he was doing everything in his power to bring about a change in the company's decision, announced last week.

"However, I do not want to raise any false hopes," he added. "As far as I can determine, there is no way in which the company can be prevented in taking this step if it insists upon doing so.

"But from the moral standpoint, the issue is clear. The Celanese Corporation is wiping out another 525 jobs in Cumberland, which has for several years been a distressed area, primarily because of previous discharges by this same company.

"Our union has never argued that Celanese should retain workers it does not need, and we do not argue this now. Nor do we propose to inject ourselves into the question of management's judgment on what it should or should not produce.

"Neither of these points is involved in the present case. As I understand the company's statement, it plans to continue a certain amount of dyeing and finishing. But it is going to perform this work in Hopewell, Va., rather than in Cumberland.

"I am sure that the members of your union share with me the wish that the citizens of Hopewell will always be able to find jobs at good wages. At the same time, it seems obvious to me that common humanity and a sense of fair play would lead to the conclusion that if a choice must be made, the Cumberland unit should be kept in operation.

"Hopewell, unlike Cumberland, is not a distressed area. Other jobs are available there. It has not suffered, as Cumberland has, from a steady shrinkage of employment opportunities in the Celanese Corporation.

"Under these circumstances the company's action is even more cold-blooded than the customary behavior of big corporations. Considering the tremendous profits earned by Celanese Corporation over many years, including the present, the least it could do is modernize the Amcelle dyehouse, if necessary, and carry on its remaining finishing work here.

I assure you again that your international union will do whatever possible to bring this about.

Union Asks Firm To Modernize Dyehouse Here

Playford Aldridge, president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, (CIO), yesterday asked the Celanese Corporation to use the $500,000 it will pay in severance allowances to dyehouse workers hare as an investment fund to modernize the dyeing and finishing plant and keep it running.

"In announcing its plan to close the dyehouse, the company claimed that the Hopewell, Va., plant is more modern," Aldridge pointed out. "At the same time, the company said it had set aside $400,000 to pay displacement allowances to the workers.

"Actually, the sum needed for displacement pay will almost certainly be much higher. The company's estimate that 400 jobs will be lost is more than conservative. There are 424 hourly-paid workers on the dyehouse seniority lists, and at least another 100 workers in other departments will be dropped if the dyehouse is closed. Therefore, I would say that $500,000 will be needed to pay them off.

"The Celanese Corporation could easily use this money to make the Amcelle dyehouse the equal of that in Hopewell."

Alridge said he was shocked at the statement by Anthony Saeli, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, that the dyehouse closing "is in the best interests of the community."

"It's easy enough for Mr. Saeli to talk about the 'larger prespective'," Aldridge said. "The 'larger perspective' won't put food on the tables of more than 500 Cumberland families.

"Instead of presenting fancy and costly schemes for attracting new industries, Mr. Saeli ought to spend a little time trying to keep what we have."

Two Properties Sold For $13,000

Two properties were sold for a total of $13,000, according to deeds filed in the office of the clerk of Circuit Court.

Arnold C. Kight and Helen L. Kight sold property on Grand Avenue at Wendell Alley to Charles W. True and Bertha M. True for about $6,500. William P. Gray and Merla Gray sold property on the southeast side of McMullen Highway, two miles northeast of Dawson, to Dailey W. Shockey and Ida Rebecca Shockey for about $6,500.

Bookie May Recover Some Equipment

Judge Harris Grants Petition

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday decided that office equipment not primarily designed for gambling but apparently used for that purpose should legally be returned to the convicted bookmaker who had it in his possession.

Two telephones, an adding machine and an inner-communication system will be returned to Raymond H. Goss, Judge Harris decided yesterday after discussing conflicting arguments and studying law in the matter for several hours.

Petition Filed

Yesterday's hearing in Allegany County Circuit Court, was on a petition which Goss, through Attorney William L. Wilson, Jr., had filed in court last month.

The equipment in question was seized last March 17 by former Detective Lt. Edwin R. Lilya in a raid on the Potomac News Company office on North Mechanic Street. It has been in custody of Sheriff Edward R. Muir.

Goss was convicted of a bookmaking charge last April. After the conviction was upheld by the Maryland Court of Appeals, Goss paid his fine and served a sentence in County Jail.

Present Decisions

Assistant State's Attorney William H. Geppert and Wilson presented several decisions handed down in similar cases by the Maryland Court of Appeals.

Wilson pointed out that the two phones were hooked up to wall plugs by jacks, the loud speaker system was only partially uncrated, and the adding machine had been picked up at a local office supply concern only two hours before the raid.

One case presented by counsel was in a decision governing whisky, legally stamped, being hauled through Maryland. The trucker did not have a permit, and a magistrate ordered the whisky confiscated. However, the appeals court ruled that the whisky was not contraband and could not be destroyed or confiscated.

Another decision declared that devices or equipment designed for gambling are contraband and must be destroyed. Pinball and slot machines, roulette wheels fall into this category, Wilson argued.

For Other Purposes

But adding machines, telephones or speaker systems could all be used for a multitude of purposes other than gambling, Wilson contended. They are not covered in the law as gaming devices, he added.

Geppert argued the equipment was being used for gambling and if there is a conviction on this offense, it should be ruled contraband and confiscated.

The General Assembly enacted a law recently that all money confiscated and declared contraband is to be turned over to the treasurer of the county in which it is seized.

Heavy Truck Plunges Into Greene Street Building

Triplett's Studio-Residence Damaged By Crash

A two-ton flatbed truck, operated by John Hardinger, 39, RFD No. 2, employe of the John I. Vandegrift Company, plunged into the residence-photographic studio of George W. Triplett, 112 Greene Street, yesterday at 11:15 a. m.

HEADS BAR GROUP — Julius E. Schindler, 783 Fayette Street, has been elected president of the Allegany County Bar Association. Educated at the University of Maryland and National University Law School in Washington, he has been practicing law here since 1929.

The driver and Triplett's mother-in-law, Mrs. Alice E. Staniforth, who was in the structure at the time, escaped injury. The brakes, according to Hardinger, "let down" at the Dingle.

Triplett has operated the studio for the past two years after being furloughed from the Amcelle plant. Last night he estimated damages to his studio equipment in excess of $2,000. Damages to the truck was estimated at about $800. Mrs. Edith Wood Porter, 213 Washington Street, owner of the building, could not be reached last night concerning damage to the structure.

Hardinger, who was coming to Cumberland from the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory for freight, said the brakes on the two-ton flatbed truck "let down" at the Dingle Circle and he was unable to get it into gear.

A left turn was attempted at Smallwood Street, according to police, but a car blocked the path of the truck so the driver swerved to the left sidewalk and scraped against a wall for several feet. Hardinger said he purposely rammed the building to avoid hitting "three or four cars and killing someone" at the traffic light of the Johnson Street intersection.

Triplett said the studio furnishings and photographic equipment were demolished. He had been working a short time before at a desk which was knocked about 18 feet across the room by the impact. He said he had gone downtown and when he was returning saw the truck plunge into building. An adjuster from an insurance firm will estimate the overall damage today, Triplett said.

Investigating the accident were Officers Joseph H. Stitcher and Louis D. Downey. No charges were preferred.

Widows, Children Collect $155,000

After 15 years of operation, old-age and survivors insurance is paying about $155,000 in monthly benefits to about 4700 retired workers, widows and children in the area served by the Cumberland field office according to James S. Getty, manager.

This area consists of Allegany and Garrett counties in Maryland and Grant, Hardy, Hampshire, Mineral and Pendleton counties in West Virginia.

Since 1940, the year in which monthly benefits were first paid, the monthly benefits have increased on a nationwide basis from about 35 million dollars for 1949, to $1.9 billion for the year which ended December 31, 1951.

Getty said this came about through the increase in payments to individuals and the lowering of the work requirements for qualifying for benefits.

It was noted that this Social Security program now affects more people in this area than any other family security program, either private or public.

With the recent changes made regarding coverage for the self-employed, regular farm workers, domestic workers, state employes and others it will mean in years to come that nearly everyone in this country will have a stake in the old-age and survivors insurance program.

Already 85 million people or well over half the total living population have made tax contributions and three out of every four workers or self-employed persons are now covered by this law.

Collectors Will Aid Taxpayers

Deputy collectors of Internal Revenue Service will visit Cumberland for the purpose of assisting taxpayers in filing income tax returns for 1951 and estimates for 1952.

The collectors, according to Richard J. Stakem, division chief of the local bureau office, will arrive February 4 and remain until March 17.

Lonaconing Post Office, February 4; Westernport Post Office, February 5-6; Grantsville American Legion Home, February 7; Mt. Savage Fire Hall, February 8; Oakland Post Office, February 11-12; Crellin, Stanley Coal Company, February 13; Frostburg City Hall, February 14-15 and Luke, Devon Club, February 18-21.

Criminal Trials Set For Monday, Tuesday

Criminal trials in the current term of Allegany County Circuit Court have been docketed for next Monday and Tuesday by Associate Judges George Henderson and Morgan C. Harris.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher has expressed hopes that all of the criminal trials can be completed on the two days. However, next Wednesday also is being held open in case of delay.

Weather

A balmy interlude in another chilly chapter of Winter seemed about to come to a close last night as the mercury began to go down—and down. The high was only 55, the low a cool 38, and the Weather Bureau forecast showers and temperatures no higher than 45 to 50 degrees today. But even that would seem more easy to take than the near-record cold of a few weeks ago. The humidity at 6 p. m. yesterday was 41 per cent.

Labor Group Elects Tonight

The Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference will hold its annual election tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Trades Council Hall, Frederick Street.

Nominees, selected at the last meeting include Lester McGill of the Textile Workers, president; Joseph H. Humbertson of the Machinists, first vice-president; Edwin C. Hoffman, of the trainmen second vice president; Paul C. Burley, representing the Bus Drivers, secretary-treasurer; Franklin Warnick of the Rubber Workers, Wayne Ritchie of the Paper Workers and C. E. Stutzman of the Teamsters, trustees.

Stutzman, now president, said other nominations may be made from the floor prior to the balloting and each affiliated local union is urged to have representation at the meeting.

Labor's part in the coming city election will also be on tonight's agenda for discussion, Burley, present secretary stated.

Four Nominees Withdraw From TWUA Election

Balloting Slated January 21-23

Four nominees have withdrawn their names in the annual election of officers of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), which will be held here January 21 to 23.

Officials said the declinations were made by Lester McGill, a candidate for vice president; William Atkinson, Executive Board; James McGann, Board of Trustees, and William Gordon, Auditing Committee.

A heavy slate, including six candidates for the position of president, and four for vice president remains and will probably mean that a run off will be held, since candidates must receive a majority of votes cast to be elected.

Candidates for president are Playford Aldridge, the incumbent; Homer Berry, William Gordon, James Martin, Earl Snyder and James Stewart.

Nominees for vice president are Howard Bush, incumbent; William Atkinson, George Harris and Carl Ryan.

John G. Thomas, incumbent secretary-treasurer and business agent, and Melvin Harris have been nominated for that position.

Nominees for the executive board are Lillian Burch, Robert Baker, John Fogle, Lindley Dye, Irvin Lewis, George Lyons, Walter Mahaney, Ira McBride, Lester McGill, Thomas Powers, Ralph Skelly, Neil Toey and William Thompson. Five will be elected.

Three members of the board of trustees will be elected from the following candidates, James Boyland, Roy T. Craze, Lee Emerson, Charles E. Jones, Edward Joyce, James Roby and Carl Sherman.

Nominees for the auditing committee are Walter Hymes, James McGann and Francis P. Philpot. Three are to be elected.

Francis Harvey is unopposed for warden.

Sign Affidavits

Meanwhile, candidates have been busy signing loyalty oaths to be sent to the National Labor Relations Board if they are elected.

Candidates must swear they are not members of the Communist party or affiliated with such party and do not support any organization which believes in or teaches the overthrow of the United States Government by force or illegal methods.

Signing of such oaths before one's name may be placed on the ballot was ordered by the membership several years ago after several candidates refused to sign the loyalty pledges.

Balloting will be held at the union booth and at cafeterias at the Amcelle plant. Polls at the union hall will be open daily from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Slates have again been prohibited by the Executive Board, which ruled any candidate whose name appears on a slate will be disqualified.

Naval Reserve OCS Program Underway Here

Applications Accepted At Local Armory

Applications for the Navy Reserve Officer Candidate program are now being accepted, Lt. Commander W. E. Woodson, Jr., inspector-instructor at the local U. S. Naval Reserve Training Center, announced yesterday.

Woodson said the program offers the opportunity for a commission as Ensign in the Naval Reserve.

The program is open to any reservist, male or female, who is presently attending and in good standing in an accredited college or junior college, Woodson pointed out.

He emphasized, however, that the program is not open to seniors due to the time required for the completion of training.

Applications will be received at the local Naval Reserve Training Center for preliminary processing and forwarding to the Commandant, Fifth Naval District.

Final selection for enrollment is made by the Naval Bureau of Personnel, Washington, Woodson explained, and is based on the following factors:

Officer aptitude, scholastic rating, course being taken in college, membership in the Naval Reserve, previous active duty and length of time before reaching eligibility for appointment to commissioned grade.

If selected, Woodson said, the candidate must maintain his scholastic standing and must receive passing grades at the ROC Summer School. He will also receive a draft deferment until he receives his commission or is disenrolled from the program by any reason.

Woodson pointed out, that candidates will be ordered to take two summer training periods of six weeks duration at the ROC School. These training periods include intensive instruction in seamanship, navigation, ordnance and naval orientation.

Street Barrier Burns

South End firemen were called to the 500 block of Oldtown Road at 9:42 p. m. yesterday when a smudge pot at a street construction project was upset and ignited a wooden street barrier. There was no serious damage.

Blast Victim To Be Buried This Morning

A 12-year-old boy who died after dynamite caps exploded in his hands Sunday will be buried this morning as his younger brother and another boy continue their fight for life.

A reqieum high mass will be conducted at 9 a. m. in St. Patrick's Catholic Church for Arthur William "Mickey" Wolf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo A. Wolf of Corriganville.

Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor, will be celebrant.

The entire student body of St. Patrick's Parochial School, where Mickey was an Eighth Grade pupil, will turn out for the funeral.

Uniformed members of the church-sponsored Boy Scout troop will be pallbearers, and burial will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

At Memorial Hospital last night, Mickey's 10-year-old brother, Paul James "Pinky" Wolf, was reported slightly improved but still serious.

The third boy, Paul William Bennett, 13, was still in critical condition. Both boys lost their right legs and face partial blindness as a result of the explosion.

County and state authorities said they are still investigating.

One-Way Traffic Plan To Start In North End

Three Streets Figure In Setup

One-way traffice will be established on three North End streets for a 30-day trial beginning Friday, according to Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long.

Commissioner Long said that he and Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, streets commissioner, had discussed the plan and agreed to give it a trial.

North-bound traffic will use Independence and Walnut Streets between Bedford and Valley Streets under the new arrangement. South-bound traffic will be routed over Columbia Street from Valley to Bedford Street.

Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn said last night necessary arrangements to start the trial will be completed today.

Guy M. Davis, president of the Cumberland Transit Lines, observed that the change will necessitate a rerouting of buses on the Shriver Avenue line when traveling toward Baltimore Street. Shriver Avenue buses have traveled over Independence and Walnut Streets in both directions. Now in-bound buses will use Columbia Street.

Buses often are delayed in traveling the route along Independence Street, especially when automobiles are parked on both sides of the street. Only one lane for moving traffic remains when parked cars fill the other two lanes. Vehicles constantly weave in and out of traffic along Independence Street.

Fifth Indictment Involves Payment

A fifth indictment arising from allegedly false statements in obtaining aid from the Allegany County Welfare Board was placed on the open docket in Circuit Court yesterday.

Evelyn L. Wilson of the George's Creek area was charged with aiding and abetting a man to obtain Old Age Assistance and Aid To Dependent Children by means of a wilfully false statement. A total of $130 was obtained through the statement, the indictment charges.

Eighteen of the 22 indictments returned by the grand jury last week now are on the open docket.

Board Of Education Hears Statistics

Bowman's Addition Shows Record Low Fire Loss In '51

Bowman's Addition Volunteer Fire Company completed the year 1951 with the lowest community fire loss in its history as well as in the entire area.

A report, completed by Fire Chief Leo C. Emerick, shows fire loss in the community totaling only $150 for the year. The company answered a total of 14 alarms. Three of these were calls to assist other communities, seven were grass firse and four were in dwellings.

A total of 103 men responded to the alarms for an average of seven men per run.

In addition, 17 fire drills were held during the year, three of these with other communities.

The company also purchased $1,200 worth of new hose, adapters and extinguishers during the year and Emerick added, 10 members are taking firemen's training courses.

Chief Emerick attributed the low fire loss last year to a program of property inspections and education of residents toward the elimination of fire hazards, along with a fine spirit of cooperation in the entire community and promptness with which firemen answer alarms.

Sale Of Torch Sweaters In City Continues

Police Recover Eight Garments

Sales of highly inflammable "torch" sweaters continued in Cumberland yesterday despite police efforts and publicity aimed at curbing the dangerous racket.

So far, eight of the combustible brushed rayon garments have been turned over to City Police by people who bought them from sidewalk peddlers and later realized they had been duped.

Several other residents have reported buying the sweaters but have disposed of them. Some are still holding onto the sweaters.

Out-Of-State Peddlers

Yesterday morning, a local man reported he bought one of the garments from a man in a service station. The peddler's car had a Pennsylvania license, he said.

Up to now, police have made no arrests. In every case, the sweaters have been sold by men who drove cars with out-of-state license plates.

Most were sold at garages and service stations or in other places of business.

The salesmen at first asked about $35 for a single sweater or a cardigan-sleeveless combination. They later let themselves be talked down to $6 to $8, made the sales and left.

City firemen tested one sweater a few days ago. In seconds, a match reduced it to a pile of ashes and twisted buttons.

Many Burned

Several persons who bought the "spun rayon" sweaters on the West Coast were seriously burned when the garments caught fire.

Wide publicity of incidents led to hundreds of reports of sales in other parts of the country.

Last night, Circuit Court Clerk Joseph E. Boden said hawkers or peddlers who fail to take out required licenses, which cost $100.50 a year, are subject to imprisonment for one to 10 years. He said no such licenses have been issued for some time.

Legal In Baltimore

Whether or not the sale of combustible garments would be legal if a peddler had obtained a permit is another question.

In Baltimore yesterday, fire officials said the city's fire code applied only to inflammable goods stored in warehouses or stores.

Two salesmen arrested in Baltimore Saturday were fined $250 each for peddling the sweaters without licenses, but charges of violating the fire code were dismissed.

Anderson's Condition Is Still Grave

Police were still holding his petite, 28-year-old wife, Mae, after she allegedly admitted shooting him during an argument Monday night.

Yesterday, doctors at Miners Hospital, Frostburg, probed and found the .32 calibre slug still lodged in the base of Anderson's skull.

Anderson's physicians said he stands a good chance to live if he can survive for about a week. He has been receiving food intravenously since the shooting.

Meanwhile, his despondent wife remained in County Jail after visiting him at the hospital Tuesday. No formal charge has been filed against her, pending outcome of Anderson's wound.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya and State Trooper First Class William F. Baker said Mrs. Anderson had signed a statement admitting she shot her husband because he heckled her about household trouble.

Father, Daughter Are Reunited After 20 Years

A father and his daughter separated 20 years were reunited as the result of a story appearing recently in the Cumberland NEWS.

The newspaper was informed by attaches of Newton D. Baker Hospital at Martinsburg, W. Va. that a Clarence W. Fazenbaker, 63, of Westernport, was a medical patient there and efforts were being made to locate a daughter, Mrs. Bertie Cosner.

Fazenbaker was reported suffering from frozen feet and was in serious condition. A clipping from the paper which appeared on December 29 was received by Mrs. Cosner, who formerly lived in Westernport and had moved to Baltimore.

She visited her father recently and his condition is reported as improved although several toes were removed due to gangrene. Mr. and Mrs. Luther Cosner and son Luther, Jr., Laurel, also visited Fazenbaker.

Woman Sentenced

Georgia Moreland, Goethe Street, yesterday was sentenced by Magistrate Alban C. Thompson in Juvenile Court to two years in the Maryland Reformatory For Women at Jessups.

The woman was convicted of contributing to the delinquency of her six-year old daughter, allegedly by failure to provide for the child's needs.

Steps are being taken to place the child in a foster home.

CONCERT TONIGHT — Virgil Fox, organist, at Riverside Church, New York City, will present a concert tonight at 8:30 o'clock at Centre Street Methodist Church under sponsorship of the Cumberland Choral Society. He arrived here yesterday afternoon from Youngstown, Ohio.

City Workers Begin Clean Up Job On Streets

Dirt And Cinders Will Be Removed

The Street Department last night began work on the biggest street cleaning job to be undertaken here since last spring.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, said the department will utilize the present clear weather to remove as much as possible of the dirt and cinders which have accumulated since the heavy snows hit here in mid December.

She said the department realizes the streets have become very dirty and that at least something can be done to remedy the condition before the weather takes a turn for the worse.

Clean Downtown Area

She said Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long had ordered his men to flush the accumulated dirt off downtown streets with fire hoses and to aid in clearing parked cars from the streets to be cleaned.

Firemen said last night they were starting at midnight to flush Bedford, Frederick, Centre, Mechanic, Liberty and Baltimore Streets.

Slated to be cleaned today are Greene, Washington and Fayette Streets.

Mrs. Roeder said she will ask Commissioner Long if West Side firemen can cooperate by flushing the streets in that area.

Friday's area includes Henderson Boulevard, Williams Street, Hill Top Drive and Park Street.

Requires Hand Work

Mrs. Roeder said the work will be slow since it will require hand labor where cinder deposits are heavy.

Flushing the streets, she explained, is a debatable issue, and the department about a year ago advised against the use of fire hoses. One of the objections, she said, was that the water would overtax the storm sewer system.

She said she feels the completion of the pressure conduits built in connection with the Flood Control project will provide adequate capacity to take care of the additional water.

Jaycee Membership Campaign To Begin Here Next Week

The 1952 Membership Drive of the Junior Association of Commerce will get underway next week, Robert Barnard, chairman, announced yesterday.

The campaign will be in effect for about three months with final reports at a meeting of the Jaycees in April at which time awards will be given members who get the most new candidates.

Several letters of thanks were read from contestants of the "Voice Of Democracy" at a meeting of the Board of Directors last night at the Jaycee office.

The organization also received an invitation to the annual Community Chest dinner meeting which will be held on January 25 at Centre Street Methodist Church. Other routine business was discussed at last night's session. The next regular meeting will be held on February 6 at the Jaycee office.

Woman, Hit By Car, Is Hospitalized

Mrs. Anna K. Mitchell, 63, of 226 Harrison Street, remains in good condition at Memorial Hospital, where she was admitted last Monday after being struck by an automobile at Virginia Avenue and King Street.

Police said Mrs. Mitchell stepped from the curb into the path of a car driven by Samuel Brown, 19, of Valley Road. No charges were preferred against Brown.

Mrs. Mitchell sustained a hip fracture.

Births

Memorial Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Galen Houdyshell, 327 Race Street, a daughter yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Stump, of Romney, W. Va., a daughter yesterday morning.

Rieve Appeals For Change In Dyehouse Plan

Asks Modernization Of Amcelle Unit

Emil Rieve, general president of the Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, said yesterday that the decision of Celanese Corporation to close the dyehouse at the Amcelle plant "is typical of the company's continued, cold-hearted indifference to the welfare of the community which has nutured it for 27 years."

In a special message to TWUA Local 1874, Rieve said he was doing everything in his power to bring about a change in the company's decision, announced last week.

"However, I do not want to raise any false hopes," he added. "As far as I can determine, there is no way in which the company can be prevented in taking this step if it insists upon doing so.

"But from the moral standpoint, the issue is clear. The Celanese Corporation is wiping out another 525 jobs in Cumberland, which has for several years been a distressed area, primarily because of previous discharges by this same company.

"Our union has never argued that Celanese should retain workers it does not need, and we do not argue this now. Nor do we propose to inject ourselves into the question of management's judgment on what it should or should not produce.

"Neither of these points is involved in the present case. As I understand the company's statement, it plans to continue a certain amount of dyeing and finishing. But it is going to perform this work in Hopewell, Va., rather than in Cumberland.

"I am sure that the members of your union share with me the wish that the citizens of Hopewell will always be able to find jobs at good wages. At the same time, it seems obvious to me that common humanity and a sense of fair play would lead to the conclusion that if a choice must be made, the Cumberland unit should be kept in operation.

"Hopewell, unlike Cumberland, is not a distressed area. Other jobs are available there. It has not suffered, as Cumberland has, from a steady shrinkage of employment opportunities in the Celanese Corporation.

"Under these circumstances the company's action is even more cold-blooded than the customary behavior of big corporations. Considering the tremendous profits earned by Celanese Corporation over many years, including the present, the least it could do is modernize the Amcelle dyehouse, if necessary, and carry on its remaining finishing work here.

I assure you again that your international union will do whatever possible to bring this about.

Union Asks Firm To Modernize Dyehouse Here

Playford Aldridge, president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, (CIO), yesterday asked the Celanese Corporation to use the $500,000 it will pay in severance allowances to dyehouse workers hare as an investment fund to modernize the dyeing and finishing plant and keep it running.

"In announcing its plan to close the dyehouse, the company claimed that the Hopewell, Va., plant is more modern," Aldridge pointed out. "At the same time, the company said it had set aside $400,000 to pay displacement allowances to the workers.

"Actually, the sum needed for displacement pay will almost certainly be much higher. The company's estimate that 400 jobs will be lost is more than conservative. There are 424 hourly-paid workers on the dyehouse seniority lists, and at least another 100 workers in other departments will be dropped if the dyehouse is closed. Therefore, I would say that $500,000 will be needed to pay them off.

"The Celanese Corporation could easily use this money to make the Amcelle dyehouse the equal of that in Hopewell."

Alridge said he was shocked at the statement by Anthony Saeli, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, that the dyehouse closing "is in the best interests of the community."

"It's easy enough for Mr. Saeli to talk about the 'larger prespective'," Aldridge said. "The 'larger perspective' won't put food on the tables of more than 500 Cumberland families.

"Instead of presenting fancy and costly schemes for attracting new industries, Mr. Saeli ought to spend a little time trying to keep what we have."

Two Properties Sold For $13,000

Two properties were sold for a total of $13,000, according to deeds filed in the office of the clerk of Circuit Court.

Arnold C. Kight and Helen L. Kight sold property on Grand Avenue at Wendell Alley to Charles W. True and Bertha M. True for about $6,500. William P. Gray and Merla Gray sold property on the southeast side of McMullen Highway, two miles northeast of Dawson, to Dailey W. Shockey and Ida Rebecca Shockey for about $6,500
